THE CANNON COMPLEX IS BOTHERING EDITOR ROBINSON.

Brother Charles K. Robinson, editor of The Asheville Times—and a better one never pounded the typewriter—is causing quite a bit of talk among his large number of readers by his constant dingdonging on the dome of Bishop Cannon. Some close readers of Asheville's best have calculated that the editorials published in The Times about Bishop Cannon would, if clipped in columns and pasted end to end, reach from Asheville to Lake Toxaway, even following the winding and curving highway all the way.

Others have expressed the opinion that Editor Robinson is suffering an acute attack of Cannonitis, and the malady had settled in the editor's fingertips, often leading him in either an unconscious or subconscious manner to dash off a Cannon editorial at most any hour, day or night, Sunday or week-day. So marked has the Cannon editorials and briefer editorials become, that one man said to another: "Well, here comes The Asheville Times. Let's see what the editor is saying about Bishop Cannon today."

There is but one thing in the Cannon editorials that we admire, and that is, the ability of a writer to cuss a man so often, over a long period of time, and never repeat any of his cuss words. A vocabulary like that, with an inexhaustible supply of descriptive adjectives, constitute a gift that is both rare and priceless. Some men, to say as much against the bishop as The Times has said, would have to have a thousand tongues to tell the tale.

One of these days Editor Robinson is going to say something good about Bishop Cannon, if he keeps on writing about him, but when he does that, then the Buncombe County Tax Payers League will be entertained by J. Walter Haynes at some Henderson county dairy.

GLAZENER'S WORK IS BRINGING RESULTS.

Reports filed by Julian Glazener, instructor in vocational agriculture in the Brevard High School, show that 34 boys in his class earned and received $2,300 for their produce raised in the course of study, while seven adults earned $1,313 in the poultry projects under Mr. Glazener's supervision. This total cash revenue amounts to $3,612—more than the cost of maintaining the work being done in Mr. Glazener's agricultural work in instruction. Of course, the big result of the work is the knowledge gained by these 34 boys, who are to be farmers of the county on the morrow.

It is a striking example of the worth while work of vocational training. The federal government, state and county governments, combine in bearing the expense of Mr. Glazener's salary and incidentals. He has returned already more cash direct to the boys and to men and women of the county than was spent on the work done in supporting this teacher.

This is what we call real returns on real school work.

HIGHWAY WORK SOON TO BE STARTED IN COUNTY.

Citizens of Transylvania county who are anxious to see the two through highways, 284 and 283, completed in fine shape, are marking time until another month shall have passed. Commissioner Stikeleather has stated emphatically that this work shall begin soon after July first.

Residents of this county read with a great deal of interest all published accounts of the hundreds and thousands of people traveling along Highway No. 10 and other highways that have been completed long ago. With the matchless attractions here, more magnificent and appealing than in any other section of Western North Carolina, all that is needed to bring the throngs through here is to complete the highways. The promise of Mr. Stikeleather to do this work is valued highly by the citizens.

While the state is doing this work on the state highways, then let all citizens who have the interest of the county at heart begin making plans to put the county roads in good shape, with some kind of all-weather surfacing, or body. The work to be done by the state on the state maintained highways has no bearing whatever upon the county roads. Our good friend, Dr. C. J. S. Parsons, in a recent letter, deplored the fact that work is being urged on the state highways rather than the county roads. The county of Transylvania must do its work on the county roads, and whatever work that is done on the state maintained highways has no bearing whatever on the county roads. The state has nothing to do with the county roads. That is a responsibility which the county alone must assume. The condition of the county roads is an indictment of the county of Transylvania—not the state of North Carolina. Whatever is necessary to bring about better county roads must be done by the county itself. There is no excuse whatever for the county roads being in the condition they are now, and nothing will excuse a continuance of this condition. The citizens of Transylvania county are entitled to good roads through each township. The best thought of the county ought to be directed to this question, nor should there be any let-up in efforts and activities until there is a good all-weather road through each township.

In the meantime, there should be an alert interest in the promised work by the state highway commission to begin work on the Caesar's Head road and the Roeman-Pickens highway soon after the new fiscal year begins.

THANK YOU, MR. McNEELY

Editor The Brevard News:
Please change the classified advertisement now running in your paper, as we have sold the two refrigerators to customers who read the advertisement last week. Please run another advertisement for a slightly used kitchen cabinet which we will sell at most reasonable price, or will trade for cattle, or whatever your readers have to trade on that I can use. We have no use of the kitchen cabinet, hence our desire to sell.
I want to congratulate The Brevard News on the quick results obtained from advertisements in the paper. This is not the first time that I have sold articles through these little ads.

THANK YOU, FRIENDS

Brevard, N. C., June 10, 1930
TO MY GOOD FRIENDS IN TRANSYLVANIA COUNTY.

I wish to express my thanks and gratitude to my many friends in Transylvania who supported me in the Primary, and I wish to assure them that I and my family will ever be grateful to them for their hearty support of me on June 7th, 1930.

After thinking over the matter, however, and realizing the splendid vote that my good friend, George M. Justus received, and the handsome vote which my friends, Carl Allison received, I felt that under all the circumstances, that my friends and supporters would agree with me that as George M. Justus was the next man to me in the Primary, that I, as a young and able-bodied man, should withdraw and allow Mr. Justus to receive the nomination, and I felt that Mr. Allison would have done the same had our positions been reversed. The three of us had an agreement before the primary that there would be no second primary but the high man could have the nomination.

I will ever feel grateful to my friends for the support they gave me and I appreciate it and I want to do what is best for the Democratic Party of Transylvania County, and to my mind the Democratic Party has always stood for what is best and what is right, and I feel that Mr. Justus should have this office and I will go on with my work, and I believe that the voters of Transylvania County will feel as I do and will help my good friend Justus, who is well fitted for the position of Treasurer in every respect, but who is unable to do any manual hard labor.

I have therefore, withdrawn from the race and that automatically leaves Mr. Justus as the Nominee of the Democratic Party of Transylvania County for the office of County Treasurer and I most earnestly request my friends to support Mr. Justus and do all they can for him.

I have given up a chance to be Treasurer of Transylvania County and I know that this is going to be a Democratic Year in the entire Nation, State and County, but my heart and my mind advises me to give away to George Justus and I know that my friends and supporters will back me up in what I have done, and that they will also give all their time and influence to see that George Justus is elected to an office which he can fill with honor to himself, satisfaction to his friends and profit to the taxpayers of Transylvania County.

Again asking each and every of my friends to do their utmost to elect Mr. Justus and again thanking them for their splendid support they gave me in the Primary, which support put me in the lead, I remain,
Yours for Righteousness and Democracy,
H. C. AIKEN.

Some men are born great; others achieve greatness, and a few have greatness thrust upon them, so said some wise guy in the dim, dark and distant past.

Some men write for the newspaper for the fun of the thing; others get paid for writing, while some few cranks buy space in order to get to write their thoughts and give their messages to the reading public.

I belong to this latter group. So I have bought this column in The Brevard News, and have not the slightest idea just what will appear in it from time to time. Like the old Quakers, whenever the spirit moves, I shall write whatever the spirit suggests, and I said SPIRIT — not SPIRITS!

A MAN AND HIS WIFE HAD A BIG FIGHT

I was interested in an account of a fight that a man and his wife had the other day. It is bad business, when mates fall out and fight. I asked the man what it was all about, and he said that he had worked hard all day, and went home for supper, and the biscuits were so hard that he simply could not eat them. So he said something about it, and his wife got mad, and they got to quarreling, and then they began throwing biscuits at one another, and the biscuits were so hard that they took the skin off everywhere they struck. I asked the man how come she baked such hard biscuits, and he didn't know. I asked him what kind of lard his wife used, and he said he didn't use any lard, because it is so high that they couldn't buy it. I showed him an eight pound bucket of lard that we sell here for $1.12, and he said: "What a fool I have been. I could have bought this bucket of lard and my wife could have had good biscuits, and we wouldn't have had that battle royal!" He bought a bucket of lard, 8 pounds of it, for only $1.12. Better get yours now, while it is here at that low figure.

ONE CANDIDATE THAT HAD NO OPPOSITION

Now that the primary is over, I can tell a good story about a candidate who had no opposition. Years ago when there was no such thing as the Volstead law, a big political meeting was being held in a certain town. A whole army of candidates were at the meeting, and some of them were feeling unusually good. One candidate who had been shaking hands with everybody, and took a drink about every time he shook hands, met a well dressed stranger in front of the hotel. This stranger happened to be a minister passing through. The candidate spied him, and shook hands with him, and said: "Shay, pardner, air you a candidate." The stranger said he was. "What office you runnin' fer?" the staggering candidate asked. "I an a candidate for the Kingdom of God," the man replied. After thinking seriously for a moment, the drinking candidate said: "Well, by Gosh, I guess you'll be elected, fer I don't know anybody running against ye."

THAT'S WHAT WE SAY —

About this Tub Silk Dress we have here in stock, selling it for only $3.95—in several colors—brand new styles—it has no competition. No other dress in comparison to it for the money. You ought to see these dresses, good ladies.

IF THERE WERE NO BITTER THINGS, WE WOULD NOT KNOW ABOUT SWEETNESS

Take all bitterness out of life, and we would not know anything at all about sweet things. Nobody likes bitter things. Take coffee, for instance, and tea, and all the things that sugar goes into to make it sweet. Folks like sugar, and must have it. That is why we sell it at a nickel a pound. Plenty of sugar here at five cents the pound.

PEOPLE USED TO LIVE OUT DOORS, AND THEIR NEEDS WERE SIMPLE

In ages ago people lived in caves and slept under trees. Some one started the idea of building homes. Then another fellow conceived the idea of making bedsteads. Later on another guy got the idea of mattresses for beds. Then came the necessity for sheets. Ever since that time the question of having enough sheets in the home has worried housewives considerably, but now that is settled. Who minds paying 8 cents a yard for good heavy sheeting? That's cheaper than sleeping on a straw tick, and we have an abundance of this extra heavy good sheeting at this low price of 8 cents a yard.
