When sufficient bundles are received they will be packaged and sent directly to the Chief of Chaplains of the European Command, who incidentally is an outstanding Baptist, for distribution through German Baptist churches. With winter on the way it is believed that literally thousands of the German people will die of exposure because of the lack of sufficient heat and clothing. Stretching the Meat Budget By Avoiding "Fancy" Cuts

By BETSY NEWMAN OUR foods are not rationed now, as they are in England, but we still must stretch our meats as we did in rationing days, because of high prices. Even chopped meat is expensive, but there are a number of ways to make a pound of it serve from four to six people.

Demand for meat is high, especially for the fancier cuts, so we budget-conscious housewives must content ourselves with pot roasts, Swiss steaks and stews, frankfurters, etc., even as we did during the war. We won't suffer from lack of protein, although we may mourn a bit over steaks and chops.

A Branburger Banana Grill may sound a bit difficult for the cook to prepare, but it really isn't. Meat Balls with Spaghetti seems simpler, but both are meat stretchers.

Today's Menu Branburger Banana Grill or Meat Balls with Spaghetti Creamed Potatoes with the Grill Mixed Vegetable Salad Frozen Rice Treat Tea or Coffee Milk

Branburger Banana Grill 1 lb. ground beef 1/2 c. milk 1 egg 1/2 c. shredded bran 2 tbs. grated onion 8 slices bacon 1 tbs. chopped parsley 4 firm sliced bananas 1 tsp. salt Melted butter or margarine 1/2 tsp. pepper Mix beef, egg and seasonings. Add milk to bran and soak 5 minutes. Combine the two mixtures and form into 8 patties about one inch thick, wrapping each with a slice of bacon. Arrange the meat on broiler rack, allowing about 8 inches between the top surface of the meat and the source of heat. Broil about 5 minutes or until brown, then turn. Brush bananas with butter or margarine, sprinkle with salt and place on rack. Continue broiling about 5 minutes or until bananas are tender. Serves 4.

Meat Balls with Spaghetti 1 lb. ground beef 1 small onion, 1/2 lb. ground 1 grated pork 1 egg, slightly beaten 1/2 c. bread crumbs 1/2 tsp. pepper 1 1/2 tsp. salt 1 tsp. ground sage Combine ingredients and mix thoroughly. Form into small balls, about 1 1/2 inches in diameter and roll in flour. Brown balls lightly in lard.

Sauce 1 c. tomatoes 1/2 tsp. pepper 1 c. water or 1 tsp. chili juice powder 1 onion, minced 1 tbs. brown 1/2 tsp. salt sugar

Mix sauce ingredients together thoroughly and boil 3 minutes. Add meat balls and simmer 45 minutes, until meat is well cooked. Pour mixture over a platter of cooked spaghetti and serve with sprinkling of dry, grated cheese. Serves 4 to 6.

Frozen Rice Treat 2 c. boiled rice 1/2 c. undiluted evaporated milk 1 c. crushed pineapple, drained. 1 c. whipped cream garnish 1/2 c. sugar 2 tbs. gelatin

Softan gelatin in cold milk; dissolve in top of enameled double boiler over hot water; add gelatin to rice and other ingredients and place in freezing tray of the refrigerator. After mixture has been in refrigerator several hours, garnish with whipped cream. Serves 4 to 6.
