THEY ARE OURS, AND
WE SHOULD STAND BY THEM IN EVERY WAY.

Transylvania county is this week giving to the world another group of High School graduates. The two classes, at Brevard and Rosman, represent the very best there is in Transylvania county. The young men and young women have finished the long journey from the first to the highest grade, and are this week marching forth to take their places in the affairs of men.

It is now the duty, and ought to be considered the privilege, of the men of Transylvania county to see to it that our own boys and girls are given first chance at everything we have to offer. Life looks none too rosy to these young people at best, with but little to offer in the local field, and positions are scarce everywhere. This county ought, therefore, to see to it that no one is brought in from the outside to take any position in the county until these young men and young women are given a chance at the positions and places that may be open.

At best, we shall lose many of these young people. Of necessity they must leave home and county to find employment elsewhere. What a great loss to this community! We men in the county could have had a great furniture factory here, or some other enterprise, in which most of these fine young men could have pooled their energies and their interests, to remain here as the future leaders of the county.

Let us improve our ways, our thinking, our work, and prepare each year places for the young men and young women who graduate in our high schools. We work hard to bring other people into the county, and do nothing to keep those we already have here in our homes and in our community. Let's wake up.

BE FAIR, OLD CHAP, IN YOUR CRITICISM.

Every once in a while some good soul becomes enraged at this newspaper, and thinks he will stop the whole works by stopping "the dern thing." We have no quarrel whatever with any one who does not care to take The Brevard News. That is each one's own individual privilege--to take it or not take it. We do think, however, that it is a sign of meanness when one does get huffy and stops his subscription, then to go out and borrow a neighbor's Brevard News, read it, and then criticize it.

We have one such good fellow, and he certainly pulled a bone a few days ago. Several weeks ago he refused to take his Brevard News out of the postoffice, and said some rather hard things about the paper and its editor. But he kept on slipping around, reading the other man's copy. He say in the paper the statement that there is not an empty store building in town, nor a residence that could be had for love or money. Right up in the air he went. He called The Brevard News several kinds of a liar, for publishing such rot, when there are so many store buildings in the town for rent, not to say anything about the vacant houses.

Directly a friend of ours pointed out the fact that the item he was cussing so loudly was under the heading: "Ten Years Ago In Brevard." Ha, ha, ha, and ho, ho, ho, and he, he, he, and hi, hi, hi, and haw, haw, haw!
Poor old boy!

Welcome to Sherman P. Hammatt and his good wife. Their appearance in Brevard each Spring brings renewed hope to the community. They are coming to make preparations for opening the Franklin hotel, and it is cause for rejoicing to know that they expect an even better season than that experienced by the famous Franklin last year.

Kiwanians will celebrate the opening of the Cat and the Fiddle Coffee Shop by taking their regular weekly luncheon there this Thursday noon. Mrs. Harry Patton, popular hostess, will be in charge of the place and serve dinner to the club.

AN EVENING WITH THE WALLACE HARTSELLS.

It was the pleasure of the editor of The Brevard News to spend a while with Rev. Wallace Hartsell and his family in Kings Mountain last Sunday. Rev. Paul Hartsell and Rev. Mack Grogan accompanied the writer on the trip.

The people of Kings Mountain are delighted with their new pastor and his fine family. We were in the meeting Sunday evening when the congregation of Kings Mountain First Baptist church completed a day's work which piled up three hundred dollars for missions, all given in the one day. Inquiries revealed the fact that this sum brings the total mission contributions to $1500 for the past four months, and the pastor and his splendid congregation were elated over this wonderful achievement.

It was a real pleasure to be with the Hartsells. They sent so many messages back to so many of their friends here, that we take this method of saying to all of you that the Hartsells sent their love to all the people here.

THOMAS M. SEAWELL A REAL EDITOR.

Thomas M. Seawell, recently acquiring The Waynesville Mountaineer, is proving a distinct addition to the newspaper field in Western North Carolina. He is an experienced newspaper man, and knows what to write and how to write it. Then, too, he knows how to make his newspaper look like a million dollars.

The many friends in Brevard of William Band sympathize with him because ill health forced him to leave the newspaper field and dispose of The Mountaineer. He has worked long and hard during the past several years, leaving Brevard to enter the field at Waynesville. Haywood county and all Western North Carolina, however, may well feel gratified over the coming of Mr. Seawell, who, in the short time he has been in Waynesville, has demonstrated great ability as a newspaper man.

May he be successful far beyond his greatest hope, is our sincere wish for him and his associates.

FEARED THAT FROST KILLED THE FRUIT.

Many citizens of the county have expressed fear that recent heavy frosts played havoc with fruit. Mr. John Bishop, of the Brevard Institute, says apples are gone. Reports from other sections are to the effect that frequency of frosts finally killed the fruit, except in orchards located in sheltered spots.

There were several frosts, day after day, and it is believed the frequency of these, rather than the severity of either one, caused damage to the fruit. Transylvania bid fair to have a bumper crop until the frosts of last week. All trees were in heavy bloom, and owners had looked forward to a big crop. It is a hard blow to the county, this big promising crop to be nipped in the bud by the unusual frosts. Many citizens say that this is the first time in many years that so many frosts have been witnessed after Easter.

That band music "listens" good to one walking along the streets of the evening. It ought to mean much to every citizen here. It indicates that our own boys are up there in the band room, making ready to entertain the citizens and visitors during the summer season with their wonderful concerts. Brevard has the best municipal band in the whole cockeyed world, and we don't mean maybe.

CHANCE TO OBTAIN AN INDUSTRY HERE.

P. M. Verdery, Charlotte, shows his friendship for this town in many different ways. He read an editorial appearing in a recent issue of The Charlotte Observer, and immediately mailed it into The Brevard News, with the expressed wish that Brevard may be able to land it. The Editorial follows:

"A new industrial departure in the south about which not much has been said so far, is the manufacture of paper. The extent to which this industry is already developed is indicated in a statement this week by The Daily Construction Bulletin, issued by The Manufacturers Record. Indicating the concentration of the paper industry in the South, with its abundant supply of suitable soft woods, miscellaneous chemicals and adequate transportation facilities, is enlargement of established plants and construction of new plants. The Daily Construction Bulletin makes note that the Brown Paper Mill company is doubling the size of its plant at Monroe, La., at a cost of $5,000,000. The Bogalusa Paper company, Bogalusa, La., is expanding its plant at big cost. The Albemarle-Chesapeake Corporation is completing a $1,500,000 mill at West Point, Va. The John H. Heald company, Lynchburg, Va., recently completed a $2,000,000 linerboard plant. The Champion Fibre company, Canton, N. C., has a virtually continuous expansion program under way at its huge plant. West Virginia Pulp & Paper company, Luke, Md., recently completed a 15,000,000 gallon capacity filtration plant. The Harvey Paper Mills company, Wellburg, W. Va., let contracts in January for a paper bag plant. The Gulf States Paper company completed a $6,000,000 plant last year at Tuscaloosa, Ala.

"The Bulletin lists as 'the most important undertaking' of the past week a $10,000,000 kraft paper mill to be erected at Panama City, Fla., for the Southern Kraft Corporation, a subsidiary of the International Paper company. The plant will be one of the country's largest paper mills, designed for a daily capacity of 200 tons. The announcement assumes added significance when it is considered that only recently the International Paper company completed a $5,000,000 plant at Mobile, Ala., and a few years ago built at Camden, Ark., a $5,000,000 plant, each with a capacity of 100 tons daily. The company also has large mills at Moss Point, Miss., and two mills at Bastrop, Ala., through subsidiaries has erected paper bag plants costing about $1,500,000 each.

"It is reported that the company is looking for a site for a kraft mill in the Carolinas. What Western North Carolina town will be first to wake to this opportunity?"

MRS. NORTON THANKS CITIZENS

Editor The Brevard News:

Will you please give me space in your paper to express my appreciation to the people of Hogback township for their kindness and courtesy to me while working among them as census enumerator. I met with perfect courtesy and seeming willingness to answer all questions as nearly correct as possible. By their willingness to cooperate with me in the work, made it possible for me to finish on scheduled time, otherwise I could not have done it for my work was scattered.

I enjoyed the work and was pleased to be in the home of almost every citizen of Hogback township, but I shall not canvass the township again unless I decide to become a candidate for sheriff.

Again I thank you good people, for your kindness.

MRS. LEE F. NORTON.

BLOWING ROCK AND THE EDITORS

(Charlotte Observer)

Editor Harris, of The Franklin Press, and Editor Barrett, of The Brevard News, from their perches on the mountain tops, are bawling the circumstances that, the Press Association having elected to hold its next meeting at Blowing Rock, members, tired of the talk in the convention hall, will have no opportunity to stroll out and go into some building where they may sniff the odor of printer's ink and hear the rumble of the press, because Blowing Rock has no printing office. If that is their only objection, they may as well pack their grips in joyous anticipation, for the bustling town of Boone is only 20 minutes from Blowing Rock, and there the visiting editors may be taken through one of the most uniquely arranged printing shops in the State. It is the home of The Watauga Democrat, edited by Bob Rivers and hand-bossed by him. Architecturally, The Democrat office has form and shape of a family residence. It is located four feet below the level of the pavement, the steps leading down into a grassy park, narrow, to be sure, but shaded by the sort of trees the village blacksmith boasted of. Inside there is an arrangement of machinery, desks, tables, stones and presses which display the hand of a genius, while, during a lull in the talk, is heard the rippling voice of a mountain stream that gushes up at the corner of the building and goes tumbling on its way to join the New, and ultimately to mingle in the waters of the Gulf. Work in The Democrat office goes along to the song of tumbling water. The Press Convention was held in this same town of Blowing Rock a dozen years ago, and it is remembered by those who attended as one of the best on record.
