This is the week when some of our own county's men are going to get chain gang sentences and we believe they would rather work on their own cross county roads, but our county commissioners say they had rather not. A few weeks ago we noticed the report of the grand jury in Buncombe county, and they have several convicts from other counties which cost nothing but their upkeep—about fifty cents a day. They could be kept cheaper. For the report gives 80 hogs being fattened, mostly from table refuse. If that county can keep them that cheap, so could ours, and that certainly is cheap road work. If our county is going to give other counties all our chain gang prisoners, why not be more charitable and throw in all our road machinery. Really, the upkeep of the machinery would beat letting it rust out. We honestly believe the county voters should find out what our would-be officers will do about this before voting even in the primary. We believe our prisoners should be kept at home and put to work on our own county roads, and we believe every prisoner who draws a jail sentence should be put to work on the roads. It would be better treatment than to just keep them in jail.

Our party is all off now until some future (and we hope away off in the future) time. I guess we just got ashamed of our little old uproar when Brevard had so much bigger one. Of course, we know our home town is a bigger place than our little country settlement, but no one got beat up nor hurt in any way but just a plain case or two of "sick enough to die." Will be glad to report on each meeting of our gang, but hope it's some time before we need to.

SEMI PRO BALL BEING TALKED IN BREVARD

With the warm spring days, the high schools playing scheduled games and the daily press filled with accounts of preliminary professional ball games throughout the South, fans in Brevard are beginning to talk of semi pro ball for Brevard this summer.

To begin with, one of the best small town parks in this section of the state is awaiting his ump to say "Pla-a-a-y Baowl!" and the good games seen here on McLean Field last year still linger in the minds of the followers of America's greatest and most popular game.

Frank Carr, pilot of the pennant-winners of the Tri-County League last year, has already signified his willingness to sally forth again. He will be ready for playing about the first of May. A meeting of the Brevard Baseball association is expected to be called at an early date at which fans and players will be heard from. Already several teams have signified their desire to connect with a league in which Brevard and Pisgah Forest will be participants. "It won't be long now," is the general consensus of the fans.
