

TRANSYLVANIA GIRL BOOSTS HER COUNTY

OPTIMISM URGED BY KIWANIS HEAD

Miss Kate Gillespie, of Brevard, composed the following poem for the special chapel program put on at Cullowhee recently by the Transylvania county group of students attending summer school at Western Carolina Teachers College:

TRANSYLVANIA
When Paradise was finished
And God saw that all was well,
He planned a smaller one on earth,
Where mortal men might dwell.
And so he took the remnants
Of all the nicest things,
The softest clouds and waterfalls,
And birds with brightest wings.
He put therein the mountains
In wildest beauty clad,
The steepest, most majestic
High mountains that He had.
And He fashioned little valleys,
And made them wondrous fair,
With flowers and trees and trailing
vines,
And put them here and there.

He made deep fertile places
Where grow rich fruits and grains,
Which flourish in the sunshine,
And bathe in softest rains.
Then He fastened it all together
With the rivers that He made,
That dance and sparkle in the light,
And whisper softly in the shade.
And when the place was perfect,
As perfect as could be,
He put therein a people
Forever glad and free.

And they are the finest people
That you'll ever hope to find,
With friendly homes and firesides,
With great and noble minds.
And there they live together
In love and peace and bounty,
God calls it just a bit of earth,
We call it Transylvania County.

East Fork News

Just to ease Boylston's mind in regard to our tobacco crop and to assure Selica that we aren't going to air all our troubles, will jot down a few notes.

We've learned by observation and experience that the world cares very little about our troubles. So when there's nothing but trouble to talk about, we'll leave off talking at all or just mumble so low that nobody can tell what we're saying.

Our tobacco crop is looking just fine, thank you, or will be when we get all the missing hills reset and all the cut worms put out of business and a few little odd jobs completed, we're going to have a tobacco patch second to none.

Corn and beans in our community are looking fine too. The late frost didn't effect crops in our immediate settlement but some in other sections look disheartening. We're hoping it isn't really as bad as it looks, and that with a good season and a long one, our county can report a splendid crop.

Garden "sass" from home gardens is being reported, only we have to hand it to Rosman for the earliest home grown beans. Congratulations to Rev. and Mrs. Rufty.

We failed to see any report given from Selica last week, and in case they forget to tell you of some beautiful dahlias blooming in Mrs. B. Mull's yard. We'll just say they are there.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Heath were called to Greenville last week on account of the serious illness of Mr. Heath's brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd McGuire and son, Frank, spent the week-end in Asheville and Penrose.

Mrs. Singleterry, with her children and some friends, are spending a few days at the Singleterry camp.

We're glad to report that Mrs. Will Gravelly, who as been sick so long, is improving slowly but surely, and we hope soon to report that she is well once again.

We noticed some statements made in regard to our county roads, by Mr. Hutches of Florida. We see the truth of his statements and heartily wish that the fellows in "power" had to do all the traveling they do on our old rough cut up roads. But if Mr. Hutches was an honest-to-goodness native of this county he could see why we can't have just ordinary decent roads. Our commissioners have decided to economize. We think probably to the extent that no cream or sugar be used in their coffee. They can't possibly fix our roads or do any work on them because we must maintain a County Court in addition to the several weeks of regular court we have and they want their surplus money loaned to the state to hardsurface the already good state roads. Well, we believe in economy all right, but we can't for our lives see why all the road work should be for just a few sections and the rest of the county go to the dickens so far as the roads are concerned.

We feel sure from the way the county commissioners cut on the school budget they will soon be slashing on their own salaries and the County Court. We wish and wish it hard that the county commissioners could and would get right in against the educational board and force them to have all the schools in the county begin the first of August. One month's fuel would be cut out, and the farmer's would have a month of badly needed work by their boys.

We were right much interested in Mr. Barrett's editorial on the Absentee Ballot Law. We aren't resenting what he says in regard to this law, and we feel ashamed that both political parties in our own county stoop to the wrong use of the ballot. We feel sure that two years ago prominent doctors in our county issued certificates for voters they never saw in their lives, but we don't believe Herb Hoover or our county commissioners either should be required to step down from their offices just because that happened. Honestly, we don't believe that Absentee Ballot Law is abused nearly so much as the buying and selling of votes. Still, we earnestly hope the law, in regard to buying and selling votes will never be repealed nor would we want the law against stealing and murder repealed, because some fool folks persist in stealing and killing; nor we wouldn't think of having the prohibition law repealed, because our county, as well

CHEVROLET DEALERS ATTEND ZONE MEET

Chevrolet dealers from this section have this week heard programs and policies for the coming fiscal year outlined by F. E. Zorniger, and other officials of the Knoxville Zone of Chevrolet Motor company, at a series of meetings at the Andrew Johnson Hotel at Knoxville.

Rush and Roland Whitmire, local Chevrolet dealers, declared upon their return from Knoxville yesterday that the zone office officials are extremely optimistic for the prospects for the balance of this year for their line. They base this assumption, the Messrs Whitmire said, upon the enthusiastic reception accorded the "Greatest Chevrolet in Chevrolet History."

While at the meeting the Messrs Whitmire signed their contract with the Chevrolet Motor company for the fiscal year which runs from August first through July 31st.

Assisting Mr. Zorniger in the presentation of the program at the Knoxville meeting was L. F. Vollmer, assistant zone manager; L. L. Deissle, sales promotion manager; F. A. Hoel, business management department; Geo. L. Davenport, service manager; A. I. Smith, manager of the Knoxville branch of the General Motors Acceptance corporation; and C. F. Seeger, manager of the Atlanta zone of Motor Accounting corporation.

as others, have such a flock of folk who are eternally breaking the law.

The thing to do for those who feel that these perfectly good laws are being violated, is to see if the law against misuse of laws can't be enforced.
