Keeps Home Fires Burning

Radio has become almost a household requisite. Nothing has done more to promote the home-loving instinct than the ever growing popularity of this great pleasure-giving and educational invention.

From this one may fairly reason that wherever the installing of radio sets is on the increase the home-loving instinct is certainly not on the wane. And since the broadcast program is essentially a thing to be enjoyed by the family circle, it is to the family circle the radio will cater.

Seldom has the human demand for novel entertainment found so admirable a combination. As the call for more radio service grows, so also grows the attraction of the home. And as the attraction of the home becomes stronger, so the call for better broadcast programs becomes more insistent.

Everything tends to make the radio influence a wellspring of good. So excellent a caterer to all that is most desirable in promoting true human happiness certainly deserves the very best of the public to whom it ministers.

The Force of Habit

"Deacon White," asked Parson Jackson softly, "will you lead us in prayer?"

There was no answer. "Deacon White," this time a little louder, "will you lead?"

Still no response. Evidently the deacon was slumbering. Parson Jackson made a third appeal and raised his voice to a high pitch that succeeded in arousing the drowsy man. "Deacon White, will you lead?"

The deacon in bewilderment rubbed his heavy eyes and announced: "Lead yourself—I just dealt."
