"Watson had been a member of Jack he didn't weigh over 120 pounds and in height measured but five feet six inches, he would fight at the drop of a hat the biggest man that ever breathed. I all the pioneers of Texas knew .him well. The little chap didn't provoke difficulties, but I verily believe he enjoyed fighting for its ewn sake, and odds didn't figure with him once he concluded to go into a melee. His long suit was shooting, and a deadlier shot never fingered a revolver.

"I shall never forget the first time that Jack Watson and I met, for the ocratic convention. circumstances were of the sort that das-w burns itself upon a man's memory. I was riding into a mining camp in Ne. vada county and stopped at a watering trough to let my beast drink. About Buncombe county, subject to the acthe same time a stranger of very di- tion of the Democratic convention. munitive stature rode up, and while our animals refreshed themselves we engaged in some casual conversation. The stranger was Watson. Before we date for the office of Clerk of the Crimexchanged half a dozen sentences our inal Court for Buncombe county, sub-attention was directed by a great noise ject to the action of the Democratic and looking around we saw at least 200 men coming our way with a prisoner. 5-2-tf-d&w The prisoner was a remarkably finelooking man, but his captors had stripped him to the waist, and the evident intention was to flog him.

Before I hardly realized what was convention. happening, Watson spoke up: Dare you go in with me and stop these men? It semed bravado, but there was a ring in the small one's voice that sounded like business, and I, being young and footish, answered. 'I dare.'

We runned after the mob at racing rpeed, and when I got close enough to the leaders I yelled at the top of my lungs, 'Hold on boys; you've got the wrong man!' This was an inspiration, for I really knew nothing of the case, butl hated to see such a magnificent looking fellow undergo the humiliation of a public beating. Hut my cry caused a halt, and with Watson beside me I repeated that they had the wrong man, and still using my highest notes called for the appointment of a committee. It is curious how easily a mob is sometimes swayed. In less than 10 minutes this one, previously so impassioned, had calmed down and was listening quietly to the investigations of the committee, of which I had been made chairman. It seems that the prisoner was, as I apprehended, a respectable and worthy man, and he had letters upon him that vouched for his integrity. He had been accused of stealing $200 in gold by a miner, but we not only established his innocence. but started an examination that led to the discovery of the real thief.

"After this I saw Jack no more till one day in Ban Francisco, when I
