

STUDENTS' FAIR TO BE STAGED HERE SATURDAY BY THE Y. T. F.

FINE EXHIBITS TO BE DISPLAYED BY BREVARD CHAPTER

Fair Will Be Held In Building Formerly Occupied by the Blue Moon

NO ADMISSION CHARGE TO BE MADE AT FAIR

Whole Community Is Boosting the Boys In Their Fine Efforts

"Featured by a 'Corn Stalk Parade,' a miniature Transylvania county made from the soils of the various sections of the county, and a display of the products grown and produced by the boys themselves on the farm, the Students Fair of the Brevard High School will be held this Saturday, beginning at 9 o'clock in the morning, remaining open until 10 o'clock in the evening. The fair will be held in the building on Broad street formerly occupied by the Blue Moon Tea Room, while the exhibits of hogs and poultry will be made in the alley at the rear of the building.

There will be no admission charged, as the 57 members of the Young Tar Heel Farmers, enrolled in the vocational agriculture class of the Brevard High school, are anxious that the public see just what the boys have been doing. The very finest yield of truck garden and field crop will be displayed, while hogs, calves and poultry will be in the pens, showing what the young men are doing in the stock and poultry lines.

It is expected that hundreds of people of the county will attend the fair and a most cordial invitation is extended to all citizens in all sections of the county to attend. Farmers are especially invited, and the young men expect those on the farm and all those interested in any way in farming to be present during the day. Prof. Julian Glazener, teacher of agriculture, is highly elated over the promised success of the event, and expressed keen appreciation of the manner in which Brevard business men and Brevard institutions have given publicity to the fair, and is also deeply appreciative of the manner in which the farmers of the county have expressed pleasure that the boys are staging the fair.

The parade, to be known as "The Corn Stalk Parade," will be on the program at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. All members of the local chapter of The Young Tar Heel Farmers will march in the parade, armed with corn stalks as emblems of their vocation. It is said there is probability that the parade will be led by the Brevard Municipal Band.

List of Exhibits

I. Boys who are graduates and are now actually engaged in farming.
II. Boys now taking the course in agriculture, exhibiting a portion of their projects, as follows:

- 1—Corn, the stalk.
- 2—Corn, the ear.
- 3—Tobacco.
- 4—Truck crops.
- 5—Poultry.
- 6—Brood sows.
- 7—Pigs.
- 8—Calves.

Ribbons will be awarded to the first, second and third winners in all classes. All exhibits will be entered by boys who are taking a course in agriculture, or who are graduates of the class. In addition to the exhibits by the individual boys, there will be several demonstrations that should prove of real educational value to the farmers and the general public of the county.

Modern hog houses will be shown, with self-feeders and so on. Modern hen houses, mash hoppers, perch poles, nests, and all modern equipment for the poultry business will be on display and demonstrated.

In the lime demonstration and soil testing, the Young Tar Heel Farmers will test the soil and show its need for lime, if any, and how to arrive at the quantity that should be used.

One of the outstanding group displays will be an actual dirt model of Transylvania county, showing the types and classes of soils in Transylvania county, with the crops best adapted to each soil, as recommended by the United States government survey. In other words, any citizen in any section of the county may see an actual testing of the soil from his community, and learn just what crop is best suited for that soil.

Another interesting event in the group work will be the testing of milk for butter fat, according to the latest improved and scientific methods.

INDIAN FAIR DRAWING BIG CROWDS FROM THIS COUNTY

People are attending the Indian fair in session, and others are coming to leave Brevard for a visit to the fair. The fair is always so attractive and always so successful.

ECONOMICS CLASS IS CO-OPERATING WITH FARM GROUP

Will Exhibit Many Products of Class Work at Students' Fair In Brevard

MRS. PAT KIMZEY IN CHARGE OF THIS WORK

Canning, Cooking and Sewing To Be Stressed In Fine Exhibit by Girls

Augmenting and cooperating with the Young Tar Heel Farmers, Brevard Chapter, will be the strong class in Home Economics of the Brevard High School, under the leadership of Mrs. Pat Kimzey, instructor of this department. Mrs. Kimzey is recognized as one of the outstanding authorities in the state on home economics, and the fact that her splendid class is to have an exhibition at the fair this Saturday a display of preserved foods, prepared foods, candies and clothing will add great interest to the event. There are 62 girls in the home economics work of the Brevard High school, and the following exhibits will show something of the great work these young ladies are doing:

- I. Food preservation—
 - 1—Canned foods.
 - 2—Preserves.
 - 3—Jellies.
 - 4—Marmalades.
 - 5—Pickles.
- II. Clothing—
 - 1—Dresses.
 - 2—Hand work, (a) quilts; (b) scarfs.
- III. Food preparations—

 - 2—Chocolate and fudge.
 - 3—Seafoam.
- V. Cookies.
- VI. Pies—(a) lemon; (b) coconut; (c) chocolate; (d) butterscotch.

methods. Any citizen interested in desiring ought to see this test being made, for it gives most valuable information.

The young men of the class have been highly complimented for their work and their plan to stage this fair next Saturday is given the most hearty commendation of all good citizens. Attendance at the fair on the part of the men and women of the county will be great encouragement to the young men who are soon to become the county's outstanding farmers.

HOME COMING DAY AT QUEBEC CHURCH

Great interest is being taken in the Home Coming Day which will be observed next Sunday, Oct. 12 at the Oak Grove Baptist church at Quebec. Not only are all the members of this church urged to be present, but the public is cordially invited as well.

This is one of the most popular churches in the county and its members have large and influential family connections, some of Transylvania county's leading citizen either being members of that church or counting it as their old home place of worship. For this reason a great crowd is expected at this Home Coming Day.

Everybody is urged to bring along a big lunch basket in order to make the day an even more enjoyable one.

BAPTISTS OBSERVE THE LORD'S SUPPER

A large congregation observed the Lord's Supper last Sunday morning at the Brevard Baptist church. Rev. Paul Hartsell, pastor, preached a very interesting sermon Sunday night on the subject: "A Sleeping Jonah." This was the first of a series of sermons that the pastor will preach on the character of Jonah. The subject of Rev. Mr. Hartsell's sermon next Sunday morning will be "The Lord's Day." At the evening hour he will use "Rebellious Jonah" as his subject.

The Baptist Sunday School observed Promotion Day last Sunday. Mrs. Paul Hartsell was elected as teacher of the Home Makers class. Miss Janie Strickland was elected leader of Intermediate B. Y. P. U.

The Book of Acts will be basis of study for several weeks at the weekly prayer services at the Baptist church. The prayer service meets every Wednesday evening at 7:30 in the church parlor. The pastor of the church extends a cordial invitation to the public to attend these meetings on Wednesday evenings.

Showing the Merrill Tobacco Field in Little River

agriculture in the Brevard High School. This tobacco was fertilized with V.-C. fertilizer, which is recommended by Mr. Glazener. Last week's pictures showed the fine tobacco grown in Gloucester, in Quebec, and at Brevard. This picture shows the weed grown in the lower end of the county, proving beyond a doubt that the whole county is a tobacco growing county. Next week there will appear a picture of the crop grown by Mr. Hardy Merrill, also of the Little River section.

Government Proposed Dam and Lake Creates Widespread Interest

Widespread interest was aroused in publication recently of the government's report concerning the probability of erection of a dam at Biltmore which would create a lake reaching from that point to Rosman. Hundreds of people have visited The Brevard News office and studied the government maps accompanying the announcement. The very bigness of the proposition precludes an easy grasp, or understanding, of the project. The report, made by the United States engineers, operating under the War Department, is the result of work that has taken some five years to complete.

As an indication of the water line about Brevard, according to the engineers making the survey, the first floor of the home of Mr. T. A. English, at Davidson River, would be submerged, the water line coming to the porch floor of the second story of the English home. While the government engineers were surveying this section, Mr. English asked them as to the water line, and was given the above information. Mr. English, in speaking of the matter, asserted that unless the government removes the jetties from the French Broad river, the whole valley might just as well be taken for a lake site, as the overflows from the river in flood time, caused by the jetties, make it impossible to farm with any degree of certainty.

Best informed people in speaking of the matter express confidence that the project will, at some future date, be completed. Many years, however, will pass away before actual work is started, it is believed. The government suggests in a letter that all individual or private enterprises be carried on in usual manner, even to the building of dams, stating that such work on the part of individuals or municipalities would be paid for by the government in event the federal project is pushed through to completion.

The following letter was sent to Mayor Whitmire and the town council:

BARTON REUNION TO BE HELD SUNDAY

Descendants of "Uncle Mint" Barton, as he was known in the olden days, will gather at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Barton at Cathey's Creek next Sunday, in family reunion, and for the purpose of organizing, after which the Barton Reunion will become an annual affair. The Barton family has been a tremendous force in this county, most of the members of the family still living here. Some have moved away, however, and will be drawn back home for visits on these days of the reunion.

It is expected that a large crowd of the descendants of the original Bartons here, and their many friends, will gather at the Henry Barton home Sunday for the reunion celebration and organization work of the day.

BAILEY TO SPEAK AT COURT HOUSE

Hon. Josiah W. Bailey, democratic candidate for United States senate, is scheduled for an address at the court house in Brevard this Thursday evening at 8:00 o'clock, and it is expected that a packed house will greet the standard bearer of the state's democracy. Mr. Bailey is recognized as one of the state's greatest orators, and is at his best in a political contest. He defeated Hon. F. M. Simmons, for more than a quarter of a century the recognized leader of democracy in North Carolina, for the democratic nomination in the June primaries.

As this is said to be the only time that Mr. Bailey will appear in this county, it is believed that democrats from every section of the county, and many republicans, will hear him Thursday night.

MANY GATHER FOR MULL SERVICES

A great host of neighbors and friends gathered at Conestee last Friday afternoon at two o'clock to pay their last respects to J. H. Mull, aged 90, who died at his home in Brevard early Wednesday morning.

The beautiful floral offerings gave splendid evidence of the high esteem in which this noble character was held by those who knew him throughout his life.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Wallace Hartsell of Kings Mountain, and Rev. Paul Hartsell, pastor of the local Baptist church and Rev. Joe West of the Brevard Methodist church.

Active pallbearers were J. H. Picklesimer, Clyde Ashworth, T. L. Snelson, B. W. Trantham, Herb Miller, and W. M. Henry. Honorary pallbearers were Banks Nicholson, W. H. Harris, W. H. Duckworth and A. B. Galloway.

Mr. Mull is survived by the following sons and daughters: William Mull of Brevard; Mrs. Robert Hunt of Greenville; Lacey Mull of Greenville; Wales L. Mull of Brevard; John Mull of Elkland, Penn.; and Mrs. Mary Lance of Brevard.

Brevard Undertaking company was in charge.

MRS. MILLS' STORY TO BE ON THE AIR

Mrs. Mary Hampton Mills, Brevard's own author, is bringing still greater honors to her home town this week. Her recently published story, "The Woman Who Kept Faith With Love," is to be broadcast at True Story hour Friday evening over the Columbia Broadcasting System. Mrs. Mills' many friends and admirers will be at the radio this Friday evening to hear this story, which was the prize winner in a world-wide contest conducted by True Story.

FELLOWSHIP WEEK WILL BE OBSERVED

Beginning next Sunday all the Baptist churches in Transylvania Association are asked to observe Fellowship Week as planned. Program in last week's paper, and printed for distribution.

Speakers as announced will please fill their engagements.

The Moderator expects to be at Enon Sunday, at Mt. Moriah, Calvert, Monday; Mt. Moriah, Cherryfield, Wednesday; and Dunn's Rock Saturday. Attention of these congregations is called to these special appointments made for him by the central committee.

E. R. PENNILETON, Moderator.

At Oak Grove last Sunday it was planned to observe the program with spirit. Sunday the 12th is Homecoming Day for that church at which there will be a crowd. The week will be inspiring.

Following that week a mass meeting will be held at Brevard Baptist church for all the congregations at which Rev. Jesse C. Owen and Dr. Moore of Mars Hill are expected to be speakers.

Dr. Jesse C. Owen will then begin a protracted meeting that Sunday night (Oct. 19), at Oak Grove, and at 11:30 and 7:30 thereafter he will preach, in assisting the pastor. The people are invited to take advantage of these opportunities. Dr. Owen is well known, and one of our very best preachers.

BUSINESS FIRMS ASSIST THE BOYS

Many merchants and business institutions are boosting the Students' Fair through their advertisements this week as a glance through the paper will disclose. Study of these messages is interesting. Others whose messages do not appear sent their copy in too late for publication, several ads having to be left out. The whole News force worked nearly all night Wednesday night in an effort to get as nearly as possible all the ads and articles, but could not reach all of them.

Prof. Glazener and the Young Tar Heel Farmers are deeply grateful to every one who has contributed in any way to the success of the coming event.

P.-T. ASSOCIATION TO HEAR DANIEL

Announcement has been made that Dr. Daniel, Dean of Furman University, Greenville, S. C., will address a meeting of the Parent-Teacher association Monday, Oct. 20, 7:30 p.m. at the High School auditorium. The Music Lovers Club will furnish music for the occasion.

The meeting is being held at night in order that the fathers of the school children may hear this forceful speaker. All the citizens of the community are cordially invited to attend this meeting and the fathers are especially urged to attend.

Dr. Daniel is a noted authority on school problems and it is hoped that the High School auditorium will be filled to capacity when this meeting is held.

HENRY REFUSES TO MEET HAMLIN FOR JOINT CAMPAIGN

Says Time Is Too Short Now, as Democratic Dates Are All Arranged

IS DISAPPOINTMENT TO MANY CITIZENS HERE

Tax Payers Believe That Public Matters Should Be Treated as Such

Hon. W. M. Henry, democratic candidate for the legislature, has declined to meet Hon. Lewis P. Hamlin, republican opponent, in joint campaign, as requested to do by Mr. Hamlin on September 30. Mr. Henry states as his reason that the invitation for the joint campaign came too late, owing to the fact that the democratic candidates had already planned their speaking tours over the county.

The action of Mr. Henry will be regretted by many citizens who feel that the county's affairs should be discussed by representatives of both parties at the same time, rather than the method now employed of one group of candidates speaking at one time, telling that group's side of the question, and the other group appearing at a different time. Each side is making charges and statements about the conduct of the other party, and many citizens believe these charges and statements ought to be made at joint meetings, so the citizens, who foot the bills, might have the privilege of hearing from both sides at the same time.

People who look upon the county's business as being public and belonging to the public cannot see why those who aspire to public office should hesitate in meeting their opponents and making their claims and their charges in the presence of the opposition, according to statements made by citizens when informed of Mr. Henry's refusal to meet Mr. Hamlin in joint discussion of county affairs. As to there being lack of time, it is pointed out by some citizens that it would require only nine meetings for the candidates to appear in each of the townships of the county, which would have taken them throughout the county.

A copy of Mr. Henry's letter, which must be a great disappointment to many of his friends, is published below:

"Hon. Lewis P. Hamlin, 'Brevard, N. C.

"Dear Mr. Hamlin:

"I received your letter of recent date in regard to a joint Campaign between you and myself during this Election.

"I regret exceedingly that you did not make this request earlier in the Campaign, as our Candidates had already made out their list of appointments before I received your letter and every spare minute which I have is fully taken up and I therefore cannot accept your proposition.

"The Democratic Platform and record are of such high character and so well takes care of the everyday working man and woman and taxpayer, that it would have given me great pleasure to have contrasted said Platform and record with the Platform and record of the Republican Party, but it is now too late to make changes in our speaking dates, as same have been advertised and arrangements made for the meetings, and I therefore cannot accept your invitation.

"There is no one whom I would have rather had a joint debate with than yourself, for I feel sure that you would have been a most courteous opponent and would have ably represented your side in our debate, for although you are a trained speaker and lawyer of ability, while I am only a plain everyday citizen with no training along these lines, still I would have ventured into a joint campaign with you fully aware of the great personal advantage you have over me, because I would have relied upon the Platform and record of the Democratic Party, which appeals to every good citizen regardless of political affiliations.

"Again thanking you for your offer and regretting my inability to be with you, for the reasons hereinbefore stated, I remain,

"Yours truly, "W. M. HENRY." Brevard, N. C., Oct. 6, 1930.

COL. COHEN RETURNS TO HIS CHARLESTON HOME

Col. E. B. Cohen, for many years a summer resident of Brevard, returned to his Charleston home this week, expressing regret that he had to leave this community even for the winter months. No other summer resident among the thousands who come here have more friends in Brevard than Mr. Cohen has, and his coming in the early summer is always eagerly awaited by those who rejoice to see the courteous man of Old South.
