

ELECTRIC RANGE INTERESTS MANY

Meal Cooked and Served Wednesday Afternoon—Women of Franklin Intensely Interested.

A demonstration of cooking by electricity, on a Westinghouse automatic electric range, that started and stopped itself, was given Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. Clara Berry of Atlanta, at the Nantahala Electric company's store to a number of housewives who expressed themselves delighted and amazed at the uniform excellence of a complete meal prepared on this stove.

At this demonstration, Mrs. Berry prepared a sample meal—meats breads and vegetables—and cooking them all on the automatic Westinghouse, never once bothering to watch the progress of any of them, but allowing the stove to do all the work. She prepares the meat, bread, and vegetables, explaining her method for each, and places them in the oven of the stove. Then she sets the alarm clock on top of the stove for a certain time, places the thermostat, on the front door of the oven, at the desired temperature to cook the food, and proceeds to forget all about the meal.

Later, after she had explained in detail how this remarkable electric range operates, completely emancipating housewives from the drudgery of watching and worrying about cooking food, Mrs. Berry opened the door of the oven and brought out the meal, completely cooked and piping hot—ready to serve.

Owing to the scientific construction of the oven that retains all its heat, allowing none to escape, the food would have remained hot indefinitely. Mrs. Berry said, but never burning. She said that on this new stove it was possible to prepare a meal many hours in advance, set the starting and stopping devices, and then go away for the afternoon, and upon returning, find the meal all cooked and ready to serve.

This is accomplished by the alarm clock that controls the switches turning on the electricity. The thermostat, on the door of the oven, automatically throws the switches off when the desired temperature is reached, thereby preventing scorching or burning. A chart of the temperature for cooking all manner of food is provided with each range in stalled.

Wednesday was the third day that Mrs. Berry had been in Franklin demonstrating the use of the electric range. The housewives of Franklin attended each demonstration in large numbers and many of them expressed their determination to have hubby put his signature on an oblong slip of paper.

At this demonstration the Franklin Furniture company had on display and in operation a frigidaire. Many favorable comments were heard on this phase of the demonstration. It is the intention of the Franklin Furniture company to make a special drive on the sale of frigidaire.

350,000 Fish For Macon

A fish car reached Franklin Wednesday bringing 250,000 fry for the waters of Macon county. Approximately 100,000 were unloaded at other stations. It is also understood that the same car contained thousands of fish for stations in Georgia along the T. F. Railway. Fifteen or twenty people met the train at Franklin and carried away cans of fry intended for all corners of the county excepting Highlands. Fish for this town were unloaded at Dillard, Ga.

About 25,000 rock bass, big mouth bass and bream were emptied into the waters of Lake Emory and tributary streams. Five thousand brook trout were also turned loose in the small streams near Franklin.

Mr. Frank Curtis and other citizens of Franklin were responsible for this shipment of fish for the waters near town. Other interested citizens of the county procured fry for their respective sections of the county. It is understood that the streams of the county will be restocked each year with hundreds of thousands of fish. If the seiners and dynamiters will cease operations Macon county will attract thousands of visitors each year who will come to a fisherman's paradise. This sport should be the means of attracting hundreds of investors to the county. As a result land values should increase. However, if the fish are seined from the streams there will be no inducements for the fisherman. Consequently, from the standpoint of dollars and cents alone each citizen of the county might well cooperate in seeing that the laws in regard to taking fish from the streams are strictly enforced.

CURTIS SELLS TO FLEMING

Through J. L. Sanders, real estate agent, Mr. R. B. Curtis has sold his farm on the Georgia road about four miles from town to Mr. Frank Fleming, superintendent of the Maxwell school farm. The farm in question contains 53 acres. The consideration was not announced. There seems to be no trouble in disposing of property on a concrete road. Leastwise not around here.

Cartoogechaye-Maxwell School News

At a meeting of the Cartoogechaye Parent-Teacher's association, held on April 9, the following new officers for the incoming year were elected: First vice-president, Mrs. Lawrence Setser.

Second vice-president, Mrs. Tom Slagle.
Secretary, Mrs. Carl Slagle.
Treasurer, Mrs. L. M. Crawford.

The association is closing a very successful year. A determined effort has been made to have an eight-months' school term with teachers enough to do efficient graded work. To make possible the employment of an extra teacher necessary to accomplish that aim, the P. T. A. has raised in various ways, almost two hundred dollars. It has also rendered some material aid to the domestic science department of the school.

J. E. Lancaster, superintendent of Maxwell home and school, left last Saturday for Asheville, where he is attending the spring meeting of the Presbytery. He was accompanied by his wife and sons, who are spending the week with his parents. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. E. Lancaster, at Hendersonville.

Miss Margaret Dowdle, who has been teacher of domestic science and the fourth grade in the Cartoogechaye school for the past session, will leave next week for her home in Demorest, Ga.

Miss Ethel Lancaster will leave on Wednesday for her home at Hendersonville, where she will teach English in the Junior high school until June when she expects to return to Maxwell home to be associated with her brother in the work there for the summer.

Domestic Science Exhibit, Picnic Supper and Literary Society Program at Cartoogechaye.

There will be a very interesting exhibit given by the domestic science department of the Cartoogechaye school at the school house on Saturday evening, April 17, at 6:30 o'clock. This will be followed by a picnic supper, and then at 8:30, the Woodrow Wilson Literary society of the school will present a very interesting program, emphasizing the beauties of the country and love of home. The public is very cordially invited to come.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our kind and loving father, A. L. Welch, who departed from this life April 2, 1926, age 59 years. He was laid to rest in the Burningtown cemetery, April 3. He was a very devoted Christian and he loved the Lord and His works. He enjoyed being in the service of the Lord. He loved his church and Sunday school. Oh, it is so sad for him to be gone never to return, but it is sweet to think of him being in heaven. We feel our loss is his eternal gain.

He leaves to mourn his departure a wife, 10 children, and a host of relatives and friends. May the Lord bless the mother and our brothers and sisters. May we all live as near the Lord as we can, so when we are called we can meet father, mother and many others that have gone on before, then we can all be together never to part again. The Lord's will must be done, not ours.

May the dear Lord bless all the kind neighbors and friends that showed so much love and kindness during our father's sickness and death. We will never forget them, the boys from Stiles, N. C. We want to thank them for father loved them so much, he praised them and all the many friends who were so good and kind in helping while he was sick. Father is gone but never to be forgotten, for he was a kind father, neighbor, and friend. He was a friend to all who knew him. He was always willing to help in the time of need. He craved to get able to help build a church at Burningtown, but the dear Lord called him away. I hope the good people will carry the work on, for he was anxious about it.

Father has crossed the silent river. He has reached the golden strand. Jesus gave him the crown forever. As he took him by the hand.

Won't that be a happy meeting over on the other side, when we'll be welcomed by his greeting where the faithful shall abide.

SAYS TO TELL FARMERS TO RAISE PLENTY OF CHICKENS

Daytona, Fla., April 9, 1926.

Dear Editor:
I am sending check to renew my subscription to The Press. Am sending $2.00. Start The Press to Cullasaja by the 21st, to my address. Still continue to send it here for three months.

My wife will be going home in a few days. I will remain here until June. I think most of Florida is going to the mountains this summer, so encourage the farmers and their wives to raise plenty of chickens and eggs anything that is good to eat, so they can have plenty of food.

Yours for success,
W. P. LANDRUM.

Protect Apple Crop By Spraying in Time

Raleigh, N. C.—Indications are that this will be one of the best seasons for heavy apple production in several years and growers are urged to spray the fruit thoroughly and at the right time to save this crop and produce a high quality of fruit.

C. H. Brannon, extension entomologist at State College, is spending his time this spring with the fruit growers of the state and finds that if the apple crop is protected by spraying this year, the growers should make money. Especially is it important to spray for control of the codling moth or apple worm. Last year, he states very few of the worms were killed by sprays. The moth emerged all during the year instead of at two definite periods and more worms entered winter quarters than usual. These worms will soon emerge as moths will lay eggs, producing worms which eat into the apples and will cause tremendous damage.

"The codling moth larvae or worms pass the winter in cocoons beneath the bark of apple trees, under trash and in cracks in the ground. The larvae transform to pupae just before blooming time. This stage lasts about one month when the moth emerges and begins to deposit eggs on the leaves. The young worms bore into the blossom end of the apple and eat to the core. They feed in the apple about one month and leave the fruit, crawling down the trunk to begin the life cycle all over again.

"To control the moth, growers must use arsenate of lead poison applied at the proper time. The powdered form is used and the poison is applied at the rate of 1½ pounds of arsenate to 50 gallons of water. Mix two pounds of lime with each pound of lead arsenate before adding the arsenate of lead to the spray. The most important time for the codling moth spray is when seven-eighths of the blossom petals have fallen. This is very important."
