

GHOST STORIES TO START SOON

dius and tame pastime, in comparison.

Help will be given you in solving the mysteries. In each story, the clues are plainly hinted—but even so, it requires considerable ingenuity and analytical skill to piece together the clues and make them fit. Sometimes you will feel sure that you have ALMOST guessed the riddle, but yet some unaccountable feature remains. When you read the correct solution in a succeeding issue of this paper, you will be amazed at its simplicity and will wonder why you did not guess it at once. But of course, we all are like that.

The twelve stories were written by Mr. David McFall, a western journalist, author, world traveler. Writer of a series of twelve Ghost Stories to appear in this paper.

North Carolina writer and lecturer. For many years he was a journalist in various American cities and for twenty years he followed the same profession in Great Britain, where at different times he was connected with leading papers in London and in the English, Welsh and Irish Provinces. And what country is more famous for its ghosts than England?

Mr. McFall is widely travelled, having visited many lands. Of the Ghost Stories he has written, four or five recount his own experiences in the course of a singularly varied and adventurous life. The remaining stories are founded on the actual experiences of others, and in these cases he was careful to ascertain the exact circumstances under which the ghosts appeared. In several cases it was only after protracted periods of close investigation on the spot that he was able to unravel the mystery.

Mr. McFall is the author of a number of lectures, articles and poems, and he has a delightful style. Two of his favorite lectures are "The Value of Poetry," written for poetry lovers only, and "Curious Footprints of English Civilization," based on observations made during a number of walking tours in England.

HOLD FASHION SHOW MONDAY

to take about 45 minutes. The very latest styles in coats, sports coats, suits, dresses, evening gowns and hats will be exhibited. Those taking part have exerted every effort to make the show a success, even going so far as to order special models, the very latest in design that could be purchased.

After the fashion show a rip-roaring comedy motion picture, "Caught Plastered," featuring Bert Wheeler, Robert Woolsey and Dorothy Lee, will be shown. This picture, according to advance notice, is one of the biggest comedy hits of the year.

Junior Order Home Is Expanding

LEXINGTON, Oct. 21.—Forty additional children will be admitted into the Lexington unit of Junior Order Orphan's homes during the next month as the result of a meeting of the national board of officers here recently. Their entry into the model institution will boost the number of children being trained for lives of useful citizenship to approximately 260.

With the decision to admit more children, the board also approved plans for remodeling the quarters formerly occupied by the superintendent in the administration building for use as an infirmary. The completion of this work will enable the order to prepare the portion of the South Carolina building now used for the sale, into a dormitory for use of the children.

To give the home more ample fire protection an eight-inch water line will be laid from the city's water line to the institution. The well supplying the needs of the home is sufficient, but the board felt that better protection should be afforded the buildings and children from fire.

Improvements will also be made to the home through the erection of an addition to the laundry and the acquisition of additional Holstein cows to the dairy herd.

MORE HIGHWAY WORK ASSURED

VAN CALLOWAY BURIED HERE

Funeral for Victim of Auto Accident Held Friday

Funeral services for Van Calloway, 21, who was killed Monday morning, Oct. 15, in an automobile accident near New York City, were held at the First Baptist church last Friday at 11 o'clock with the Rev. Eugene R. Eller, pastor, assisted by the Rev. J. A. Flanagan, of the Franklin Presbyterian church, conducting the services.

The deceased was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Calloway, who live about one and a half miles north of Franklin on the Bryson City road. Young Calloway had been a member of the Franklin Baptist Sunday school and had been awarded several prizes for loyalty, behavior and good attendance.

Pallbearers were: Tom McCollum, Phil McCollum, Alex Stewart, B. L. Sherrill, Rogers Sutton, Frank Henry, Howard Shook.

Honorary pallbearers were: George B. Patton, Fred Grant, Jim Hauser and Haughton Williams.

The deceased is survived by his parents, two brothers, Henderson Calloway, of Franklin; Wade Calloway, of Utah; three sisters, Mrs. Lou Dalton and the Misses Lily and Virginia Calloway, all of Franklin.

ROADHOUSE ON COWEE RAIDED

den in one of the outhouses. The bottle which had not been emptied was discovered by Deputy Sheriff George Mallonee buried under a floor joist.

The raid followed a fight at the lunch room last Friday night in which Chalmers Mashburn, son of Elbert Mashburn but who does not live with his father, alleged he was struck in the head with a flashlight in the hands of Fowler. Fowler admitted striking young Mashburn, but said he did so only after Mashburn had struck Mrs. Mashburn, his stepmother, with his fist, and was threatening him with a stick.

Fowler was given a preliminary hearing before Magistrate George Carpenter Saturday afternoon. He admitted possession of the whiskey and was bound over to superior court under $400 bond. He posted the bond Monday and was released from jail.

Live-at-Home Conference To Be Held at Cullowhee

Some of the leading citizens in this section of the state are expected to take part in the conference.

Here's Good Recipe For Molasses Cake

With a sorghum surplus on hand, many delightful ways of using Macon syrup may be found in a variety of cakes and confections. "Better Homes and Gardens" gives a recipe for molasses cake in its "This is So Good" column, suggesting that one always enjoys this cake twice; first in the fragrance from the kitchen then in the actual eating of the cake.

Here is the recipe:

Break an egg in a mixing bowl and beat well. Add one-half teaspoonful salt, one-half cupful melted shortening, one cupful molasses, one tablespoonful sugar. Stir well, then add two cupfuls flour. Stir well again, then add one cupful hot water in which one teaspoonful of soda has been dissolved. Bake 20 to 25 minutes in a moderate oven (350 degrees). Serve with whipped cream.

Baptist Notes

There will be regular services at the first Baptist church next Sunday. The Sunday school will meet at 9:45 a. m. All members are urged to come and help to bring the attendance up where it should be. We are not doing what we should to build up our Sunday school.

The morning worship service will be at 11 o'clock. The pastor will preach on "The Unchanging Christ."

The B. Y. P. U.'s will meet at 6:30 p. m. and the evening worship service will be at 7:30. Let each B. Y. P. U. member make an honest effort to remain for the evening worship service.

The Lord is blessing us in our work and will continue to bless us as we are willing to work, to trust in Him and believe His word. In a little more than six weeks we have received sixteen members, but there are many more whom we should reach for Christ's Kingdom. Sunday will be State Mission day. Let us all make an offering to this worthy work Sunday.

Several members of the B. A. U. enjoyed a social in the home of Mrs. Dave Blaine last Friday evening. After about two hours being spent in playing games, which were greatly enjoyed by all present, both old and young, the hostess served delicious punch and cookies which were enjoyed by all.

'Wanted: Leaders' To Be Mr. Ervin's Sermon Topic

The Rev. G. Clifton Ervin will preach next Sunday morning at the Methodist church on the subject, "Wanted: Leaders!" At 7:30 in the evening Mr. Ervin will have a poetry service. The subject will be "Edwin Markham—Dean of American Poets." Mr. Ervin will give memoriter readings of a number of Markham's best poems. Mr. James B. Porter, the organist, will play three numbers from one of the operas.

The Epworth League will meet at 6:30 p. m. All the young people of the church are cordially invited to attend.

Mr. Ervin will preach as usual at Carson's chapel at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

DEATH CLAIMS ALMOND WOMAN

Mrs. John Mallonee, 56, Dies in Asheville Hospital

Final rites for Mrs. John Mallonee, 56, of Almond, who died Saturday in an Asheville hospital, were held at the Snow Hill Methodist church at West's Mill, her former home, Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. The Rev. H. C. Freeman, pastor, had charge of the services.

Mrs. Mallonee underwent an operation last Friday from which she failed to rally. A blood transfusion was resorted to in an effort to save her life. She died several hours after the transfusion.

The deceased had been a member of the Mame Springs Methodist church for the past 35 years.

"Guess the Ghost"

A Novel Contest In Connection With A Series of Thrilling Ghost Stories

DAVID McFALL

Beginning October 29, we will publish an unusually interesting series of twelve Ghost stories by David McFall, a widely travelled journalist and author. These stories are all actual, authentic occurrences, and each "ghost" has a perfectly natural, logical explanation. You will get a great deal of pleasure merely from reading the stories, but in addition there will be a contest in which you can exercise your detective instincts, and win prizes.

CAN YOU EXPLAIN THE GHOSTS? $50 IN PRIZES

The true explanations of the "ghosts" will be published at the end of the contest, but in the meantime, you will have an opportunity to test your wits. Prizes will be offered for the best or most nearly correct explanations of what caused the "ghosts" to appear. A prize of $2.50 in cash will be given for the best explanation of each separate story, and all explanations will be eligible for the Grand Prize, given for the best set of explanations of all twelve stories. The First Grand Prize will be $10.00; second, $5.00; third, $3; and fourth, $2—all in cash.
