

VARIOUS AGENCIES PROMOTING BETTER CARE FOR BABIES

The following is an article by Miss Helen Sossamon, Home Agent for Jackson county, written for this issue of The Herald in connection with National Baby Week. In writing this article Miss Sossamon has given some of the informative facts which the State Extension department includes in its varied and helpful programs as carried out by Miss Sossamon.

The work of the Extension department, including methods of feeding and colicking the family, the development and management of the home, touches every member of the household, and the community at large.

Children can be one of the greatest satisfactions in life. They can give their parents more happiness and also more fun than anything else. Around children develop many home interests that keep the parents together and help maintain their youth and their joy in living.

In order to help your children be healthy and have happy, useful lives you will want to do many things for each child during his babyhood, such as the following: See that the baby's birth is registered. See that he has a complete physical examination as soon after birth as possible and another when he is about a month or 6 weeks old. Take him to a doctor regularly for general supervision. See that he lives in a home that is healthful. Supply him with clothes that keep him comfortable and give him freedom to grow and to use his developing powers. Encourage his development but never try to force him ahead faster than he wishes to go. Play with him. Help him develop good habits. See that he has plenty of undisturbed sleep. Keep him clean. Give him as much sunshine and fresh air as the weather permits. Give him enough clean, good food, at regular times. Keep him away from all sick people. Make sure that he is given inoculations to protect him against diphtheria and smallpox (and whooping cough and tetanus, too, if the doctor so advises).

Try to give him a peaceful, happy babyhood. This can best be done by seeing that he lives in a peaceful, happy family.

Child care is a great art. It is an important task, perhaps the most important task any parent ever undertakes. The parents have a responsibility not only to their child but also to the community to see that the child grows into an adult who can use fully all the talents and capabilities that he had within him when he was born. The father shares the responsibility with the mother. From the baby's birth they will want to work together to see that this most important job is well done.

Phone Strike Goes Into 18th Day

The labor department has called the leaders of the striking National Federation of Telephone Workers to Washington to try to find out how much of a wage offer is needed to revive negotiations in the 18-day-old telephone strike.

Rock-A-Bye-Baby On The Hill Top - - C. J. Harris Community Hospital

At times the nursery of the C. J. Harris hospital is full to overflowing. As shown in the above picture it is overflowing now, but not in vain, for the two babies in the front row are sleeping peacefully as you see, in dresser drawers. From left to right they are: Front row, David Lee Waldroup, born April 15 to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lee Waldroup of Tuckaseegee; Harold Russell Burns, born April 15, to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lloyd Burns of Whittier; Second row: Agnes Marlene Nicholson, born April 14 to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Von Nicholson of Wolf Mountain; Janie Sue Cope, born April 15 to Mr. and Mrs. Ensley Emless Cope of Dillsboro; Charles Richard Rogers, born April 12, to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Alvin Rogers of Cashiers; Sandra Lynn Wall, born April 13, to Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Sylvester Wall of Sylva. Top row: Serina Lavonia Fish, born April 14 to Mr. and Mrs. William Elmer Fish of East Laporte; Patricia Laura Treadaway, born April 13 to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Herman Treadaway of Whittier; Sharon Lee Cowan, born April 11 to Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wilkes Cowan of Sylva; Sherry Angela Pell, born April 12, to Mr. and Mrs. Francis Pell of Cashiers.

CHURCH IS GROWING

(Continued from page 1) In most of our churches there is that age group of children who are no longer babies and yet are not far enough along to enter into an organized program with children of the primary age. These are being provided for, too. The pastor has constructed a communications system by which the worship service is transmitted to the beginner class room. There two or three mothers can care for quite a number of children of this age in a place already equipped to meet their needs and at the same time not have to miss the regular church worship.
