WRONG TIME TO WATER POULTRY

Unscrupulous poultry dealers have been known to feed chickens sand and gravel to increase their weight, but here's a new one. An agent of the Federal Food and Drug Administration visited a wholesale poultry house and found that dressed chickens were being given hypodermic injections of water. A hose terminating in a hollow needle was used. Each bird received several ounces of water, which was gradually absorbed. This increased the weight and made the scrawny birds look plumper. Though Federal agents could not interfere, since the chickens were not shipped interstate, State officials later seized the profit-making hose and fined the dealer.
