Mothers Of Methodist Church Honored With Special Program

The mothers of the Sylva Methodist church were honored at a specially planned party held Thursday evening, May 15, in the Allison building. Hostesses for this delightful occasion included the Christian Social Relations committee of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, the Society's officers, and the circle chairmen.

Features of the evening entertainment were lovely and appropriate songs sung by Miss Alice Weaver accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Chas. G. Gully, and Rev. W. Q. Grigg paid tribute to the mothers. A number of the children of the church entertained with piano solos. Those playing were Alice McGuire, Audrey Jane Jones, Edith Moore, Leah Sutton, Pat Montague, Robert Allison, Gail Martin and Jimmy Stovall gave a piano duet.

Following the formal entertainment games were played by the group, after which an ice course was served.

About forty were present.
