A Quilting Party

On Friday, April 12, a group of ladies met at the beautiful suburban home of Mr. and Mrs. Lon Campbell for an old-fashioned quilting. When they arrived they found three quilts framed and ready to be daintily stitched.

All were busily engaged at the quilts when dinner was announced and they went to the pretty dining room to find the table loaded with good things to eat and all certainly did justice to that part of the program. After dinner the quilts were finished and the group gathered on the lawn for soem pictures to be taken.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, Aunt Sallie Cunningham, as guest of honor, Mr. and Mrs. Mock, Mrs. C. C. Cunningham, Mrs. J. F. Cunningham, Mrs. Geo. Slagle, Mrs. Bill Wilkes, Mrs. H. L. Anderson, Mrs. J. E. Calloway, Mrs. Henry Waldrop, Mrs. Wade Cunningham, Mrs. Jesse Ray, Mrs. Jesse Oliver, Mrs. C. M. Moore, Mrs. Lena Betts, Mrs. Mary Waldrop, Miss Janet Calloway, Miss Ola Waldrop.

After the pictures were taken and good-byes said all started for home regretting that the day was not longer and hoping some one would have another quilting soon.

HOME BURNED

The home of Charlie Grice at Dillard, Ga., was burned last Monday. Loss is estimated at $7,000.

Taking of Census Is A Huge Enterprise

History records no other instance in which the population has increased so rapidly as in the United States. The Director of the Bureau of Census, William M. Stewart said, in a statement discussing plans for the 1930 census.

Furthermore, said Director Stewart, there has been no other nation in which the increase in population has been accompanied by such improvement in the comfort and well-being of the people as has been the case in this country.

He pointed out that census enumerators were sworn to keep secret the facts given them about any particular family or business, and that all such data is confidential. Violation of this oath will bring heavy penalties, he said.

Some 3,000 years ago King David set out to number the people of Israel and Judah. It took 9 months and 20 days to make the count, and the returns showed 1,300,000 "valiant men that drew the sword."

At the beginning of our own national existence we took a census approximately equal in magnitude to that taken by King David. The United States marshals, to whom the task was assigned, were allowed 13 months for the enumeration, and returned a total population of a little less than 4,000,000. The census of population was established as a decennial event by the Constitution of the United States, and is the only current statistical inquiry which rests on such fundamental legal authority.

Prior to 1790, the date of the first census of the United States, little had been done in any country toward establishing a regular periodic census of population. Since that date, the nations of the world have been developing methods and machinery that make possible a speedy counting of the people and the accumulation at the same time of a vast amount of data regarding educational, social and economic conditions. The development of modern statistical methods has probably gone further in the United States than in any other country, and the Director of the Census is required in one month to enumerate 120,000,000 people and to obtain rather extensive information for about 6,250,000 farms, 14,000 mines and quarries, and more than 100,000 irrigation and drainage projects.

The population of continental United States is now increasing at the rate of approximately 1 person every 23 seconds. The total increase is made up of the annual excess of births over deaths, which amounts to 1,150,000, and the excess of immigration over emigration, which amounts to an additional 240,000 per year. By 1930 the population will be more than 30 times as great as it was in 1790, and nearly twice what it was in 1890, or only 40 years ago.
