OLD MAN WINTER (By Cecil Gibson)

Old man winter is coming along, Singing a merry frosty song He will bite our nose,

And freeze our toes, He will blow up a snow, And then on he will go Singing his song to me and you, Oo-oo-wo-oo, wo-wo.

He will blow and blow, It will snow and snow. Old man Winter will soon be here, Cold weather you need not fear. And the wind will blow. But we will cosy be.

Disaster Relief and Service to War Veterans Make Heavy Demands—First Aid on Highways New Plan.

Demands upon the public services that the American Red Cross is organized to give are increasingly heavy, and will continue to be so in the future, John Barton Payne, chairman,

The two major services of the society-service to war veterans and their dependents, and relief in disasters-show each year a greater num-Cross.

Pension legislation passed recently for World War Veterans, and increased ailotments to all Spanish-American War Veterans, have given to Chapters and the national society many thousands of additional cases to handle. Judge Payne said.

In the past year help was given in 108 disasters. Ninety of these were in the United Statcs, twelve in foreign possessions and six were in foreign countries.

Health activities of the Red Cross also are being extended, especially in the rural communities where all health authorities agree the greatest need exists. Red Cross, with 794 nurses in its employ, is the greatest employer of public health nurses in rural areas in the United States.

In its campaign against accidental deaths, begun twenty years ago with its life saving and first aid programs, the Red Cross now has adopted an additional program-that of combating the huge toll of life from automobile accidents on the highways.

Expenditures of the Red Cross in the past year were $4.254,796.34, of which $1,208,151.09 was spent in disaster relief, the chairman pointed out.

"The Red Cross depends upon the public for its support, through their memberships enrolled once each year in the period from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day," Judge Payne said.

Association

Leadership and success, in a gen eral way, are synonymous. They are both founded upon simple codes of thought and action, upon the realization that he who wine the laurels must be a doer, not a waiter, that application of energy, not time or luck, is what counts most. A rabbit's foot is a poor substitute for horse sense.

Both success John G. Lonsdale and leadership, if they be of the highest quality, are the result of service to humanity. Service has been aptly described as "the supreme commitment of life." Analyze the lives and times of all great leaders of history and you will find that those whose names are enshrined in the hearts of their countrymen are those who sought to render a needed service to the populace.

Leadership, like success, need not, however, he international or national to achieve great results. There is room for each of us to be a leader in his community, in his work, in his church, and in various organizations.

One of the indispensable qualities of leadership is the ability to persist steadfastly in the face of discouragements. If George Washington had not possessed the quality of persistence. he and his soldiers would never have survived the hunger and privations which were theirs at Valley Forge.

We have too many young men and roung women these days saying a job cannot be done. Too many spend their time explaining why a thing can't be done, instead of saying, with firm resolve, that it can be done, and then going out and doing it. Anything that ought to be done is capable of being done. And anything worth doing at all is worth doing well. The fellow who handles a little job in a big way is always on the road to

Motor Injuries Treated By Red Cross First Aid

In line with its work for the preservation of life and prevention of accidental death, the American Red Cross has adopted a new program of emergency first aid stations on the highways of the nation, where victims of automobile injuries will be helped. In the last year 31,000 persons were killed as the result of automobile accidents and more than 1,000,000 were injured. As its contribution to the nation wide safety campaigns of other organizations, the Red Cross will aid through the emergency stations. A number already are in operation by Chapters on such important traffic arteries as the Westchester County, N. Y., park system, the Valley Forge and Gettysburg highways in Pennsylvania and the White Horse Pike in New Jersey, connecting with Atlantic City.

Saving Mothers and Babies Is Important Red Cross Task

Saving mothers' lives and better babies were important features during the past year of the Public Health Nursing Service of the American Red Cross. About four-fifths of the 794 nurses in the Red Cross work made more than 100,000 prenatal and maternity visits, in addition to assisting doctors in the examination of 1,309,409 school children.

Statistics reveal that the lives of two out of three American women who die in maternity cases could be saved if they received proper medical and ursing care. As more than 15,060 women die in the United States each year from various diseases of the maternal state, this means that more than 10,000 of these deaths are preventable.
