PROHIBITION ISSUE NOW TO FOREFRONT IN THE SENATE RACE

Leaders Urging All Friends of Prohibition To Go To Polls For Morrison.

REYNOLDS GROUP MORE ACTIVE THAN BEFORE

Ehringhaus Leaders Predict His Nomination By Tremendous Majority.

Raleigh, June 29.—Two State-wide political contests are steaming up to a grand finish next Saturday, when the Democratic voters of North Carolina will determine whether they will have J. C. B. Ehringhaus or R. T. Fountain as their gubernatorial nominee, and Senator Cameron Morrison or Robert R. Reynolds as their senatorial nominee in the November election. The third race, that for commissioner of labor, with Col. A. L. Fletcher and Clarence E. Mitchell, both of Raleigh, as principals, is an interesting side show.

The nomination of Mr. Ehringhaus as candidate for governor is very generally accepted, few believing Mr. Fountain can overcome the 47,000 lead in the first three-cornered primary, and at a disadvantage in organization, finances and in other respects. Mr. Fountain is pictured as a reluctant candidate in the second race, pushed in by the insistence of supporters who seem bent upon annoying the leader, rather than entertaining hopes for the success of their candidate.

Major L. P. McLendon predicts a 100,000 majority for his candidate, Mr. Ehringhaus, in the second primary, others saying it will be two-to-one, but all depends upon the

PROGRAM IN CHARGE OF YOUNG PEOPLE

An interesting and inspiring program was rendered by the Young People of the Methodist church, Sunday evening at the regular hour of worship with Mrs. Anthony Trantham, president of the young people's department, presiding.

The subject for the evening was "Love" and the young people on the program discussed love from several different angles. George Mangum of the Brevard Institute led the opening prayer. Mrs. Carl McCrary rendered a special vocal number with Mrs. Leon English at the pipe organ and Miss Rachel Orr made several introductory remarks. Mark Orr read a collection of scripture on love which was followed by the direct, sincere and well planned sermonette delivered by Leon English on the "Supremacy of Love." Miss Winifred Nicholson read a poem, "The Winning Way" and inspiring short talks were made by Miss Edna Mae Saltz and Mrs. Glen Lookabill.

Contest Between Galloway and Henry To Be Settled in the Primary Saturday

Aside from the great interest being taken by the Democrats of Transylvania county in the run-off primary Saturday between Ehringhaus and Fountain for Governor, and Reynolds and Morrison for the United States Senate, there is a contest of local interest to be settled in the second primary.

M. W. Galloway and W. M. Henry are in the second race for nomination on the county Democratic ticket for the legislature. In the June primary Messrs. Galloway, Henry, T. C. Henderson and S. P. Verner were in the running. While Mr. Henry led the field of four contestants, he did not, however, receive any thing like a majority vote, and Mr. Galloway, being second high man, was urged by

Jos. S. Silverstein is president, and Jerry Jerome is secretary-treasurer of the Brevard Building and Loan association.

Special Trains and Extra Pullmans Bring Campers

Transylvania county, organized pure water contribute largely to better health and increased strength for all the young men and women who are so fortunate as to be able to attend these camps.

This county's best business season of the year is enjoyed while the camps are in operation, and all people of this section appreciate this fact. Brevard has made an enviable reputation for itself in "treating the campers right." That is the slogan of the community, and very few few charges have ever been lodged against any business house in Brevard for "over-charging" or "sticking" the campers. On the other hand, it is known, the citizens of Brevard go out of their way to meet campers more than half way, to make them feel at home here, and to give them the most courteous and considerable treatment. It is this spirit that has had much to do in making Transylvania county the organized camp center of the Southeast.

As a result of the coming of the campers, many tourists are arriving. Fathers and mothers of the young men and young women in camp come to Brevard and live in the hotels and boarding houses, taking their vacations at the same time the camp season is on, and being thus enabled to be near their boys and girls.

Camp Sapphire, pioneer summer camp of this organized camp center of the Southeast, opens today with its regular summer term, after having been most active during the pre-season month. A good enrollment is reported for Sapphire, with late applications being received by wire. Practically all of the old men are back this year as members of the staff, and nearly all the boys who were here last year are coming back for this season.

Much work has been done in the grounds and buildings since last year's season closed, and all regular activities of camp life will be in full swing by Saturday.

TRANSYLVANIA

Camp Transylvania opened Wednesday, with all old staff members back in the work, and with announcement that an unusually gratifying number of campers have enrolled for the season.

PRE-SEASON GROUP AT CAMP SAPPHIRE

Believed New Feature Added That Is To Become Permanent Arrangement.

Another new feature of camp life in Brevard was inaugurated two weeks ago when Mrs. Bernard Fetzer and Mrs. Joe Hill, of Concord, brought a group of twenty young women to Camp Sapphire for a fortnight preceding Sapphire's regular opening. The campers left Wednesday for their homes, and were reluctant to leave, declaring they would not go were it not for the fact that the regular camp term of Sapphire was scheduled to open next day. During the first two weeks in June the Girl Scouts were encamped at Sapphire, and these were followed by the party of young women now leaving.

"You will make this a regular affair in the future, will you not? Mrs. Bernard Fetzer was asked.

"There is no escape from it," she replied. The young women campers, most of whom came from Concord, have had such an enjoyable two weeks that they are already planning for next year, declaring, however, that they are coming on the first of June and remain a full month before the boys come in on July first for the regular Sapphire season.

Councilors with the campers were Miss Minnie Sue Flynn, Hendersonville; Miss Margaret Ritchie, Concord; Miss Carrie Morris Kirkpatrick, Charlotte, and Miss Margaret Hartsell, Concord.

Robert R. Reynolds, Mr. Morrison's opponent, had a long lead over Senator Morrison in Transylvania county in the June primary, and Morrison followers are making strong efforts to reduce that majority in the final contest this coming Saturday.

SAYS BONUS ARMY IS ON JOB UNTIL BOYS WIN THEIR VICTORY

J. L. Albert Back From Three Week's Encampment With The Army

NEWSPAPERS DO NOT GIVE THE FACTS HE SAYS

Predicts Army of 60,000 Within Next Few Weeks—Tells Of Aid to Army

J. L. Albert has returned to Brevard, after spending three weeks with the Bonus Expeditionary Force, and talks interestingly of the efforts being made by the former soldiers to obtain legislation that will make the monies represented by the certificates, due in 1945, available now. The Brevard man says that many reports in the daily papers, sent out from Washington by the A. P. and U. P., are ridiculous in the extreme, and entirely misrepresent the true conditions. He cites an instance of this in the statement a few days ago that there was less than three hundred dollars in the mess fund. On that very day, Mr. Albert says, there was almost one thousand dollars in the fund, and huge quantities of food that had been sent to the men.

"They are there to stay until something is done about the matter, and the crowd will grow in number each day," Mr. Albert declared. He predicts that at least 60,000 will be in the camp within the next 30 days.

Mr. Albert told of the day when the government cut off free medical treatment for the men in the bonus army, and how Gallagher's Hospital, a huge private institution, threw open its doors to the men for free medical treatment and hospital service to those needing it. Mr. Albert praised Father Coughlin, a Catholic priest, who not only gave of his time, but made a donation of $5,000 to the boys. Other thousands of dollars have been donated, much of it by Washington people, while a goodly sum was received from tourists passing through Washington. Mr. Albert said that all Washington people, the tourists and many members of Congress urged the boys to hold out and hang on until they realized their aims.

North Carolina produce men have done lots for the boys, according to Mr. Albert. One produce dealer gave

All shacks have been re-screened, and improvements made on the waterfront are most noticeable.
