

DO WE APPRECIATE OUR LIBRARY?

(By THORNWELL HAYNES)
If literature is like nobility—and by that I mean runs in the blood—then books are literature's coat-of-arms and a library a Palace of Nobility.

How often do we give our library a thought? There are some, I am sure, who every time they pass that way look at it and mentally say, "I wish you well!" But how many of us are like that?

There is no citizen of Brevard who does not value the educational and cultural value of a town library. By means of it, they will tell you, influences for good reach to and through generations unborn. But who visits the little wooden house among the trees on Main street—who visits it in a not-too-far-away day as a magnificent stone edifice with majestic white pillars and beautiful bronze doors?

For such a vision there must be born in us a deeper appreciation and love of a library's worth. None of us are altogether ignorant of these things, but frankly, we are negligent of them.

And the more we reflect upon it the more embarrassing it becomes. There are men in Brevard sufficiently wide-shouldered and strong and brave to make the growth of the town library a "hobby." It would require years and years of labor, but no citizen could surpass such man or men in the virtues which touch upon greatness!

BIBLE SCHOOL AT PRESBY. CHURCH

Second Annual Summer School now in session at the Presbyterian church, began Monday morning of last week with a good attendance, which is steadily increasing, the present enrollment including 104 boys and girls between the ages of 6 and 16. Children of all denominations of the town are in attendance at the school and much interest is manifest in the work being carried on. The school convenes every morning in the week except Saturday, and will continue in session through the month of June.

Mrs. Wayne A. Monroe is superintendent of the Bible school, assisted by Mrs. V. A. Crawford, who is in charge of the opening and closing exercises. Miss Carlotta Rogers, Miss Glenna Guinn, Miss Bertha Chandler and Miss Julia Wood. Subject matter taught the children includes Bible history of both the Old and New Testament, Bible geography, books of the Bible and memory verses, Bible doctrine, Life of Christ, Life of Paul, Bible stories for younger children.

Officials of the school extend an invitation to all parents and those interested to attend the opening exercises each morning from 8:30 to 8:45 o'clock, or the closing exercises from 11:15 to 11:30 o'clock. Closing exercises of the school will be held on Friday night, July 1, and the following Saturday will be celebrated by a picnic for the children, at which time the parents are asked to bring cars and if they can to go with the children. Further details of the closing of the school will be given later.

VITAL STATISTICS WORK BEING DONE

Register of Deeds Ira D. Galloway, and his assistants are revising the registration of vital statistics for this county and indexing same. The period reaches back to 1913, and all births and deaths in this county since that time will be placed on record and the names indexed in such manner that interested parties can find a name in any given case in a moment's time. This will be the first time that Transylvania county has had the advantage of up-to-date index records on vital statistics.

A. B. CARTER TO HEAD THE BAPTIST ORCHESTRA

A. B. Carter, well-known violinist and composer, has been engaged by the Baptist church to have charge of the church orchestra during the summer season. The Baptist orchestra adds much to the services at that church and the addition of Mr. Carter, it is said, will greatly strengthen this part of the church work.

Mrs. Radford Nicholson

Mrs. Radford Nicholson died early Wednesday morning at the home of her mother, Mrs. Cantrell, following a lingering illness of more than a year. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Presbyterian church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. V. A. Crawford. News of this sad death was learned just before going to press on Wednesday, and a more detailed account of this estimable woman will be given in next week's paper.
