Changes.....

In prices on a number of things have been made lately, usually where the goods are sold down to small lots, making the room of more consequence than any profit on the remainder. In cases of this kind we pay no attention to cost, but often make our prices about half of first cost.

Here and there, in spite of careful buying, we find a slow moving item, disappointing—an item not in good request. As soon as we find time to consider such, WE MAKE THEM SELL. At some price almost anything moves rapidly, so we try honestly to determine what price is needed to close out such goods fast and the price our judgment dictates at once becomes the new figure.
