

Jackson Takes News Of Invasion Calmly

County Has War Bond Quota Of $264,000

Active Campaign Will Be Waged To Reach Goal

Women's Division Organized Throughout County To Sell More War Bonds.

Jackson county has a quota of $264,000 for the 5th War Loan drive, according to R. L. Ariall, permanent war finance chairman. An active campaign will be staged in the county and every effort will be made to maintain the perfect record of the county meeting the special war loan quotas.

Hugh E. Monteith has been named vice chairman and is in charge of the sale of E. bonds. Mrs. Dan K. Moore is chairman of the women's division.

The county quota includes $127,000 in E bonds and $137,000 in all other type bonds. Based on the 1940 census, this means an average investment of $13.60 for every man, woman and child in the county, Mr. Ariall said.

"It is going to be a big job to raise more than a quarter of a million dollars in the county," Mr. Ariall said. "The money is in the county several times, and I am confident that the people of Jackson will back the men who are participating in the invasion and all other theatres of war to the extent of investing heavily in bonds between June 12th and July 8th, the period of the drive."

Other workers appointed: R. U. Sutton, in charge of industrial plants in the county; Paul Kirk, in charge of merchants and sales people in the county. T. N. Massie, chairman of Sylva Township.

A meeting of the War Loan Committee for Jackson county will be held during the present week at which time a chairman for each township in the county will be appointed and quotas will be allocated to each township and announced in next week's paper.

Mr. Monteith said he hopes that every person in Jackson county who has any income at all will buy a bond of some denomination during the 5th War Loan Drive. Our slogan: "Every Person Buy A Bond." We must not fail our boys at this time.

Mrs. Dan K. Moore, chairman of the woman's division said, booths will be set up on the street and bonds will be sold from these booths.

The following women make up Mrs. Moore's committee in Jackson county:

- Barkers Creek, Mrs. Ralph Ward, Whittier; Canada, Mrs. Mitchell Shelton, Argura; Caney Fork, Mrs. Luther Stephens, Cowarts; Cashiers, Mrs. Joe Wright, Cashiers; Cullowhee, Mrs. David Brown; Dillsboro, Mrs. P. Gasoline Dealers And Distributors Pledge To Fight Black Market

The Gasoline Distributors and Service Station Owners and employees met on Friday evening, June second, at the Community House in Sylva. The distributors in this county made up the committee: J. C. Cannon, Shell Gasoline; J. C. Allison, Standard Oil; Roy Reed, Gulf; Leon Sutton, Puroil.

J. C. Cannon, chairman, called the meeting to order and introduced Edwin Allison, district OPA supervisor, who told the 31 men present what the OPA expected of them.

Mr. Allison stressed the fact that if the attendants would always ask for the ration book before delivering the gasoline, and then detach the coupon himself that this would help to make certain that the counterfeit coupons would not be used. Mr. Allison also brought out a point that has not been too clear that when coupons are given to others that is dealing in black market.

"Any gasoline that we use that was not issued for our own use is Black Market Gas," he said. After Mr. Allison's talk the meeting was open for discussion.

Another meeting will be held on Friday, June 9th, at the Jackson County Court House, all gasoline distributors, employees, service station owners and employees are urged to attend, and the public is invited.

Pet Officials On Visit To Plant; Seek More Milk

High Officials Of Milk Firm Make Annual Inspection Of Pet Plant In Waynesville.

Officials of the Pet Milk Company and Pet Dairy Products Company were well pleased with the program being carried on at the Waynesville plant, which they visited last week, for their annual inspection.

The officials were also impressed with the general increase in milk production in this area, and stressed to R. B. Davenport, general manager, that with an unlimited market, even larger quantities of milk could be handled.

The Waynesville plant is now handling five times as much milk as five years ago, and two and a half times more ice cream.

Those visiting the plant included John Latzer, president of Pet Milk Company, John Naylor, vice president, C. H. Reynolds, district manager and secretary-treasurer of Pet Dairy Products Company, L. A. Ballew, general manager and vice president of Pet Dairy Products Company, and R. O. Jenkins, assistant general manager of the Pet Dairy Products Company.

The dairy officials spent the night in Waynesville after making their inspection of the plant. They were well pleased with the plant and its operation.

Lions Given Story Of Life Rafts At 16th 100% Meeting

The Sylva Lions were shown how a 5-man life raft operates at their meeting last week, when two officials of The Dayton Rubber Manufacturing Company in Waynesville gave a demonstration with one of the rafts similar to the one used by Captain Eddie Rickenbacker and his six companions on the Pacific.

The demonstration was given by Ned Tucker, personnel director, and Clyde Fisher, production official.

The life raft was inflated, and the members were shown the various items which each raft is equipped. The bottom of the rafts are "sea" blue to keep sharks and other devastating fish from biting the rubber boats. The top part of the rafts are bright yellow, which can be easily seen from the air.

The meeting was the 16th consecutive meeting in which the club had 100 per cent attendance.

Officers will be elected for the coming year at the next meeting.

Plans for the six weeks study conference on resource education to be held at Western Carolina Teachers College July 5-July 15, are nearing completion, it was announced by W. E. Bird, director of the summer session for the Teachers College.

Realizing that the immense reservoirs of research findings which define and attack problems and opportunities of people in the Southern mountains need to be channeled into an action program of education, educators of this section have resolved to translate these great bodies of assembled facts into accessible forms adaptable for instructional purposes in our elementary schools and high schools. The purpose of the conference is to work out ways and means for insuring the continuous flow of research on Southern regional resources and problems into active educational processes and thus cause research findings to become vital forces in the thinking and action of the region.

Those initiating the idea and participating in the conferences and discussions that have eventuated into the work study conference are faculty members and administrators of Western Carolina Teachers' College, the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction, the University of North Carolina, the training staff of the Tennessee Valley Authority, and the following sixteen county and city superintendents: A. B. Bell, Clay county; Floyd W. Hendrix, Cherokee; Floyd Griffin, Graham; W. L. Lathan, Swain; Guy L. Houk, Macon; J. B. Jones, Transylvania; A. C. Moses, Jackson; M. H. Bowles, Haywood; T. C. Church Services Held Throughout County Tuesday

Scores Of Jackson Men Are In European Theatre Of War At This Time.

Jackson county took the news of the invasion of France by the Allied nations in a calm and prayerful manner Tuesday.

Citizens turned to the churches throughout the county for comfort, and to pray for the scores of Jackson men who are in the invasion area, as well as for all allied fighters.

The news was received calmly, although it caused the telephone operators to work faster as rush calls were made. Citizens gathered in groups in all public places and discussed the news, with radios going full tilt.

Special prayer services were held in the Sylva churches from noon until one o'clock, with many interested persons attending.

Church bells were rung in East Sylva about six o'clock, although none were rung in Sylva.

Cullowhee churches remained open, but no special services were held.

At Webster the church bells were rung, and special church services held Tuesday night.

At Dillsboro the bells were rung, and a special service was held at noon.

People in all walks of life took a keen interest in the news, which announced the invasion started about 2:30 a. m. Tuesday morning, our time, along the coast of France. The allied troops made satisfactory landing from 4,000 ships, while an umbrella of 11,000 planes protected them from light German fighter planes. In the first few hours of fighting, the Allies threatened to take a railroad which ran from the coast toward Paris.

Those initiating the idea and participating in the conferences and discussions that have eventuated into the work study conference are faculty members and administrators of Western Carolina Teachers' College, the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction, the University of North Carolina, the training staff of the Tennessee Valley Authority, and the following sixteen county and city superintendents: A. B. Bell, Clay county; Floyd W. Hendrix, Cherokee; Floyd Griffin, Graham; W. L. Lathan, Swain; Guy L. Houk, Macon; J. B. Jones, Transylvania; A. C. Moses, Jackson; M. H. Bowles, Haywood; T. C. Roberson, Buncombe; Mrs. Edna G. Rhodes, Madison; Miss Hope Buck, Yancey; R. G. Anders, Henderson; H.
