All Holstein breeders and their wives are invited to attend the one-day event, which will begin at 10:00 a. m.

According to Dougherty, the following persons will take part in the program:

Dorton, manager of the North Carolina State Fair; Dr. J. H. Hilton, head of the department of Animal Industry, State College; and F. L. Elliot, of the State College department of Animal Industry.

A dinner will be a special feature of the meeting.

Scout Service Held At Methodist Church

As a part of the annual observance of National Scout Week, the service held at the Methodist church Sunday evening was the religious part of that program for the Sylva scouts, composed of Sylva Scout troop No. 1 and the Senior Scout unit. Rev. W. Q. Grigg, pastor, presided.

After the advancement of the colors by the color bearers, Franklin Frick, Richard Barkley, Charles Cope and Frank Crawford, Jr., H. Gibson, chairman of the senior scouts, welcomed the scouts and other visitors and told some of the aims of scouting.

Rev. C. M. Warren, pastor of the Sylva Baptist church, delivered the message, using as his subject, "Parents, Take Care of Your Boys." Choosing for his text Ephesians 6: 4, Rev. Mr. Warren made some helpful and fitting suggestions for the care and development of the boys.

Special musical selections were rendered by the Girls' glee club of Sylva High school, under the direction of Miss Alice Weaver.

Following the retirement of the colors, Rev. W. Q. Grigg pronounced the benediction.

Scouts serving as ushers were Walter Allison Jones, Philip Jones, Jack Hennessee, and Jimmy Bales.

Bishop Ivan Lee Holt Will Be Methodist Hour Speaker Next Sunday

Bishop Ivan Lee Holt, internationally known leader of American Protestantism, scholar, author or preacher, speaks on The Methodist Hour Sunday morning, February 16th on "The Witness of the Methodist Church in the World Today."

Bishop Holt is a former president of the Federal Council of Churches and is chairman of the executive committee of Ecumenical Methodist Council, which is planning for a world wide meeting to be held in Springfield, Mass. in September.

He is author of "The Return of Spring to a Man's Soul," and "The Search for a New Strategy in Protestantism." After serving St. John's Church in St. Louis for twenty years he was elected to the episcopacy in 1938. He has served as visiting minister to churches in England, Shanghai and Toronto.

Astounded At Atom Policy

WHILE WHOLEHEARTEDLY endorsing the nomination of David E. Lilienthal as head of the Atomic Energy Commission, Bernard Baruch, appearing before the Joint Atomic Committee in Washington, declares he was "astounded" at the policy of Congress which made it necessary to place atomic energy control in the hands of civilian rather than military leaders. The elder statesman is shown leaning over a table to speak to Sen. Brian McMahon, of Connecticut, and the Committee Chairman, Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, of Iowa. (International Soundphets)

On Being Vigilant

That the price we pay for liberty is eternal vigilance may seem like old stuff to some of us. We are prone to relax after being vigilant for five years during a hard war. Like the next man, we pay more attention to signs of optimism than to those danger signals that are likely to call us to vigilance.

As modern-day Americans, we indicate by our actions and our interests that we are concerned about a lot of things—but perhaps least concerned about playing Paul Revere roles. Let Samuel Adams and John Hancock and Thomas Jefferson and Patrick Henry and A. Lincoln and all the others stay in their history books. We won our freedom in 1776, and we've kept it since. So why take the trouble to worry about being vigilant in 1947?

Take the Trouble

During the war we were told what to be vigilant against, and much of what we were fighting for. Even particular freedoms were enumerated. We knew too, which particular dictators were giving us trouble. But today Hitler is gone, Mussolini's ambitions are dust. It was a lot of trouble, but we paused to finish the job. We were strong enough to do it, and we are still strong.

It is always a lot of trouble to have a mind toward our freedoms. With three-fourths of the world embracing doctrines which oppose our cherished freedoms, and with many of the nations of the world scorning our kind of Republic, we shall have to keep on taking trouble to defend our way of life. This is true, even when we know that our Republic is the best and most prosperous anywhere in the history of civilization.

Defense of the Mind

We have called America the melting pot, the place where the cradle of liberty was first rocked, the refuge of all the persecuted of hundreds of brands of minorities. We have been a thrifty people, an active people, a people building a continent—all the while warding off tyrants from abroad and having a care at home for your freedoms and mine.

How is it, then, that we have been caught napping? Have we not, in times of confusion at home and abroad, allowed doctrines to creep in which would chain our minds and shackle our bodies as well? Distorting, misleading, boring from within, state socialism at home and abroad presents to us the kind of curse that tyranny has always been to free man. Inroads have been made on some sectors of the American mind.

Constructive Program

Did you know that polls have shown that 51 per cent of our people do not know what a balanced budget is? That virtually a third have no conception of the meaning of "free enterprise"? That many of us think it all right to owe a huge national debt to ourselves? That security is something Congress can hand out? That inflation is acceptable because it creates wealth? That there are ways to earn more by doing less?

All these things are fallacies. With other fallacies they will enslave, just as surely as any tyrant. We must make our platform freedom. Can there be a more constructive program than that of free men? Americans everywhere must prepare the defense of their own minds against the inroads of enslaving ideas.

IN ROACH CONTROL, THOROUGHNESS PAYS

The secret of thorough eradication of the cockroach is thorough application of the material used to combat the pest.

The reason why cockroaches so often appear soon after the application of an insecticide is that some hiding place has been missed in the treatment, says Dr. Clyde F. Smith, Associate Professor of Entomology with the N. C. Agricultural Experiment Station.

Reaching every crack and crevice where the pest might lurk is particularly important with DDT, which is the recommended material for eradicating the cockroach, because the pest is killed by coming into contact with the material.

He recommends the use of the DDT in either the 5 or 10 per cent dust form, applied with a dust gun. However, a cheesecloth bag of the dust, which can be shaken against the openings where the cockroach might be hiding, has been found effective as a means of application.

Before the dust is applied, all cooking utensils, dishes and food should be well covered so that none of the dust could fall on them. Any dishes that might be left unprotected should be washed thoroughly before using. If the first application has been thorough, a second one will not be needed for several months, Dr. Smith says. However, should the roaches appear sooner than that, make a second application at once, being sure the second time to include more possible hiding places of the pest.

On Target for '47

STAND back — take it all in — and make sure you don't miss a thing.

For what we've pictured for you here is the whole Highway Hit Parade of 1947 — wrapped up in one glamorous bundle.

Those long, flowing, follow-through fenders — there's a style note you'll see echoed in automotive fashions for a long time to come.

That generous beam amidships — there's the drivingroom you've been seeking, with legroom, headroom, elbowroom all around.

That broad deep bonnet spells power aplenty — eager, lively Fireball power from an engine that seems to stay forever young.

That hug-the-road look means steadiness; coil springs on all four wheels spell matchless, floating ride; wide-swinging doors open on interiors both handy and handsome in arrangement.

In a word — here's a car squarely on target, whether you go for style or size, performance or value. Here's America's most wanted car — and easily America's most sought-after buy.

So why let the crowd get ahead of you? Why wait—when waiting can only postpone delivery, not hasten it.

Just remember that faint heart ne'er won a fair car like this — and get your order in!
