Ferguson Expresses Views

Dear Editor:

In your issue of The Press of October 16 I noticed in Dr. Rogers' statement to the voters for Macon county that he agrees practically with my views concerning road maintenance as expressed the week before and also with a statement I made in a former letter to The Press in which I said that taxes should be paid according to earning capacity or ability to pay and not because of the fact that a citizen happens to own a house or piece of land on which very little income is derived. Now I want to sincerely thank the Dr. for his agreeing with my views and say that I am glad that he has so materially changed his views concerning road maintenance since he gave us the road law of six years ago, but the point I am trying to make is that I am not willing to be crowded off the Republican platform just yet, which provides that the Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners shall be Road Supervisor without extra pay. This would save the Tax Payers around $3,000.00 per year.

And, too, since I remember that Dr. Rogers crowded two other honorable gentlemen out at the Democratic Primary, one being the former representative and the other a young and promising attorney, I am forced to the conclusion that the Dr. thinks he can do the job just a bit better than any other, a bit of egotism, Eh! Anyway after the election is over and if a majority of the bonafide citizens of Macon county choose the Dr. for their servant I shall be pleased then, to loan him the idea which the Republicans have adopted in County Convention concerning road maintenance and also taxation, and along with it I shall give him good will and best wishes.

If I am elected I will oppose any further bond issues for Macon County. I will bring to bear upon the burdensome tax question the best thought and energy of which I am capable and will do my best to reduce taxes, which now rest with such heavy weight upon the real estate.

Very sincerely,
(Adv. It) JOHN C. FERGUSON.

HATS

For several years hats have come low over the eyes and ears, casting a mysterious shadow about milady's face. Now she is to have an open and frank appearance, with the hat worn well back on the head. In the case of the younger set, the hat will be little more than a skull cap, a shrinking of the popular beret, and will show a generous amount of hair all around. Many brims fold tightly back on the crown and the hat appears to be slipping back, off the head.

Double brims, each draping differently, are a feature of the new hats. The bonnet style, shirred in at the back of the neck, is another favorite.

Trimming is beginning to appear; bows, rosettes, feathers, and even flowers, usually under the brim. Instead of being plain utility articles of dress hats are leaping into the decorative class again. They are becoming gay, colorful and ornamental. Blue, red green and orange are favorite colors. Velvet is a leading material, with chenille, felt and fur for variety.

SCHOOL CLOTHES

Jumpers are coming back to the school girl's wardrobe. They enable her to look fresh with a new under blouse worn with her staple jumper dress. The Etop jacket or bolero may give her extra warmth and be worn over her jumper dress, with the ensemble effect and to cover the thin sleeves of her underblouse when on the street.

The beret or tam-like cap has become a school girl classic. It may be of knitted wool or of dressy velvet. The fall fabrics are soft. Light weight wool jersey, novelty weaves, a soft tweed and covert cloth wear well and are good looking. The belt is at the natural waist line and small capes ers in a baking dish. Pour over them a syrup made of one cup brown sugar, cup of hot water, tablespoon of lemon juice or vinegar, teaspoon each of cinnamon and of salt. Add butter generously and bake until the potatoes are clear and somewhat gummy. A few minutes before taking from the oven, top with marshmallows and brown them in the oven. If the potatoes seem to dry out too much while baking, keep them covered to hold the steam in, or add more syrup.

CLEANING SILVER

Silver manufacturers have long been trying to make a silver which will not tarnish, but they have not yet been successful in putting such a metal on the market. There are many processes of cleaning silver. Most commercial cleaners are made of whiting, which may be bought inexpensively by the pound, and benzine, gasoline or naphtha. The liquid is very volatile and will soon evaporate, leaving the paste dry. If it does this, the housewife may add a little more. For this reason, it is wise to buy only small quantities of silver polish at one time.

One can hastily make her own silver polish by making a paste of whiting and gasoline or denatured alcohol. Rub the silver with this paste. To make a silver polishing cloth, make a thin paste of whiting and gasoline; spread this on a square of felt and let it dry. When well dry, iron it with a very hot iron, on both sides.

An easy way to clean silver is to put into an aluminum pan a tablespoon each of salt and baking soda. Bring this to the boiling point and put the silver in the pan and boil it. Remove the silver and wash it in clear water. Do not use this process for oxidized silver, as it will remove

SWEET POTATOES

Baking is one of the best methods of preparing sweet potatoes since some of their flavor and food value is lost when they are boiled or steamed. Mashed sweet potatoes is a delicacy we rarely serve. Boil them with the peelings on until tender; then peel; mash; season with butter, salt and cream; and beat until light and smooth.

To fry sweet potatoes, roll sliced cooked potatoes in flour and brown them carefully in a small amount of fat.

For candied sweet potatoes, partially cook half a dozen sweet potatoes, peel and slice them, and put them in lay-

OVERCOMING PERSPIRATION

To perspire is a healthy activity and should be encouraged within limits. Each day one should do enough exercise to work up a sweat, and then he should take a bath. But one does not want to ruin a good dress by overactive sweat glands, nor does one wish to be offensive by feet which perspire too freely. To reduce the perspiration of offending parts, wash them well with warm water and soap and then rinse them with cold water, perhaps cold salt water. Follow this with an astringent lotion which will help close the sweat glands. The following lotion will serve: Three ounces of alcohol and two drams of tannic acid. Apply this night and morning. Before you dress rub in lightly a talcum powder in which boracic acid is an ingredient.
