

REV. E. L. BAIN TO LEAVE ASHEVILLE

Appointed Pastor of Hendersonville Church.

SUCCEEDS REV. D. V. PRICE, WHO IS TOO ILL TO CONTINUE IN THE WORK.

The many Asheville friends of Rev. Edwin L. Bain will regret to learn that after a residence of five years in this city he is soon to remove to another field of work.

Some time ago the health of Rev. D. Vance Price, pastor of the Methodist church at Hendersonville, broke down and it has lately become apparent that he will not be able to resume his work there. When this became a certainty it devolved upon Rev. D. Atkins, D. D., presiding elder of the Asheville district, to fill the vacancy by appointment. This he has done by selecting Mr. Bain, news of the appointment being made known here yesterday.

Mr. Bain came to Asheville nearly five years ago, being assigned by the Western North Carolina conference to the pastorate of the North Asheville church. He was returned to this charge by each succeeding conference until the limit of Methodist pastorate, four years, was reached. Last summer, however, a few months before the close of his fourth year, Mr. Bain resigned this pastorate in order to accept the chair of Latin in the Asheville College for Young Women. This position he filled during the past term with ability and credit to himself and the institution.

The removal of Mr. Bain and his family will be sincerely regretted here. Mr. Bain is one of the strongest young ministers in the conference, and his friends confidently believe that his re-entry into the ministry makes it sure that he will in due time be called to fill the most important charges in the bounds of the conference. Mrs. Bain is well known in music circles here, and in these she will be missed, as well as in social circles.

Mr. Bain will begin his work as pastor of the Hendersonville church Sunday. Mrs. Bain and their two children expect to leave tomorrow for her old home at Independence, Va. After a stay of several weeks there they will join Mr. Bain in their new home. The family will be followed to Hendersonville by the best wishes of all their Asheville friends.

SHIPWRECKED WHILE GOING TO CAPE NOME

H. C. Hunt has received a letter from his son, Ed. H. Hunt, who is in Alaska, recounting an exciting shipwreck experience. The letter is from St. Michael's, and is dated July 7. The passengers and crew of the ship barely escaped with their lives. Mr. Hunt wrote briefly and he was still very seasick.

The party was en route to Cape Nome at the time of the wreck. The ship was wrecked on the coast of Navak Island, which the men succeeded in reaching with no lives lost. This island is about 300 miles from St. Michael's. There some of the men, including Mr. Hunt, secured a vessel of nine tons capacity and started for Cape Nome, but only got to St. Michael's. There they were not allowed to land on account of the smallpox quarantine. Mr. Hunt learned from the officer who came on board that no boats had been allowed to land there for the same reason for some time.

When the ship went down it carried with it 40,000 pounds of freight belonging to Mr. Hunt and his partner. The goods consisted of foodstuff and a portable house, which was to be erected at Cape Nome. The party had been 60 days on the water when the wreck occurred. Mr. Hunt's letter indicated that he expected to proceed to the Cape as soon as possible.

LI HUNG CHANG CAUSED THE TROUBLE

"I see dot Li Hung Chang haf captured Pekin today, yet," said Ikey Klopstein to Jakey Einstein as he paused in front of the latter's shop on North Main yesterday afternoon.

Now to an outsider there would appear to be nothing in this remark calculated to offend Mr. Einstein. But circumstances alter cases. For the two conduct rival amusements on opposite sides of North Main, and their relations are therefore more or less strained. And also Mr. Einstein's present stand was once occupied by a Chinese laundry. He is sensitive on the point, and to be called a Chinaman is to him the deadly insult. Therefore he resented the apparently innocent remark of Mr. Klopstein and swore mighty oaths at him.

"If you was calling me a Chinaman," cried he, "I vill teach you your own peesnit to monkey mit."

"If you vill come out here," said Mr. Klopstein, "somebody vill be hurt, alretty."

"I vill vent out, and smash your swindling face," howled the insulted Jacob, and the two proceeded to mix and scrap, awfully.

There were no wounds to speak of when the belligerents appeared in police court this morning. Judge Brown asked each of them to contribute $2 to the city treasury.

William A. Ward, who was hurt yesterday by a fall from a derrick on Colgate street, although sore and shaken, is resting well today at his home on French broad avenue. Newton Welsh, who was also hurt, was taken to the Asylum hospital, where he seems to be doing nicely.

Melvin Berry of 20 Poplar street brought to The Citizen office a corn stalk 15 feet high, the smallest by a foot or two of several other stalks in the same hill. All the corn on the land, which belongs to Mrs. A. A. Featherston, is so much like this sample that on two acres the yield will be 100 bushels to the acre.

A number of the citizens of Ramoth are engaged in the commendable rivalry of seeding who can raise the greatest amount of wheat to the acre. Recently Tom Wagoner threshed for T. M. Kimberly 204 bushels of wheat, which was raised on six acres. This is 34 bushels to the acre and beats Captain Weaver's record, which was 27 bushels.

A special from Terre Haute, Ind., says that Robert Carter of Asheville, of the Bloomington baseball team, has brought suit against the Terre Haute Street Railway company for $10,000 for personal injuries received a few weeks ago while riding to the ball park. The car was struck by a switch engine and Mr. Carter's feet were crushed. The accident was described in The Citizen shortly after it occurred.

The Citizen's Raleigh correspondence indicates that the Asheville Light Infantry has volunteered for service in China. Captain Nichols is absent from the city today, but some of the other officers said that the matter had never been formally voted on by the company, although there had been some discussion of the matter. They said that if Captain Nichols had written to the governor he had probably offered the services of only such members of the company as cared to go.

FELL TO HIS DEATH DOWN EMBANKMENT

FATAL ACCIDENT SHORT DISTANCE WEST OF CITY.

Late last evening the body of Edward Mills, who lives on Mills road, was found lying in the road which leads to Leicester, at the foot of a steep embankment, about a quarter of a mile beyond the railroad bridge, and about 400 yards west of the French Broad river. The place is known as the "Cane Brown Cut," and the side next the hill is an almost perpendicular bank about 30 feet high.

Ella Burgess, her brother, Bob Burgess, and John Ballew were with Mills just before his death, and they tell the following story:

Ella and Bob Burgess had had a row with their mother, and had crossed the river to keep from being arrested by the police. The Burgesses live near the city end of the bridge and Ballew boards with them. He and Mills accompanied Ella and Bob Burgess. Mills left them to cross the river for the purpose of looking after his horse, going in the direction of the embankment. A sound as of a body falling was heard, and on going to the cut Burgess and Ballew found that Mills had fallen. They aroused a number of the neighbors. Mills died in a short while after falling.

The body was brought to Noland Brothers' undertaking rooms, and Ella and Bob Burgess and John Ballew were arrested.

Coroner Sevier held an inquest today with the following jury: James Joyner, D. L. Reynolds, D. G. Noland, John Y. Jordan, Thomas R. Harrison and E. D. Reynolds. A number of witnesses were examined, including the suspected persons, and the jury decided that the death of the deceased was caused by his own negligence.

Mills was about 35 years old, and leaves a wife.
