OUTLOOK GOOD FOR ACID PLANT

wattle, and other extracts, decoctions, and preparations of vegetable origin used for dyeing, coloring, staining, or tanning, not specially provided for, and combinations and mixtures of the foregoing articles in this paragraph, 15 per centum ad valorem: PROVIDED, That no article containing alcohol shall be classified for duty under this paragraph.

"Our request to the tariff commission at Washington for a sufficient revision upward to make further manufacture desirable and profitable has been acknowledged and it is confidently expected that a substantial increase of the tariff will be made, and when this is done the manufacturer can make money on our offerings.

"The freights on all merchandise have been against our progress for years but a recent conference with the railway authorities indicates a willingness to cooperate with us in the fullest and to make the freight on the crude product or the finished product, as will allow the manufacturer to make good money on his operation, and we might say here that we understand an arrangement might be made by a large operator to use and haul his own freight on the Tallulah Falls railway by a lease thereof for a term of years and if so done the operator might be able to move his crude or finished product without cost to himself since the railroad from other sources of revenue may be able to defray its own expense of operation.

"Our county officials will make any reasonable concession that they legally can as to tax exemption on invested capital in this line of manufacture in our county during a period of five to ten years or such time as a heavy investor might request when making his investment.

"Good sites for the plant are offered at reasonable prices on either leases or sales and some are so anxious they would give a location to such an industry gratis.

"Since the blight is taking from us this wealth of forest products and soon it will be a total loss, the large holders, the Forest Department, Hans Rees and company and others, are very anxious about their timbers and even if our plant, using two hundred cords per day, were now in operation, some of the chestnut would be lost before it could be manufactured. There is no available supply in the southeast like ours on which a plant can operate for fifteen to twenty-five years without paying a cent of freight on crude product, but all delivered by truck from the producer to the factory. When this program will show indisputably that a profit and what profit can and will be made in every cord of acid years' and whether they approve or do not approve of drinking.

By the way, what's become of Colonel Kirkpatrick and John Sprunt Hill?

Smith Draws Crowd
There was a large and enthusiastic crowd on hand to see and hear Al Smith in Raleigh Monday afternoon. He got a tremendous reception and everybody in the state seemed to be keenly interested in his presence and his speech.

But that's nothing. If a six-legged giraffe that was able to play a saxophone and kettle drum at the same time were to visit Raleigh he would attract an equally large crowd. But he'd receive very few votes for the presidency.

Really at Work
The legislature has been kidded a lot since they went into a trance in Raleigh two months ago, but the boys really deserve a lot of credit. They've been putting in some real work and some very constructive thought. As a general rule, a legislator never thinks of working and he never harbors a constructive thought, but this gang up in Raleigh seems to be an exception to the rule. It is actually beginning to look--believe it or not--as though our property taxes were going to be reduced.

And here's something I want to get across in that connection. If the boys actually should accomplish a miracle and bring about any material reduction in property taxes, every county ought to stage a big home-coming celebration for them when they start hitch-hiking from Raleigh on their way home. They ought to have banquets given in their honor and other distinctions showered upon them: Until now, they've been showered principally with bricks, and I believe the Bible says it is not well for man to live by bricks alone.

They have been laboring under tremendous difficulties. On all sides they have been confronted with lobbyists, who have been trying to convert them. We send missionaries to foreign countries for the purpose of converting the heathen. What we ought to do is to send the missionaries to our legislators and send the lobbyists to the heathen; particularly those heathen who are inclined to be cannibalistic in their tendencies.

Things Brightening
Things are beginning to look a lot brighter. The soldiers have got their bonus, the legislature is about to adjourn and it looks as though that bit of coal down in the cellar might last during the balance of this cool weather. Business is picking up. Sherwood Upchurch has shed his spats, Angus McLean tipped a bell-boy a dime the other day, Tobe Connor had a facial massage last week and Rivers Johnson has got rid of his dandruff.

No wonder the senate is all wet. They've got a Fountain for presiding officer and Rivers on the floor of the senate chamber.

Mr. Lunsford, reading clerk of the house, has improved a lot in his reading and can now enunciate such words as tropics, duties, baker, landslide, glycerin, etc., with perfect clarity. He ought to thank his stars that he isn't reading clerk for the general assembly in Moscow, where the presiding officer of the lower house is named Muftanchyvkisovitch.

Taking everything into consideration, the legislature has been behaving very nicely during the past week.

Here's knocking on wood.

wood and tan bark bought and manufactured at this plant, then, and not till then, will capital come to our relief. Idle plants without supplies in other states ask what faith we have personally in our proposition and to their request we have said that North Carolina capital, to the amount of one hundred thousand dollars and more, will be available when our plans have reached such a stage of practicability and show the profit desired and without risk of loss to the manufacturers and that then, and not until then, would we insist on the operation of this industry.

"As we see it, we cannot afford to lose our timbers if it can be avoided, and considering the reverses of late in our county, progress in this way would almost immediately restore normal times in Macon county by giving employment at good income to everyone and a good price to the owners.

"The popular listings with us is much appreciated and we hope those who have not listed will do so, and in this program we desire your cooperation and thoughtful suggestions and if we have erred in our plans we invite criticism.

Respectfully,
(Signed) "Wm. L. McCoy"

ROTARY CLUB ENJOYS FEAST

Ritter Lumber Company Officials Entertain Organization

Members of the Franklin Rotary club were the guests of A. W. Agee, office manager, Superintendent Bailey, E. B. McCullom and other executives of the Ritter Lumber company at a banquet at the company's clubhouse at Rainbow Springs Thursday night of last week.

After a most bountiful meal had been served, a get-acquainted program was conducted with G. L. Houk, principal of the Franklin high school introducing the visitors from Franklin.

The opinion was expressed by the Rev. J. A. Flanagan, president of the club, that the gathering would have the effect of bringing Rainbow Springs and Franklin folks into closer cooperation. Mr. Flanagan told of the purposes of Rotary, especially emphasizing the slogan "Service before Self," and "He Profits Most Who Serves Best."

of Macon county that there ever has been. The distance covered from Nantahala station to Aquone over the Nantahala ridge via Nantahala Gap, down Wayah creek to Kiser's store, the juncture of Highway 28, thence to Franklin, is approximately 32 miles.

Horse Cove Road
Another project contemplated for the immediate future is the Horse Cove road leading from Highlands into Horse Cove, a distance of about three miles. Since a large number of men are available in these communities, it is not expected to establish a camp as they will be able to remain at their homes over night.

Trail Development
Other minor projects of interest to the community is a trail now being constructed by the forest service on the line of the Appalachian trail connecting New England with Florida along the ridge of the Appalachian mountains. About five miles of this trail is now practically completed from Water Oak gap to the North Carolina-Georgia line.

All of the major projects mentioned above are under the general jurisdiction of the superintendent of road construction, J. G. Siler, Jr. Mr. Siler also has jurisdiction over similar work on the Pisgah National forest, with headquarters at Asheville.

The work on the Nantahala river road is in direct charge of Foreman J. F. Cunningham, whose home is in Franklin. The Clayton-Pine mountain road is under the jurisdiction of Road Foreman W. T. Wright of Highlands, and the Horse Cove road will be under the foremanship of Henry J. Baty, of Highlands.

Supervisor Wood stated that it is necessary to complete much of this road work by June 30 to take advantage of the appropriation by Congress for the purpose of re-
