BUILDINGS READY FOR WINTER?

This is the season when the housewife gets the family's heavies ready for winter service. A patch here and there will fix some of them up; others must be replaced.

It's just as important to inspect your building to insure that they're properly protected against winter's storms.

First the Roofs

Use Carey's Roofing to replace those beyond repair. It's weather-proof, fire resisting, and guaranteed for fifteen years. Can be laid right over the old roof. Red and green rolls—108 square feet to the roll.

$3.50 Each

Noah's Pitch

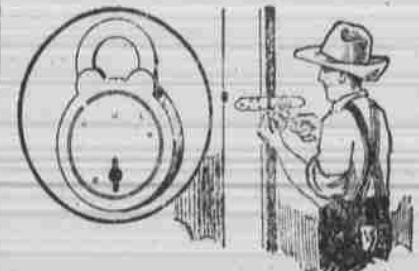

Exceptionally good for patching around leaky chimneys, in valleys, or leaks in metal and composition roofs. Can also be used to patch flat metal surfaces like the bottom of galvanized water tanks.

1-lb. Cans, 25c

Also the Siding

And surely you'll examine the siding window and door jambs, steps, window and door sills, porch post bases, and the numerous other places where a little paint or a slight repair now will save a big bill a year from now.

WE HAVE EVERYTHING YOU'LL NEED IN THE PAINT AND TOOL LINE

Replace That Glass Before Cold Weather Comes

Check up your house windows, storm windows, hot bed sash to see that all broken panes are replaced before cold weather comes. All standard sizes in single and double strength. We are prepared to cut any size you may need.

Putty Knives, 15c and 40c

Putty, 1 lb., 10c

Tools—Hinges—Locks

For repairs around the barn and other buildings—or for that new implement shed or hen house you are going to put up—you'll need a good hammer, saw, carpenter's wrecking bar, dependable locks and hinges, and paint.

Hammers, 25c to $1.50

Good General Purpose Saw, $1.50

Wrecking Bar, 25c
