Married In Church Ceremony June 19

Miss Mary Cecil Bryson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Bryson, Jr. of Sylva, and William Lee Patterson, Jr. of Atlanta, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Patterson, Sr. of Chattanooga, Tenn., were married Saturday, June 19 at 7 o'clock in a candlelight ceremony at the Sylva Baptist church.

The Rev. T. F. Deitz, an old friend of the family, officiated, using the double ring ceremony.

The church, with a background of pines, had four seven-branched candelabra holding cathedral tapers. In front of these and on either side of where the bridal party stood were three floor baskets in graduated heights filled with white gladioli and Oregon fern. Candles and greenery were used in the windows.

A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Grover Wilkes, organist, and Miss Alice Weaver, soloist. Mrs. Wilkes played "At Evening" by Kinder, "Caprice" by Matthews and "O Perfect Love" by Barnby. Miss Weaver sang "I Love Thee" by Greig and "Because" by d'Hardelot. "To A Wild Rose" by McDowell was played during the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer" by Mallote was sung as the benediction. The traditional wedding marches were used for the processional and recessional.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Carroll Bryson, wore a gown of white satin with a yoke of imported French lace, outlined by a bertha of the satin, tight basque with covered buttons down the front and a full skirt ending in a circular train. The sleeves, full at the top, ended in calla lily points over the hands. Her three-tiered veil of silk illusion was finger tip length and trimmed in orange blossoms to match the headress to which it was fastened. She carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid and showered with swansonia. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

Mrs. Andrew Queen of Portsmouth, Va. was matron of honor. She wore a gown of blue brocaded taffeta made similar to the bride's, except with short sleeves with which she wore blue lace mitts. She carried a bouquet of mixed flowers in matching shades.

Mrs. Tommy Kinsland and Miss Doris Glenda Bryson, cousin of the bride, were the bridesmaids. Both wore dresses of pink brocaded taffeta made like the one worn by the maid of honor. They wore pink lace mitts and carried bouquets of summer flowers in contrasting shades. Headdresses for the three were made of flowers to match their bouquets.

Judy Bryson, cousin of the bride of Maryville, Tenn., was flower girl. She was dressed in a long white satin dress, made identical to the bride's. She carried a basket of rose petals.

O. E. Looser of St. Louis served at best man and ushers were L. D. Bryson, uncle of the bride, of Maryville, Tenn., Craig Campbell, cousin of the bride of Canton, Wade Wilson and Walter Brown Cope of Sylva.

The bride's mother wore a blue silk dress with a corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother's gown was of black and white silk

Methodists Circles Have Joint Meeting

The Annie Cowan Circle and the Carrie Rhodes Circle, which makes up the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church, and the Wesleyan Service Guild, met in their regular monthly joint meeting on last Friday evening at Allison building.

The president, Mrs. Harry Hastings, presided over the business session and then presented Rev. W. Q. Grigg, who gave a review of the Book, "Ten Thousand Years" by Richard Terrell Baker. This book is a church-wide study and deals with the first hundred years of Methodist missions in China.

Following the study course which ended with a question and answer period, Mrs. Hastings, the hostess for the evening, served chocolate cake and ice cream.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The guests were greeted on the porch by Miss Mary Henson and at the door by Mrs. Jennings Bryson who presented them to the receiving line, which was made up of Mrs. Bryson, mother of the bride, Mrs. Patterson, mother of the bridegroom, and the wedding party. The living room was decorated with vases of pink gladioli. In the dining room a color scheme of green and white was carried out. The table, covered with a white crocheted cloth, was centered with an arrangement of white carnations and lilies and fern. At the back of the table were two candelabra with white tapers tied with white satin ribbon. The three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, stood at one end of the table and the punch bowl was placed at the other. Both were entwined with greenery and sprays of feverfew. On the buffet and serving table were vases of flowers and candelabra to match the table.

Mrs. A. M. Anderson, aunt of the bride, cut the cake, and Miss Docia Garrett served punch. Assisting in passing the cake, punch, mints and nuts were Miss Edoleen-Curry, Miss Edith Garrett, Miss Rebecca Sue Cannon, Miss Jean Poteet, Mrs. Clyde Rector and Mrs. Stanley Henry.

Mrs. Felix Picklesimer had charge of the guest register and Mrs. Johnny Watson presided in the gift room. Others assisting were Mrs. J. W. Davis, Mrs. Carey Queen, Mrs. Roy Reed, Mrs. Carroll Bryson, Mrs. Ray Cogdill, Mrs. R. U. Sutton and Mrs. D. D. Hooper.

Later in the evening Mrs. Patterson donned a suit of grayish blue gabardine, with which she wore white accessories and the orchid detached from her prayer book. The couple left by car for Myrtle Beach to spend their honeymoon.

Mrs. Patterson is a graduate of Sylva High school and of Erlanger Hospital School of Nursing in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mr. Patterson graduated from the Chattanooga High school and attended the University of Chattanooga before entering service. He served with the navy for 3½ years. He is now employed by Commercial Credit Co. in Atlanta, where the couple will reside at 1310 Piedmont Ave. N. E.

Out-of-town guests here for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. David Moore and Miss Dot Baker, Asheville; Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Cope and daughter, Atlanta; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Henry, Waynesville; Misses Edoleen and Carolyn Curry, Marion; Miss Pauline Freeman, Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Campbell, Jr., Jacksonville, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Edwards and daughter, Brenda, Mr. and Mrs. L. D.
