Notice to H. S. Students

I want to say to those students of the high school who may want to do some school work during the summer:

First. To those who will want to make up the work in some subject taken on class and for some reason failed to make a pass, get help from as good teacher or helper as you can, and take a re-examination on this subject at the beginning of the fall term of school by the regular teacher in the high school. It does not matter who gives this coaching, as this unit for the subject must be granted by the school. If a licensed high school teacher can be secured, of course, so much the better; but this teacher cannot grant units for the Franklin high school.

If a subject has not been taken on class, a standard unit of work need not be attempted outside a summer school. The requirements of a standard high school unit are such that a private teacher cannot honestly do the work for less than it would cost to go to a summer school.

A. L. BRAMLETT.
