STATE COLLEGE ANSWERS TIMELY FARM QUESTIONS

QUESTION—How can I control silverfish?

ANSWER—The best results will be obtained if silverfish are controlled where they may be developing in large numbers—often in the basement or attic. Otherwise, they will continue to reinfest other parts of the building.

In the home a 5-percent solution of DDT in refined kerosene can be applied with an ordinary household sprayer. Spray just enough to moisten thoroughly surfaces where silverfish will crawl over the deposit of DDT which is left. This residue will be effective for several months.

Spray about baseboards, doors and window casings, closets where pipes go through walls or floors, and other places where silverfish hide or crawl over the DDT deposit.

Spray thoroughly in attics or basements if they are infested, especially around pipes or wall spaces leading to floors above, if there is danger of fire from an oil spray, use 10 percent DDT powder or sodium fluoride. Apply either powder with a hand duster, blowing it into cracks or spreading a thin film wherever the appearance of the deposit will not be objectionable.

QUESTION—Can sweet potato vines be used for silage?

ANSWER—Recent feeding trials made at the North Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station have shown that good silage can be made from sweet potato vines, or a mixture of vines and roots. In fact, this silage has been shown to be as good as corn silage for feeding dairy cattle.

Winter roughages are often deficient in carotene (Vitamin A). Since sweet potato vine silage is rich in carotene, it is especially valuable as a winter feed in the South. Because sweet potato vine silage is highly palatable, stock will usually eat more roughage on the dry basis when fed both silage and hay, or other dry forage, than when receiving only dry feed. Its slightly laxative effect on cattle is especially beneficial when legume hay is not available.

You may suffer nagging backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling. Sometimes frequent and scanty urination with smarting and burning is another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder.
