MASONIC.

Rules of Conduct in the Lodgeroom Trestleboard Designs.

The brethren are entitled to certain marks of etiquette in M.e lodgeroom. and so is the candidate. The degrees all demand the strictest courtesy, politeness and dignity in the treatment of those who are being conducted through the ceremonies. Rudeness is wholly incompatible with the spirit of the work. Rough manners or ruffianism in the treatment of any candidate should be condemned in the strongest terms and entirely banished from the lodgeroom. "Let all things be done decently and in order." - Masonic Standard.

One of the lessons of Masonry is charity-not the charity of almsgiving, but the charity which is long suffering and kind, that thinketh no evil.

The Irish Masons are actively engaged in raising a twentleth century fund for the schools for Masonic orphans in Dublin.

There are only 371 members of the eighteenth degree, Scottish Rite, in all Ireland. A candidate must have been a Master Mason of seven years' standing, a Royal Arch Mason and a Templar.

Freemasonry in Cuba has made a gain in membership during the past year of 658.

The master who "refers" the candidates to the monitor should give them a monitor to refer to, says The Masonic Standard.

There is an English Masonic lodge in Patagonia, South America.

Nearly all the principal Masonic lodges of England are represented at the front in the war in South Africa. Lord Roberts is an old and active Irish Freemason and has held the rank of past warden in the grand lodge of England. Lord Kitchener, who is also an active Freemason, represents the grand lodge of Ireland at the grand lodge of England.

The Knights Templar degree in India is considered a side degree. Any master Mason may receive it for 3 guineas.

There is a movement on foot to organize a board of relief of the seven Eastern Star chapters in San Francisco similar to the Masonic board of relief.

Colorado Working to Secure a Home-Triple Link Notes.

The Colorado membership is earnestly engaged in discussing the question of raising funds for the construction of a home. Circulars have been sent to each lodge in the state, and Grand Secretary J. M. Norman is gathering information from other jurisdictions with a view of adopting the best plans and methods.

Mamerica lodge of Boston has tendered its services as personal escort to Grand Sire Pinkerton on the occasion of the parade of the sovereign grand lodge at Richmond next September, and the offer has been accepted by the grand sire.

The Pennsylvania Rebekahs are waking up, and the results are apparent in an increase all over the state.

ed 16 new lodges during the term of the present president, Mrs. Carpenter. In a lodge the same as in any co-operative association all are under obligations to equally share the burdens and responsibilities as well as the profits. Life's success depends on the faithful discharge of little present duties. No act of mercy or deed of love can be performed tomorrow or done in the aggregate.

The order is not large enough to relieve all the distress in the world. Do all you can without weakening or bankrupting your lodge, and then if further aid is necessary it will not reflect upon your lodge if it comes from other sources.

In the absence of the deputy and the absence of any one delegated by the deputy any past grand may install, and in the absence of past grands the noble grand may install the officers. Rev. C. W. Whorrall of Lincoln has kindly offered his services as a teacher of elocution for the children of the Illinois Home school, and a class has recently been organized.

The order has now passed its eightyfirst birthday.

The Odd Fellows' Relief association of Cauada reports a high condition of prosperity.
