CLAYTON-ALLEN WEDDING SOLEMNIZED AT BETHEL

(Spartanburg Herald)

Of wide interest in the Carolinas and Georgia was the marriage of Miss Dorothy Allen, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Wofford Allen to Mr. Joseph Clayton of Brevard, which took place Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the Bethel Methodist church with the Reverend A. L. Gunter officiating.

Palm ferns, white chrysanthemums and Southern smilax were effectively used in arranging the pulpit which was lighted with cathedral tapers in tall brass holders. Just before the entrance of the bridal party a musical program was given with Miss Ruth Ward at the organ.

Miss Margaret Hodges sang "At Dawning," the violin obligato being played by Mrs. M. W. Vanenson. Mrs. Vanenson and Miss Ward played Schubert's Serenade, after which the Bethel quartette sang "O Perfect Love," with special musical arrangement by Prof. N. Irving Hyatt, music director of Converse College. The ushers, Frank Carr of Brevard, Gray Moore of Greepwood, Bennie and Joseph Allen, brothers of the bride, entered first. The groomsmen were Spencer Macfie of Brevard and Branch Paxton of Greenville. The junior groomsmen were Kendall Hoggis, Page Irwin, James Green and David Allen.

The bridesmaids, Miss Lila Mathewes of Spartanburg and Miss Agnes Clayton of Brevard, sister of Mr. Clayton, came in next. They wore charming dresses of Nile green lace, made princess style, with close fitting hats and lace mitts to match and carried an arm bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums, tied with satin ribbon.

Mrs. Gray Moore of Greenwood, sister of the bride, was the dame of honor. Mrs. Moore was becomingly dressed in blue lace, princess model and carried an arm bouquet of pink chrysanthemums, tied with blue ribbon.

The two little flower girls, Helen Mason and Elizabeth Allen were dainty, long blue, tulle dresses ruffled, with pike bonnets. They carried tiny baskets filled with white rose petals which they scattered behind them for the bride to walk over. Little Ruth Allen Moore was ring bearer. She wore a long, pink dress of frilled tulle and carried the ring in the heart of a lily.

Miss Louise Allen, also sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Miss Allen wore a lovely dress of pink lace, also princess, and carried an arm bouquet of orchid chrysanthemums, tied with pink satin ribbon.

Mrs. Allen, mother of the bride was beautifully gowned in an orchid chiffon, offset by a shoulder spray of pink rosebuds and swansonia.

The bride entered on the arm of her father, Dr. J. W. Allen, who gave her in marriage. She was met in front of the chancel by Mr. Clayton and his best man, Harry Clayton, brother of the groom. Miss Allen was particularly lovely in her wedding gown of imported lace, in empire style. Her wedding veil was of tulle and was caught into a cap of orange blossoms. She wore lace mittens and carried a bouquet of Calla lilies.

Immediately after the wedding Dr. and Mrs. Allen were hosts at an informal reception at their home on Hampton Avenue. The guests were greeted at the door by Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Willard and asked into the living room where Dr. and Mrs. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clayton Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clayton Jr., and the bridal party received.

In the dining room the table was covered a fillet lace and embroidered cloth and the centerpiece was of bride's roses and fern. Miss Mary Erwin and Miss Mary Low presided at the table. The guests included close friends of both families, relatives and out of town guests.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Allen of 182 W. Hampton avenue. She is a recent graduate of Converse College and since leaving her Alma Mater has been teaching in the music department of the city schools at Rosman, N. C. She is descended from Confederate soldiers on both sides of her ancestry and is a lineal descendant of several revolutionary soldiers, her grandfather, B. L. Allen, was a gallant soldier under General Lee, serving in many of the hardest battles of the Civil War, and leaving two brothers, Lt. Wade Allen and Sergeant Garland Allen dead on the battle field.

The bride-groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Clayton Sr., of Brevard. His mother was Miss Isabelle Wood, daughter of the late Hon. Thomas L. Wood, who was prominent in the civic and political affairs of Transylvania county. He is descended from the pioneer North Carolina family for whom the town of Brevard was named and is a direct lineal descendant of Lambert Clayton who was a sturdy, stalwart and gallant soldier of the American Revolution, participating in the battle of Kings Mountain and in many other engagements of the war for freedom.

Mr. Clayton received his academic training at Oak Ridge Military Institute, and is a recent law graduate of Wake Forest college. He was one of the leaders in student affairs at both colleges, having been especially prominent in athletics. BRYSON GETS GOOD MONEY FOR CELERY main on the ground until late spring, at which time he turned it again, double disked it and smoothed it well. The rows were merely marked off so he could see how to set the plants and were thirty inches apart. The plants were set June 18, in single rows and about every four inches in the row.

In a few days after the plants were set Carl began irrigating his celery by letting water run in furrows between the rows. The water was allowed to run until the ground became thoroughly soaked. This practice was kept up on the average of three times per week during the entire growing season.

No fertilizer was applied to the celery until the plants had become well established. A side dressing was made using an 8-2-2 at the rate of 900 pounds per acre. (Plans called for an 8-4-4, but could not be had at that time). Three applications in all were made.

One of the outstanding practices that Carl carried out to the letter of the law as called for in his plans, was the spraying with Bordeaux mixture to control blight. His record book shows that he sprayed his celery 16 times. At first he used a small hand sprayer, but decided that it was not putting enough pressure; so he began using a wheel barrow sprayer that gave him 150 pounds pressure. Experiments show that for best results the spray mixture should go on with great pressure.

Carl gave his celery six good cultivations with a four-footed cultivator and six with a hoe.

On August 26, Carl began blanching his celery by using plank on each side of the row. Not all of it was blanched at the same time, but as needed to supply the market demands. His record shows that his entire amount had been sold by October 13th. He informs me that the demand was greater than the supply, which goes to show that a quality product is always in demand and those who saw Carl's celery display at the recent Students' Fair will recall that quality was there in abundance.
