Apples! Apples! Apples!

If we have no more frost a tremendous apple crop for Macon County looks like a certainty.

What can be done to market the crop profitably? Most of the trees have not been properly sprayed, cultivated, pruned and fertilized to produce first grade or even second grade fruit. When the great orchard sections have good crops it is not an easy task to sell perfect apples.

If Macon County had the necessary machinery, equipment and capital to manufacture and store, jelly, apple butter, marmalade, vinegar and evaporated apples, no doubt there will be enough apples produced in Macon County if profitably marketed to pay all the expenses of churches and schools in the county. Shall we let the crop waste? County Agent Arrendale is getting information on the best ways to solve the problem. WILL YOU CO-OPERATE?

Word was received here the first of this week that Mr. Henry Cunningham, an old Franklin boy who is now living at Durham, N. C., is seriously ill following a stroke of paralysis. Messrs. E. K. W. C., and Roy Cunningham and Mrs. W. T. Moore left for Durham to be at his bedside. Last reports indicated that his death was expected at any moment, but his many friends here are anxiously waiting in hope of receiving news that he will take a turn for the better, and recover his health.

That portion of Harrison Avenue between Church Street and Main Street is to be paved along with the other street work now being done. Workmen are now busy doing the excavating for the rock work, and it is expected that the paving will be pushed to completion without delay. This is a great improvement for that part of town, as it will afford a paved short cut between our two most important streets, and also will furnish an easy way of getting to the Methodist Church in bad weather.

Franklin was threatened with a water famine the first of this week, when the town pump was out of commission for three days. Fortunately, both tanks were full to the top, and the pump was put in running shape late Wednesday afternoon, and was running again before the water level reached the bottom of the large tank. The pump is now in first-class condition, all worn parts having been replaced by new ones, and for all practical purposes is as good as new.

CLUB NOTES

Conducted by the Womans' Club

Motto: For the Public Good.

Officers:

President—Mrs. W. B. McGuire, Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Wade Crawford, Treasurer—Mrs. Lester Conley, Secretary—Mrs. W. W. Sloan.

The Womans Club entertained at the home of Mrs. Tom Johnston, Friday afternoon, May 2nd, in honor of its President, Mrs. W. B. McGuire.

In anticipation of the event, there was a large membership present, and Mrs. Johnston as a most gracious and thoughtful hostess, made the occasion truly a delightful one. The home was lovely with its decorations of crab apple blossoms and as nearly as possible the color scheme of pink and white was fully carried out. After a short business meeting, Mrs. J. Q. Wallace presented with very appropriate remarks to Mrs. McGuire, a beautiful copy of Rheims Cathedral, from the Club, as a token of appreciation of her faithful service during past years. Mrs. Wallace's words were well chosen, when she emphasized Mrs. McGuire's loyalty and efficiency, and it may be added, that at times under discouraging circumstances, through her patience and tactfulness, she has held the little band of faithful workers together.

After the business meeting, the guests were invited to the dining room, where delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. Gas Leach and Mrs. Will Sloan were asked to serve the coffee and tea.

The members were disappointed at not having Miss Kelly give a talk at this time, but hope we can have this to look forward to in the fall.

The Club will disband for the summer, meeting again the first Friday in September, at the school house.

More Money From Farm.

Are you taking advantage of the opportunity afforded by the Federation cream routes? Doubtless you have often remarked that you were too far removed from the market to make it worth while to try to market cream or vegetables.

The Federation cream routes solve this problem. They bring a market to your door. The extra milk you may have can be turned into a cash item. You may have vegetables and other products which would not warrant your taking them to the market yourself but if proper use is made of the advantages offered by these cream routes you would be able to turn the surplus into spending money. These cream routes offer great possibilities. There is no doubt of the fact that they could add greatly to the income of every farm if they were used to best advantage.

A little cream, a few eggs and a few surplus vegetables will not make you rich but they will afford an additional income that always fits well into the program of the average farmer, his wife or the boys and girls.

Make the most of these cream routes.—Farmers Federation News.

(At this season of the year many farmers bring butter to town and can not sell it. If their cream could have been shipped to a creamery it would have brought them from 35 to 40 cents per pound for the butter fat it contained. The Macon County Farmers' Federation has a truck and could make some cream routes provided the farmers would get together and assure enough business to justify the undertaking.)

All-Year Farming.

Recently when passing through the great trucking section near Norfolk, Va., where early vegetables were being moved by the car load our companion remarked: "These farmers farm all the year; they never stop; just as soon as one crop is marketed they have another on the way."

The cooler climate of this mountain section will not permit some phases of trucking as practiced around Norfolk but the "all-year" farming idea can be more heavily stressed in the mountains. Far too many of our people farm about six months in the year. They have no year round income from their farms and as soon as the crop is over they go out on public works. They have no cows, no poultry and no vegetables to produce a regular and systematic income. We are making progress along these lines but we have a long road to travel before we can boast of having made the most of "all-year" farm opportunities.—Farmers Federation News.

(A few years ago corn and wheat were the principal crops of Macon county. Now we find red clover, soy beans, stock beets, snap beans, cabbage, and Irish potatoes are fast becoming important crops. Tomatoes and celery should soon be added to the list.)
