Personal Mention

Mrs. S. T. Marrett of Highlands passed through Franklin last Friday for a visit to friends in Atlanta.

Mr. S. T. Marrett of Highlands was a visitor to Franklin last Friday.

Mr. Charlie Roane of Bryson City for eight years sheriff of Macon county, was here last week attending court and visiting his numerous friends.

Mr. Gene Johnson of Daytona Beach, who recently purchased the Redding farm on the Cullasaja, after spending some time in Macon county left Friday for his home in Florida. Mr. Johnson expects to return early next spring to take charge of certain development work that he will have done.

Last Friday Miss Cowhard, one of the teachers in the Franklin school received the sad news of the sudden death of her mother at her home in South Carolina. Miss Cowhard left immediately for her home. This news cast a gloom over the entire school and many expressions of sympathy were extended to Miss Cowhard.

Miss Elizabeth Kelly of Raleigh returned to her old home at Franklin for Thanksgiving and to be present at the 81st birthday of her mother on November 29th.

Rev. J. Q. Wallace was confined to his home with sickness a few days last week.

Mrs. Dot Ainsworth and Mrs. Griffin left last Saturday for their homes at Miami.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Kingsbury will be delighted to learn that they have purchased 15 acres at the foot of Wayah Bald near the home of Miss Annie Slagle and will build a summer camp. Mr. Kingsbury who was a business visitor to Franklin Saturday, stated that the camp will be ready for occupancy next summer.

Last Friday night Miss Margaret Rogers took occasion to let the world know of her happiness. Power from the municipal dam was turned on for the first time Friday afternoon. When darkness arrived Miss Rogers turned on every light in Rogers hall and let them remain on well into the night. This popular hotel located on one of Franklin's highest hills presented a beautiful appearance from all sections of town.

Mrs. Laura Waldrop is making an extended visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Jones on Bonny Crest.

Last week Rev. Shilow Wiley, Negro Baptist preacher at Franklin, fell off a hay stack and landed on his wagon. The fall resulted in the fracture of two ribs and serious injury to his spinal column. At last reports Rev. Wiley was in a precarious condition.

When the meeting of the fire wardens adjourned last Saturday, one of the officials saw smoke up the river in the vicinity of Riverside. Deputy Zeb Shope immediately proceeded to the scene and found a fire on the Dan McClure ridge. The fire was gotten under control after burning over about five acres. This is the first instance where the fire organization has done good work in putting out forest fires. It is not known how this fire started.

Mrs. C. E. Cooper of Etowah, Tenn. and Mr. N. H. Stiles of Habers City, Fla., who came to Franklin to attend the funeral of their mother, Mrs. O. T. Stiles, returned this week to their respective homes. Mrs. William Parker of Elizabeth City, another daughter, will remain with her father until after the holidays.

Congressman Zebulon Weaver will leave in a day or two for Washington to be present when congress convenes on the first Monday in December.

Franklin has not had a fire in more than a year, according to Mr. Joe Ashear, volunteer fire chief. This is a remarkable record and one of which Franklin should feel proud. There has been no occasion to test the new fire truck at a real fire. However, Ashear keeps the truck in good condition and is always ready to meet any emergency.

Rev. R. A. Truitt will preach on Sunday at the following places: Salem at 10 a. m., Bethel at 11:30 a. m., Clark's Chapel at 3 p. m., River View at 7 p. m.
