SHIPPING CREAM TO BILTMORE DAILY

B. & B. Feed and Seed Company Shipping Cream for Farmers

MR. TALLEY SHIPPING IN THE PENROSE SECTION

Stop Churning, Sell Cream, Ready Market, No Wait, Checks Regularly

At last the cream business in Transylvania county is an established industry and a going concern.

After much study and great effort on the part of many leading farmers in the county, assisted by interested business men, cream stations have been established, connections made with the Biltmore Dairy, and regular shipments of cream are going out, and checks are coming in regularly now.

W. L. Talley is handling the cream station at Penrose, to which the farmers of Little River, Enon and Penrose sections are taking their cream.

Announcement is now made that the B. and B. Feed and Seed company, in Brevard, is handling cream for all the section of the county nearest the county seat.

Plans are being perfected for establishment of stations at Rosman, Cherryfield and Pisgah Forest.

Mr. Talley is one of the best known men of the county, and he is enthusiastic over the future of the cream business.

The B. and B. Feed and Seed company, one of the best concerns in Brevard, which has paid out many hundreds of dollars to farmers for poultry and eggs, is likewise enthusiastic over the outlook.

Mr. Willis Brittain, of the B. and B. Feed and Seed company, and Mr. Oliver Orr, of the Pisgah Bank, made a trip to Biltmore Farms Tuesday, and made a contract with the big dairy there to take all the cream that the farmers of Transylvania county can produce.

By this method the farmers can enter at once into a money-making business. There are no special rules to follow, other than that of milking the cow, skimming the cream from the milk, putting the cream into a can, or a jar, or any other vessel, and taking it to the nearest cream station, and the man handling it will ship with that of his other customers, and twice each month each person furnishing the cream gets a check for the amount sold.

Nor does one have to have any certain number of cows. One can start selling cream from just one cow, or two cows, or whatever number one may have.

There is more than the cream money—the skimmed milk can be fed to the chickens or hogs, and be returned manyfold.

Then, too, there is none of the disappointment that has come to so many farmers who have brought butter to Brevard, and found no market for it. As an illustration, a good woman from Cherryfield, brought several pounds of butter to Brevard one day last week, and could not sell it any place. That woman had milked her cows, tended the milk until it was ready to churn, had spent hours in the churning of it, more careful time given to the handling of the butter, then made the trip to Brevard, thinking all the while of the things she intended buying with the money which the butter brought. At every place she went, the word was said that they needed no butter, and bitter disappointment was experienced by that good woman.

But these days are now over. Without any of the hard work connected with churning, that woman can milk her cows, skim the milk, bring the cream once a week, or twice a week, to the B. and B., get her ticket, go back home, feed her skimmed milk to her chickens and hogs, and on the first of the month and on the fifteenth of the month, get her checks for the cream. Hallelujah, Amen!

SCHOOL BUDGET IS CUT DOWN $15,000

Total of $145,576.85 In the Budget—Approved by Commissioners

This year's school budget has been completed, and approved by the board of county commissioners, according to law. The budget for 1929-30 is about $15,000 less than last year's budget. This saving has been effected through reduction in teacher force and one or two other items that made out the amount. Fourteen teachers have been dropped, there being 101 teachers last year, and only 87 teachers in the county this year.

The budget for the coming school year for the 6-months' term calls for $117,685.27, and the two months' extended term is the sum of $27,891.58, making a total of $145,576.85 for this year's school budget.

Last year the 6-months' term called for $136,913.38, and the two months' extended term budget was $23,457.44.

EXTEND TAX PAYMENT UNTIL FIRST OF AUGUST

County commissioners Monday voted to extend time for payment of state and county taxes until the first day of August, but requested The Brevard News to state that this is positively the last time such postponement will be made. All property on which taxes have not been paid on or before August first will be advertised for sale during August. The commissioners have been very thoughtful, it is pointed out, in giving this long extension, and they express the hope that all taxes will have been paid by that time, and make positive assertion that no other time will be allowed after that date.

MRS. E. C. GLAZENER CALLED IN DEATH

Woman of Wide Influence Husband and Four Children Survive

Mrs. E. C. Glazener, aged 66, died at her home at Calvert Sunday night, after an extended illness. Funeral service was held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Mt. Moriah Baptist church, Calvert, conducted by Wallace Hartsell, pastor of the Brevard and Calvert Baptist churches.

Surviving are her husband and two sons and two daughters, as follows:

J. W. Glazener, of Rosman; J. A. Glazener, of Brevard; Mrs. E. J. Whitmire, of Cherryfield and Mrs. R. L. Hogset, of Calvert.

Mrs. Glazener, who was before her marriage, Miss Florence Justus, was a native of Henderson county but had made her home in this country for a long period of years. She had been in declining health for a number of years.

The large church at Calvert was filled with friends of the good woman who had at some time come under the fine influences of her wonderful character and splendid work. The great floral offerings gave further evidence of the deep love and affection which the community felt for the departed woman. It was said by some one in attendance that "every person who had known the deceased woman had been made better because of the acquaintance and association with her."

BARRETT FAMILY MOVE TO THE CITY

J. O. Barrett's family moved this week to West Asheville, where Mr. Barrett is publishing a rapidly growing newspaper. The family will be missed here, and Miss Sara Barrett will be especially missed because of her splendid activities in church and Sunday school work.

Mr. Barrett's Newspaper, The West Asheville News, has had much to do with the development of Enka, and devotes much of its space to the big rayon industry just starting there. Upon the arrival of the young Dutch women last week who are to train the workers in making rayon, The West Asheville News published a welcome to them in their own language, a piece of newspaper enterprise that challenged the admiration of the officials of the big Enka concern.

Friends in Brevard, while regretting the departure of the Barrett family, have expressed pleasure in the development of Mr. Barrett's business interests. He has already been of much service to people of Transylvania county in assisting many local men in obtaining splendid positions at the big plant at Enka.

REV. W. W. MARR CALLED TO A LINCOLNTON CHURCH

Rev. W. W. Marr, for many years pastor of several Baptist churches in the county, has been called to the Lincoln Avenue Baptist church, in Lincolnton, and has gone to that city to take up his new work. Rev. Mr. Marr is well loved in this county, and will be missed by a large number of friends.

COUNTY GENERAL COURT CONVENES

Judge English Explains Purpose of Court—Speedy and Fair Hearings

BREESE PLEDGES SUPPORT, URGES CITIZENS TO AID

Other Members of Bar Join In Opening Discussion on Procedure

Transylvania's General County Court held its first session Monday morning, with Judge D. L. English presiding, and Ralph R. Fisher as solicitor. All members of the Brevard Bar were present, representing their clients. The court room was well filled with citizens from every section of the county, many of whom had cases in court and others who had come to witness the opening of the County Court.

Sheriff T. E. Patton, Jr., formally opened the court, and Judge English then made a short but most impressive talk addressed to the members of the bar, officers of the court, and to the citizens of the county. The court's first statement was a request to the sheriff that he see to it that all people in the court room be seated, and that perfect order be maintained; that a court cannot function properly without most perfect order prevailing.

Then Judge English told of the organization of the new court, and its purpose. The state legislature, several years ago, recognizing the congested condition of the dockets in practically all counties in the state, passed a law that authorized county commissioners to create County General Courts when such action was deemed necessary. The commissioners of this county, the court said, were faced with condition which called for many special terms of the Superior court, or the creation of a county court, and believing that it would be more economical for the tax payers of the county to operate a General County Court than to hold special terms of Superior court, organized this court in order to clear the docket.

It is the court's intention to give the very best of its efforts to just settlement of all disputes between the citizens of the county in all civil suits, and to hear all the facts and evidence in criminal cases, and render decisions based only upon such evidence as may be presented at the trial, which must give to each and every defendant all and every right that is provided under our constitution for men at the bar of justice.

Judge English asked the members of the bar, court officers and all citizens to assist him and the solicitor in making of the court such a tribunal that it shall have the very highest respect and confidence of all the citizens, regardless of politics, religion, wealth, poverty, or social standing.

Response to the fine address by the judge was great. Wm. E. Breee, veteran of the Brevard bar, pledged his support to the court, in which he and all attorneys are officers, and urged the citizens generally to lend their best efforts to making the court a most profitable institution in the administration of justice in Transylvania county.

Others made similar pledges, and half an hour was spent in clarifying questions as to the court's jurisdiction and the manner in which cases are to be brought before this court.

ARTIST WORKING IN BREVARD NOW

R. R. Woodson, Western North Carolina's own artist, is attracting much attention in town with his paintings in the various business houses. He has done work this week in the Bargain Annex of Plummers Store, and in the Canteen.

Mr. Woodson is a native of Buncombe county, having been born and reared in North Buncombe, near the Madison county line. He has painted pictures in many lands, however, and all over the United States, some of his paintings having been on exhibition in art galleries where he has received several hundred dollars for a single painting.

While he is versatile with his brush yet his work is that of mountain scenery. Having spent his youth among the foothills lying between the Blue Ridge mountains on the one side, and the Great Smoky Mountains on the other, it is but natural that the artist's eye is trained to the beauty of the mountains.

Mr. Woodson is accompanied here by his bride, who is a granddaughter of Capt. William Garrison of Civil war fame, whose farm adjoined that of the Woodsons. The young artist, after having traveled extensively and lived much of the Bohemian life of artists, came back to his beloved mountains and claimed the sweet heart of his boyhood days.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodson are stopping at the Bryant House. Many people gather about the place where he is painting and watch him as he transfers the glory of an evening sun sinking behind the western hills to the canvas before him.

79 CASES ON FIRST CO. COURT DOCKET

Many Plead Guilty, Others Are Given Nol Pros With Leave by Court

WILL SIT AGAIN JUNE 17 TO CONTINUE WORK

Several Defendants Given Until First Monday in July to Prepare Cases

Seventy-nine cases were on the docket for trial at the first session of the new County Court, many of which were continued until the July term, because of the fact that many defendants had had but short notice that their cases were to be brought up in the new court. Judge English stated he did not want to work any hardship on any one, and granted these first continuances without question, but with the emphatic assertion that these are to be heard at the time set for them.

Others were continued until Monday, June 17, when the court will again sit.

All cases coming up so far have been on the criminal docket, and these were misdemeanors, involving violation of the liquor laws, carrying concealed weapons, fighting, and a few larceny cases. In none but that of driving cars under the influence of whiskey did Judge English display any tendency to be harsh in his judgments. It was clearly indicated, however, that the man who drives an automobile along the highways while under influence of whiskey cannot reasonably expect any mercy in the County Court.

Several defendants plead guilty, through counsel, to charges against them, while others were convicted on evidence. Fines were imposed on some, while one man drew a jail sentence of three months, with sentence suspended on condition that defendant appear in court at stated intervals and show that he is not dealing in whiskey in any manner.

Solicitor Fisher was granted leave to refrain from acting as prosecutor in cases where he had previously been employed as defense counsel. In these cases the court will appoint a prosecutor to relieve Mr. Fisher.

Z. W. NICHOLS DIED EARLY WEDNESDAY

The community was shocked Wednesday morning on learning of the death of Z. W. Nichols, which occurred at his home in Brevard at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, following a brief illness due to a stroke.

Mr. Nichols, who had been practically an invalid for the past 25 years, had apparently been in his usual health until a few hours before his death. Mr. Nichols was a member of the Methodist church and had been a steward in the church for many years. He was in the drug business in Brevard for many years, being owner of what is now Macie's drug store, but ill health years ago compelled him to give up active business. He formerly resided in Asheville, where he was also engaged in the drug business. He was an influential and greatly beloved man in the community.

Surviving are his wife, who was before her marriage, Miss Leslie Atkins, of Durham; and two sons, Z. W. Nichols Jr., of Washington, D. C., and Charles Nichols, of Los Angeles, Calif., and three grandsons and one granddaughter. He leaves also four brothers, J. W. and Archibald, of Asheville; Cicero, of New York, and Samuel, who lives in the West, and two sisters, Mrs. William O'Neill, of Chicago, and Miss Rena Nichols, of Asheville.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed late Wednesday.

Mrs. Alice Allison

Mrs. Alice Allison, who was known here as Alice Wilson, sister of Prof. Otis Wilson, and related to other families of Transylvania, was buried from Round Top Schoolhouse, Carr's Hill Saturday afternoon June first.

Mrs. Allison was forty-eight, and passed away after a long illness, leaving her husband and two sons and a daughter. She has been living out of the county, and not many knew of her death, but the people who did quickly offered their neighborly services and the funeral was conducted by Rev. E. R. Pendleton of Brevard.

Mr. Allison is related to the large and well-known family of that name in Transylvania, and he and his three children have the sympathies of many in this time of their sorrow.

BANDSTAND TO BE BUILT BY PRIVATE DONATIONS

Mayor T. W. Whitmire "took the bull by the horns," went on the warpath, signed up forty men to pay $5 each, and raised a sum with which to rebuild the bandstand. The old stand was blown down in the recent wind storm, and the county and city officials, already paying the salary of the leader, Prof. F. J. Cutler, would not bear the expense of rebuilding the stand. Hence the work of raising the money by private subscription was started and completed.

LAST CHANCE TO LIST PROPERTY FOR TAXATION

Friday, June 7, and Saturday, June 8, are last days upon which tax payers may list their taxes, according to an announcement made elsewhere in today's paper by the list takers. It is also pointed out that a very stiff penalty is placed upon all citizens who fail to list their property for taxation. It is the part of wisdom to list property NOW, and avert additional taxation.

BUREAU PLANS TO ASSIST BREVARD

Entertainment of Tourists One Big Purpose During the Summer

Featuring the meeting of the Woman's Bureau Monday afternoon was a round table discussion relative to tourist entertainment during the summer, the discussion being led by Mrs. L. B. Haynes. Many helpful suggestions were offered by Mrs. Haynes and by other members present, which it is thought can be worked out to the mutual benefit of the summer visitors and to the residents.

It is the expectation of the Bureau to begin at an early date on the formulation of plans to provide some of these recreational features for the amusement of the summer guests, some of which it is thought will prove of special attraction to the tourists.

Other matters coming up for discussion and action at the meeting was the appointing of a committee, consisting of Mrs. T. H. Shipman, Mrs. C. C. Yongue and Mrs. Bates Patton, to request the county commissioners to take action on the matter of removing the large stumps in the court house lawn which were left from the recent storm. The commissioners, upon consultation, agreed to attend this matter at once and have the lawn cleared of this debris.

Another matter pertaining to civic welfare, which was voted upon was the appointing of a committee to go before the town alderman, requesting this body to ask the merchants to sweep in front of their places of business on Saturday nights after closing hours and then to have the street flusher wash the streets in the business district after this time, thereby assuring clean streets during Sunday. Action was also taken on the matter of bringing before the aldermen the question of immediate erection of a band stand in order that the free summer concerts may begin at an early date.

An announcement was made by the president, Mrs. O. L. Erwin, that preliminary work had been started on the school grounds, preparatory to planting shrubbery and otherwise beautifying the premises.

MANY GIRL SCOUTS AT CAMP ILLAHEE

(By ALBERTA JENKINS)

Friday, May 24, representation from three patrols of Laurel Troop I set out, some on foot, others in cars to enjoy a week's outing at Camp Illahee, where Mr. and Mrs. Hinton McLeod hospitably opened their doors and out-of-doors for the Scouts' enjoyment.

Having chosen our cabins and deposited our weighted packs therein, we fell almost immediately into the pleasant routine which was to fill our ensuing days. Miss Cathcart, one of our very able chaperones, arranged the program so that all the work of the camp might be done quickly and efficiently, with plenty of time for recreation. This program included setting-up exercises, colors, breakfast, camp inspection, canoeing, swimming, rest hour, lunch, quiet hour, canoeing and swimming, rest dinner, colors, campfire and taps.
