Notwithstanding all these things, we believe that the American Federation of Labor is objecting to the confirmation of one of the whitest, finest, biggest-hearted, fairest men ever elevated to the Supreme court of the United States. We believe that Judge John J. Parker would cheerfully have rendered an adverse decision in that case had it been possible for him to have done so without having his decision reversed because of its conflict with precedent and the established rule. Judge Parker's great heart has throbbed in sympathetic unison with the mass of mill workers about him, men and Commerce last Thursday evening, women who have called him friend, when definite action was taken on and have never called in vain.
