Whit states that the Great Half-Million Dollar Co-operative Sale sponsored by the business firms of Franklin took on the appearance of a huge success during the first week of the sale. Visitors from other counties and from other states have flocked to Franklin to buy their necessities at remarkably low prices. These visitors have brought stories of hundreds of others who plan to come to this sale before it ends on October 29th. Merchants and others have employed extra help to take care of the large volume of trade. Everybody is happy.

Those who have come to the sale have gone home with regular fish stories of what they have found at the sale and, consequently, have whetted the appetites of those who have not yet had the opportunity to come.
