

SURVEY IS MADE OF FARM YOUTH

Fifty-Two of Each 100 From 14 To 20 Not Enrolled In Schools

Raleigh, June 30.—Figures sent out by the Federal Board for vocational education show that of every 100 farm boys in North Carolina between the ages of 14 and 20, 52 are out of school and 48 are in school, according to Roy H. Thomas, state supervisor of vocational agriculture. The Federal Board for vocational education statistics show that the farm boys between the ages of 14 and 20 number 111,939 and that they comprise 14.7 per cent of the state's entire male population. Of this number 54,055 are attending school while 57,884 are out of school.

Of the 54,055 who are in school only one out of 11 is receiving training designed to prepare him for the 'business of farming and life on the farm.' This specific training for life on the farm is being given by departments of vocational agriculture in 454 high schools.

Survey Results

A survey of 1,000 farm boys in 33 counties of the state shows that the average North Carolina farm boy out of school between the ages of 14 and 21 is about 18 1-2 years of age and has an education midway between the seventh and eighth grades. Of these boys out of school, 64 per cent (nearly two-thirds) work on the farm as helpers, 28 per cent get a share of the crop, and eight per cent are part owners. The survey also reveals that of every 100 boys out of school on the farm now, 21 left school to help at home; 41 stopped on account of being dissatisfied with school; 31 left to make money; poor health and failure in school work caused six to leave, and only one of the 100 graduated from high school.

my friends all marvel at my wonderful recovery. "Pains and swelling started in my hand and extended into my left side, arm and lower limb. I couldn't walk a step or raise my hand to my head. My trouble was diagnosed as inflammatory rheumatism. My kidneys were disordered, my weight dropped to 97 pounds and I suffered with sick headaches and indigestion. Four bottles of this wonderful Sargon reconditioned my whole system and ended every one of my ailments! I'm up and about as good as anybody and have already regained 10 pounds of my lost weight!

"I took Sargon Pills right along with the liquid and the way they stimulated my liver and rid me of constipation without the least upsetting is perfectly remarkable."—Mrs. Lillie Garland Jarvis, Woodfin Station, Asheville.

and joined the M. E. church about 25 years ago, being a faithful member until death.

Miss Ramey leaves a mother, three brothers and three sisters: Mrs. Addie Daves of Bellingham, Wash.; Mrs. Lizzie Tetherow of Swain county; Mrs. Eva Foster of Hemp, Ga.; Will Ramey of Wichita Falls, Tex.; Joe Ramey of Prentiss; Neville Ramey, address unknown.

Interment was in Gillespie chapel cemetery. Funeral services were held by Rev. Chas. C. Conner, pastor.

USE FOR PORCH BOUQUET

Use golden rod blooms and other flowers with a strong scent as porch bouquets, but do not bring them into the house. Their odor, in a warm room, makes some persons feel ill but in the open air their beauty may be enjoyed. Never use any flowers with a heavy perfume for table decorations, as they may spoil the appetite of those about the table.

RICH WET LANDS MAY BE DRAINED

sical. We cannot enter extensively into a discussion of chemistry of soils, but will advise that the State agricultural colleges stand ready to aid in this matter and that the treatment most often needed for flats after drainage is lime.

The physical properties of land are sometimes wonderfully improved by getting rid of surplus water and letting in air and sunshine, with of course judicious cultivation. Water on land in winter does not seem to do much injury but if it is still there when warm weather sets in there results a "sourness" (be that what it may) that hinders productiveness even tho it dries out later. It is suspected that bacterial activity has much to do with this matter; but our problem is to get rid of the water if the land will then be worth the cost.
