ALMOST NOTHING LEFT FOR THE COUNTRY BOY.

Interest ought to be taken in the call of citizens to meet Saturday and take action on questions concerning fishing and hunting in this county. The Saturday meeting is a direct link between local citizens and the Department of Conservation and Development.

We are hoping that some man will appear in that meeting with the courage to tell the State Department a few things about the country boy. Laws have become so numerous as to fishing, and so many rich guys have purchased great boundaries of land and bought fishing rights on other boundaries, until the time is already here when the mountain lad finds it hard to locate a pool wherein he may enjoy that oldest of all sports—fishing. Nothing has ever been quite as worth while to a country boy as his fishing days. No other picture in all life is quite as fine as that of a boy with his "cut" pole and twine string, often using a nail for a sinker, casting his hook into the stream and playing his luck against the whole world.

Now, the big boy who sits in some swivel chair in an office building far removed from the stream, is about the only fellow who can enjoy fishing. He owns the boundaries, or has purchased the fishing rights along the streams, and armed guards look well after his holdings. When he and his fellows feel like it, they arm themselves with rod and reel and other things that usually go along with a fishing party, and hie themselves to the streams, fishing for a few days and then return to their ordinary haunts. The man and the boy of the rural side must find whatever little stretch that happens to be "free" for their fishing.

Any man who would deny a boy the right to fish would push little chickens into the water.

"Democrats to help bring better times," says streamer headline. Well, what in the thunder do you think they were elected for, if not to do all they could for the betterment of the country? Didn't think they were elected to stand in the way of progress, did you, or to play marbles, or go fishing. Of course, every man elected on either ticket, will do all he can to help the country, else he is a powerful misfit.

Well, the sun still rises and sets, and night comes, then daylight follows, just like it used to do. Only difference is in the sour expressions of some of our citizens, Smile, blame it all, smile, even if the old ship sinks, go down smiling. You'll feel better for it, and make the world feel better, to boot.

Rev. J. H. West in Greensboro; Rev. Paul Hartsell in Raleigh; Rev. Harry Perry in Alabama, and Rev. R. L. Alexander in Gastonia—all the same time, and the town on its best behaviour! Now, none of that wisecracking from any of you smart birds about patients getting well when the doctors are all gone.

Brevard merchants offering goods at prices below the 1913 level ought to stimulate business here. Better buy now, before prices start up with the revival of business, which said revival is reviving in the most reviving manner you ever saw in all your life before. Tens of thousands of men going back to work every day now, and that means humming some and soon.

Well, Thanksgiving is the next stop along Life's pathway. Have you been thinking up all the things that you ought to be thankful for? Before you say there is nothing for which to be thankful, take a long look into the eyes of that baby, that boy or girl, that good wife, then get down on your knees and thank God that you are the luckiest man in the world.

That new Ford looks like a million dollars. Boy, old skill, perseverance and the ambition to do will turn the trick. For instance, compare the Old Tin Lizzie of a few years ago to that new Ford sitting right out there in front.

PRaising THE TAR HEEL BOYS HERE.

"Young Tar Heel Talks," state publication of the Department of Agriculture, devoted to the work of the Chapters of The Young Tar Heel Farmers, gives a whole page of the current issue to the fair held by the Young Tar Heel Farmers of the Brevard High School, commending the work done by the local chapter. In addition to this recognition, Mr. Roy H. Thomas, state supervisor of agricultural education, addressed a letter of strong commendation to Prof. Julian Glazener and his class in agriculture.

The lead story published in The Brevard News is re-printed in the state paper, and the following comment is made by that journal:

Nine cuts of project work, fourteen news articles and ten complimentary advertisements by business firms of Brevard advertising the Young Tar Heel Farmer Student Fair of the Brevard Chapter were received this morning. The Brevard Chapter is one of the most outstanding of the state. The boys organized and conducted their own student fair. The brief account of their fair as given above is taken from a clipping. Let's hear from other chapters. Hats off to Brevard!

Following is the letter written by Mr. Thomas to Prof. Glazener:

"Mr. J. A. Glazener, Brevard, N. C.
"Dear Mr. Glazener:

"Congratulations on your fair and Young Tar Heel Farmer publicity program. You and your boys certainly did an outstanding piece of work. I feel that it is probably the best piece of Future Farmer of America publicity work done anywhere in the United States and I expect to make some comparison when I go to Kansas City for the annual meeting. Please tell your boys that I am mighty proud of what they have done and are planning to do.

"Again, I wish to congratulate you, and with best wishes, I am

"Cordially yours,

ROY H. THOMAS,

State Supervisor of Agricultural Education."

While the Federal Grand Jury is sitting at Asheville, many hearts are going thumpity-thump, thumpity-thump, thumpity-thump, as thoughts race madly over certain things that some folks have been doing.

Well, one thing about it is that Mr. Henry has been to the legislature before, so there will be no danger of his getting lost when he goes down there next January, like Coleman Galloway and Lewis Hamlin did last year.

How's your bad cold? Everybody got it. Keep your feet dry, and call in your physician. Just a short step from a severe cold to pneumonia, and a shorter step from that to the graveyard. Watch that cold!

While we are praying and speaking for World Peace, how about adding a little postscript for a little peace at home, right here in this good little old county?

Lonesome devils! Six republican members of the next legislature and two state senators, not enough for a baseball nine, to say nothing of an umpire. Bet you a quarter they all room together.

Business was powerfully good in Brevard last Wednesday and Thursday, judging from the packages carried away from the stores here.

Several Master Masons are planning to attend the Scottish Rite Reunion in Asheville on Nov. 18, 19 and 20, and take the higher degrees in Masonry.

How many kiwanians will be at the meeting this Thursday at noon?

How many members of Dunn's Rock Masonic Lodge will be at the regular communication this Friday evening?

Have you sneezed your sneeze today? Watch that cold!

Red Misenheimer topped the uppermost pinnacle of delight and happiness Tuesday, when he killed his first deer, and, according to reports, almost succumbed to apoplexy, palpitation, exhilaration, or whatever it is that runs a man crazy when he makes a good kill.

Several parties have been in the tall timbers since the deer season opened on November first. The season is short this year, being only two months, November first to December 31st.

Long winter evenings, with automobile riding out of the question because of the cold weather, the moving picture comes for its own. Brevard is fortunate in having a theatre which shows the very best of pictures, often having the leading releases even before cities like Asheville and Charlotte show the pictures. An hour and a half at a good picture show drives a truck load and a half of dull care away.

EASTERN STAR TO MEET NEXT TUESDAY EVENING

Regular meeting of the Eastern Star will be held next Tuesday evening, Nov. 18, at 7:30 o'clock in Masonic Hall.

LONG LIST PRIZES FOR U.D.C. LIBRARY BIG BRIDGE PARTY

To Be Held Friday Night at the Waltermire Grill Dining Room

GREAT CROWD EXPECTED TO ATTEND THE EVENT

Every One Has Equal Chance To Win One of the Very Valuable Prizes

Displaying fifty unusually fine prizes at the Central Market, the U. D. C. committee having in charge the Benefit Bridge party to be given at the Waltermire Grill expresses confidence that this will prove to be the most successful affair ever held for the local library. The public is invited to the bridge party, which is not simply a bridge party at all, but many other games will be enjoyed by those who do not play bridge. Guests are asked to bring their own cards and pencils, but score pads will be furnished at the party.

There are to be no prizes for high score, low score, or any other kind of score. The prizes will be given through drawing, giving every one a chance to win, whether playing or not. Entry tickets are to bear the name of the holder on the back thereof, and these will be deposited in a box from which they will be drawn for the prizes. It is expected that a large number of people will attend, as the purpose of the party is to support the U. D. C. Library, which is a most worthy cause, and the prizes to be given are of such tremendous value that those winning will simply be in luck, that's all. Admission of fifty cents will be charged. Refreshments will be served. Following is a list of the valuable prizes donated to the U. D. C., and to be given away at the party:

AN INVESTMENT

An advertisement placed in the Little Ads is an investment that will make you money. The next time you have an odd article to sell or desire some used article place a small advertisement in this paper. The cost is small and the results are great.

FROM MR. GALLOWAY

Editor The Brevard News: I wish to take this method of expressing my gratitude to all my friends who worked and voted for me for register of deeds. I want to perform the duties of the office in a way that will give best service to all of the citizens of the county, and in this way give concrete evidence of my gratitude.

Sincerely yours,
JESS A. GALLOWAY.

FROM MR. COUCH

Editor The Brevard News: May I have space in your paper in which to express by deepest gratitude to all those who stood by me in the recent campaign and election? No man has ever had finer friends than those good men and women who stood by me and helped me in such splendid manner. I am glad, indeed, that I made the campaign, and while I failed to be named as your sheriff-tax collector, the display of friendship and the expression of confidence given me by so many hundreds of the county's best men and women is more than recompense for all the work, worry and expense of the campaign.

In years to come I shall endeavor to show in whatever way I can the real gratitude that fills my heart for every kindly word and deed spoken and one for me.

Yours earnestly,
W. L. COUCH.

FROM MR. McCRARY

Editor The Brevard News: I want to say through these columns how deeply grateful I am to all of my friends who worked so hard for me during the campaign and election. I did my best to make the grade, and am just as thankful to those who voted and worked for me as I would have been had I been named as your clerk of the court.

Here's thanking you, one and all, and saying to you that I am now selling good real estate in Transylvania county, the best thing that you can offer people, and if you want to buy, sell or rent, farms, homes, business or summer property, see me, and the trade's half made by the time we sit down.

Yours to the bone,
JUDSON McCRARY.

FROM MR. ALEXANDER

Editor The Brevard News: I wish to express my sincere gratitude to all the people who worked and voted for me in the recent election. As your clerk of the court I shall endeavor to show this appreciation by serving all of the citizens of the county to the very best of my ability.

Yours in gratitude,
OTTO ALEXANDER.

This community, regardless of church affiliation, rejoices that Rev. Mr. West is to be here for another year's work.

The BURNING QUESTION Of the Hour

Is the kind of a HEATER THAT WILL HEAT

And that's where we begin bragging, and just can't help it.

OUR HEATERS

Are made by the same people who make the famous ROMAN RANGE

And what the Roman Range is to the Kitchen, so is this Heater to the Living Room, Bed Room, and the whole home.

A HEATER FOR EVERY PURPOSE —

Large, Medium, Small, and NOW'S the time to think about it. A good Heater like these soon pay for themselves in the fuel they save, aside from the comfort they give.
