FALL QUARTER ENDS TODAY AT WCTC

Today marks the end of the Fall quarter at Western Carolina Teachers' college. At 6:05 p. m. the examination worries of some 600 students will be over, and the college professors will get the time of their lives in grading test papers and returning the grades to the administration offices before the deadline.

For the students, the burden of studying for the quizzes is lifted, but an even greater burden descends upon them—that of proverbially "sweating out" their grades.

A similar situation exists in every college and university throughout the country. A majority of the students lag behind through the quarter until the final few days which they spend in cramming for their exams. Most of them get by, some do not.

With a few hours of casual study each day students could prevent all the cramming—but tell that to the students. Registration for the Winter quarter will be held Monday at Western Carolina beginning at 8 a. m. and lasting throughout the day. Those same 600 students who today are "sweating out" their grades, will then be all steamed up and trying arrange their schedules with no Saturday classes. That is the dream of each one of them. As in the case above, some succeed in this, the majority does not.

For four long years this hulla-balloo goes on for each aggressive student, then comes graduation and the years roll by. With each year, the graduate looks back more and more on his college days and wishes he were back again.

where, is recovering from an operation. Mrs. Maxine Wright, Almond, is recovering from an operation. Mrs. Donna Franklin, Sylva, who was hit by car Monday is receiving treatment. Mrs. Clara Ammons, Sylva Rt. 1, is in for treatment. Mrs. Elaine Queen, Sylva, is recovering from appendectomy. Mr. Huff Queen, Cowarts, is recovering from an operation.

Romanian Family Appreciates Shoes From Schulman's Store

When the first gathering of shoes and other clothing for needy persons in Europe was made in Sylva several years ago there was a box of shoes from Schulman's Department store. Mr. Bennie Reece, employee at Schulman's, placed his name and address in one of the shoes. This week Mr. Reece received a letter from a family in a Displaced Person's camp in Austria telling of having received the shoes. The letter to Mr. Reece is published below and is printed in the same style as written:

St. Johann A. W. D. P. Camp 600 Bez. Braunau Austria. Nov. 17, 1948

Mr. Bennie F. Reece, Sylva, N. C. Dear Sir:

Today our family received 2 pair shoes from an American aid. Into a pair white summer shoes I have found your address. I will try to write you, and I beg your pardon, when the letter is full of faults. I hope that you can understand the sense.

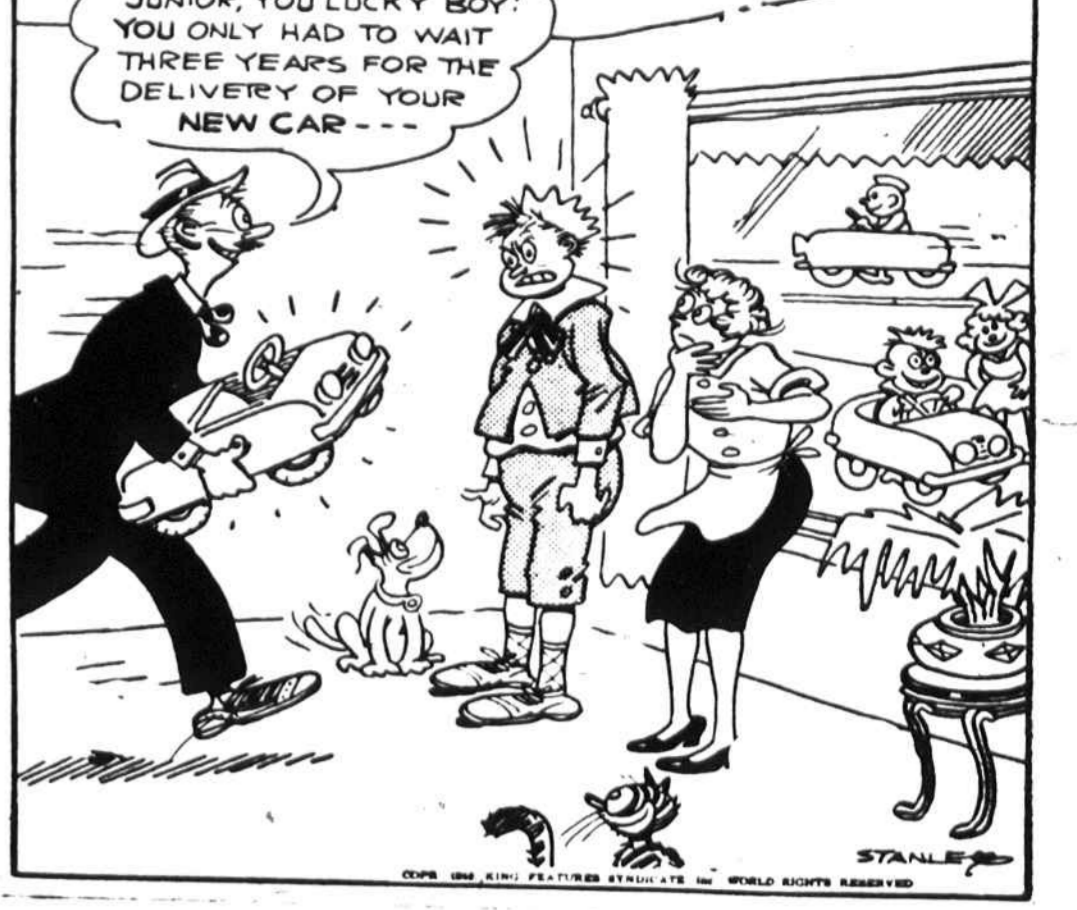

For you it may be a calming to know that your present has attained the desired aim. In our family we are five members, my parents, sister with her child. I was in the commercial school of Timisoara (Temesoar). My father has had a timbershop. Now in this building is a Macleincenter from new farmers (Rolchas). The camp we live in are D. P's from the eastern of Europe. Our family is from the western of Romania. Our old living locality was named Liebling (translated: darling), nearby the town Timisoara. This country was a part of Austria-Hungary. From the year 1918, also after the great war of the world, it was annexed from Roumania.

The destiny was hard against us. I will not lament, but to bear the burden, and I thank you very well, of the name from our family, for your dear gift, which covering from appendectomy.
