"The Fire Brigade" Is a Truly Great Production

A Great Love Story Told Against a Thrilling Fire Background.

In point of acting, direction and story, "The Fire Brigade" qualifies as one of the really great pictures. This great love story, staged against a thrilling fire background, comes to the Idle Hour theatre Friday and Saturday. It is a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture.

"The Fire Brigade" brings back to the screen the Charles Ray every one loves in a role that lifts him to new heights. Not only did Ray need such a part to establish him again in his rightful place, but the part needed Ray for its interpretation. The actor and the role seemed to be created for each other. Ray plays the part of Terry O'Neill, a young fireman, who finds himself tangled in a net of love, politics and duty, and the denouement comes in one of the most thrilling climaxes ever screened. May McAvoy is seen in the leading feminine role opposite Ray, and plays the part with a sincerity that adds immeasurably to her histrionic rank. This actress is growing in dramatic stature into a brilliant artist with each succeeding picture. An excellent performance is given by Holmes Herbert as James Corwin, and Tom O'Brien, remembered for his work in "The Big Parade," has another interesting character part. Eugenie Besserer as the mother of Ray contributes an excellent bit of emotional acting.

"The Climbers" Gives Irene Rich Splendid Emotional Vehicle

All the pomp and circumstances of an Old World Court are embodied in "The Climbers," the Warner Bros. production starring Irene Rich, which comes to the Idle Hour theatre next Wednesday for a run of two days.

During the reign of King Ferdinand VII, the Court of Spain became guilty of prodigal expenditure, clandestine love, reckless gaiety and dark intrigue. There it was that a pitiless social "climber" caused the banishment of the beautiful Duchess of Arrogan.

Irene Rich as the Duchess has an opportunity to portray one of the most colorful and romantic roles of her career. She merges from the character of a gentle-mannered woman of high degree to the tempestuous and fiery-spirited "hell-cat" of New Spain, a woman whose mind and heart are embittered for all men. Then into her life comes a dash-
