

PIGS REQUIRE SPECIAL FEEDS

RALEIGH, March 3 — What's good for the pig is not necessarily good for the sow, says Dr. William Moore, veterinarian with the State Agriculture Department. He reports that a recent test ration based on ground corn and including only five per cent green alfalfa hay was fine for growing and fattening pigs, but sows receiving this ration failed to produce thrifty litters. More than half of the pigs from these sows died before weaning. When the alfalfa hay was boosted to 15 per cent, however, the sows farrowed healthy litters although the milk was still inadequate and some of the sows collapsed after nursing their newborn pigs for a few weeks. Dr. Moore says that the complete answer, of course, is sound, well-balanced rations for the sow, both before and after farrowing.

American Legion Auxiliary Will Sponsor Contests

Mrs. Ed Baldrige and Mrs. Posey Cathey were joint hostesses for the March meeting of the American Legion auxiliary when it met in Allison building last Friday evening. Mrs. Dan Tompkins, president, presided over a lengthy business session when an unusual amount of business was transacted. The auxiliary decided to again sponsor the essay contest in the senior classes of all the high schools in the county. The subject this year will be "The United States' Place in Establishing a Permanent Peace." A prize of $5 will be given for the best essay. Mrs. R. U. Sutton, Americanism chairman, under which this phase of the work is carried on, and her committee will send the rules for the contest to the different schools within the next few days.

The auxiliary will again sponsor the Poppy Poster contest with two classes of entries: First, $5 for the best poster by a child from the 4th, 5th, or 6th grade; Second, $5 for the best poster made by a child from the 7th, 8th, or 9th grade. Students in all the schools of the county are eligible to enter these contests. The auxiliary also voted to pay the expenses of two girls to attend Girls' State at the Woman's College at Greensboro for a week next June. This is open to High school juniors. The girls will be selected this year from Sylva High, but after this year they will be selected from either of the high schools of the county. While at Girls' State the girls will take training in citizenship and government, besides recreation and other activities. C. W. Phillips is in charge of Girls' State. The girls will be selected by a committee from the Auxiliary and the faculty of school. They must have a rating in the upper third of the class, as well as a rating of a good citizen.

The treasurer reported that more than $60 was made from the tacky party for their fountain fund. As another part in Americanism Week they made a donation of $5 to the Negro Boy Scout Patrol to aid in carrying on the work among colored boys. During the program hour Mrs. Fred Williams, historian of the Auxiliary, read the history from its reorganization up to the present time. As this was time for the Americanism program, Mrs. Tompkins told of the things being done by the Auxiliary to make better Americans. The hostesses served cherry tarts and coffee.

Royal Ambassadors Have Tacky Party Under the supervision of their leader, Britton Moore, the Royal Ambassadors, a younger group of boys in the Baptist church, entertained with a Tacky Party. Each boy invited a friend to come as his guest. Robert Allison won the prize for being the tackiest dressed person. Games were played for some time and then the group was taken to the drug store where sundaes were served. Those attending were Tommy Ferguson, Lambert Hooper, Robert Allison, Allen Jones, Gene Mitchell, Dicky Wilson, Jimmy Stovall, Billy Sutton, Dickey Barkley, Kenneth Sutton, Lewis Monteith, and Jimmy Parker, Carolyn Moore, Shirley Hartmann, Jean Nicholson, Gail Webber, and Joyce Nicholson.

Miss Sossamon Lists Home Demonstration Club Meetings

With special emphasis on "Better Health" for the year, the March demonstration in the Home Demonstration Club meetings will be centered around vitamin "C" since we as a group are more deficient in vitamin "C" than any other food element. The dish to be prepared will be from cabbage, tomatoes, and ground meat.

Miss Helen Sossamon, home demonstration agent, has announced the following schedule for March meetings:

March 5—Glenville 4-H at 9:30 a. m.; Cashiers 4-H at 11:45 a. m.; Cope Creek 4-H at 3:30 p. m. March 6—Cope Creek Tailoring school at 2 p. m., Mrs. Johnnie Watson, hostess. of leisure and to arouse in them worthy ambitions and a desire to continue to learn, that they may live fuller and richer lives. Have Many Opportunities Many opportunities are given to 4-H'ers. They are able to take part in contests and local work which will help them to grow year by year. Some of the 4-H dates every member or prospective member will want to remember are: March 1-9, National club week; May 25, 4-H Church Sunday; July 25-31, State Wildlife conference; September, (first week) older youth conference; November (first week) National 4-H Achievement week; December (first week) National Club Congress.

Every worth-while thing will require effort on the part of the individuals participating. Parents have a very definite part in the program, to encourage the efforts made by the young people. Every club member is required to conduct a project in farming or home-making. Usually there is a slight expense to any worth-while project. Are the parents helping their children to earn this small amount of money required to use on their projects?

New Camp Is Objective Let us look together at a project that is facing every 4-H club member in Jackson county. Their 4-H club camp at Swannanoa was no longer available during the war, it was used instead for military purposes. They are now endeavoring to build another camp near Waynesville for the Western part of North Carolina, to send the 4-H youth of the counties for a wider vision of the 4-H program and for the further training of youth in the art of living. Each county has been asked to raise seven hundred ($700) dollars for a county cabin. There are approximately four hundred active 4-H club members in Jackson county. Is this problem to be left up entirely to the youth of the county, or will the parents guide and direct them so that they will be able to earn the money necessary to build the Jackson county cabin at the new camp site? The Dillsboro 4-H club introduced a plan in which every active member could have a part in raising this money. Every 4-H club in the county has voted to adopt the plan suggested by the Dillsboro club. The motion proposed that each 4-H club member be responsible for raising one dollar to go toward the financing of the cabin; that the remainder of the money be raised through each 4-H club as a group. Parents and friends have a lot to do toward influencing young people. If your child or neighbor's child is a 4-H club member, why not give him or her an opportunity to do several errands and allow them to earn this money? In the days ahead the youth of the nation will be able to assume new responsibilities, undertake bigger tasks and to do more with less. The challenge has been thrown out for the adults to grasp. Youth will need varied experiences in order to cope with new situations and 4-H club work at its best will do much toward providing these new experiences. Local leaders and parents do much to promote the work of the 4-H program. Your efforts are recognized nation-wide; your cooperation and support are necessary if the nation-wide program is carried out to its fullest advantage.

Ten Guide Posts The ten guide posts are used in order to analyze their own situations and interests, "so they may build programs that will help to prepare them for citizenship—physically, mentally, and spiritually—by, (1) Developing talents for greater usefulness. (2) Joining with friends for work, fun, and fellowship. (3) Learning to live in a changing world. (4) Choosing a way to earn a living. (5) Producing food and fiber for home market. (6) Creating better homes for better living. (7) Conserving nature's resources for security and happiness. (8) Building health for a strong America. (9) Sharing responsibilities for community improvement. (10) Serving as citizens in maintaining world peace.

Nation-Wide Organization The 4-H club is a nation-wide organization conducted by the U. S. department of Agriculture in cooperation with the N. C. State college of Agriculture and your county. There are 1,700,000 4-H club members in the United States who will celebrate National 4-H club week. Four hundred of these members are from Jackson county, coming from eleven clubs in the county: Dillsboro, Beta, Cullowhee, Cashiers, Cope Creek, Glenville, Johns Creek, Qualla, Savannah, Tuckasegee and Webster. The boys and girls learn by cooperating, and in doing so, create a desire for comradeship with other people. The expression "4-H" used in connection with these clubs typifies the training of Head, Heart, Hands and Health, which the club program provides. The national 4-H club emblem is a four-leaf clover with a letter H on each leaf. The 4-H pledge is: "I pledge—My head to clearer thinking; My heart to greater loyalty; My hands to larger service; My health to better living, for my club, my community, and my country." The national 4-H club motto is "To Make the Best Better." (For additional information about 4-H club work, see your county extension agents.)
