

Food Handlers' School To Be Held For Highlands And Surrounding Area

A food handlers' school will be held in the Highlands Theater in Highlands Monday through Wednesday, June 20, 21, 22, District Health Officer Charles Thomas announced this week. The school is being held for the benefit of the establishments and their personnel located in upper Jackson and Macon counties. All people who in any way prepare or serve food for public consumption in and around Cashiers and Highlands will be required to attend the school.

The Highlands school was requested by the operators of the establishments of the area to aid and assist them in presenting to the tourist and summer visitors improved service from a standpoint of sanitation and courtesy. The very successful food handlers' school which was held last year in Franklin by the district health department convinced these operators of the value and importance of the schools. The Franklin school in 1948 was held earlier in the season, however, before some of the resort employees had arrived for the seasonal work, and for that reason the operators requested the second school the third week of June, when all personnel will be able to be present and reap the benefits of such schools.

The food handling schools previously held throughout North Carolina have proven to be of immense value to operators in training persons engaged in this business for livelihood. Since the major portion of their incomes in these two communities, Cashiers and Highlands, are derived from tourist and seasonal visitors, the operators are to be commended for this attempt to present to

TROPHY OFFERED IN "CORN WAR"

A silver trophy cup topped with a golden ear of corn will be presented to the winning state in the 1949 corn-growing contest between Virginia and North Carolina, it was announced recently by Dr. E. R. Collins, in charge of agronomy extension at State College.

The trophy is offered by the National Fertilizer Association in an effort to stimulate further interest in the contest, which originated with a challenge from Governor Tuck and acceptance of the challenge by Governor Scott.

During the spring and summer months, the trophy will be touring the 2 states with an exhibit which will be displayed in a number of towns and cities. The exhibit features photographs of the two governors with the challenge and acceptance, photographs illustrating some of the benefits of increased corn yields—"Bigger corn yields mean more milk . . . poultry . . . pork . . . beef at less cost!"—and hints on "What It Takes to Win" and "What It Means to Win."

Basis for determining the winners—these visitors improved and sanitary service.

Clement Grants Four Divorces In Civil Court

The following divorces were granted by Judge J. H. Clement in civil court the first week of June:

Mildred B. Parker from Richard S. Parker, Jr.; Manuel Phillips from Linnea N. Phillips; James N. Fowler from Frances N. Fowler; and Mollie Arneach from Newman Arneach.

Fresh, refrigerated orange juice, prepared and packaged by a new process, is now being shipped commercially from citrus producing areas to distant markets without loss of flavor or other qualities.

Virginia State will be the increase over the bushels-per-acre yield of the period 1937-46. Both Virginia and North Carolina showed gains last year over this base period—Virginia from 27.8 to 43 bushels per acre, and North Carolina from 21.8 to 31 bushels per acre. Many farmers in each state have qualified for membership in 100-bushels-per-acre corn clubs.

Vocational agriculture teachers, county agents, and civic and farm clubs have been asked to participate actively in helping farmers to augment their harvests this year.

THE BOONE has a grouping of rooms around a small central hall, enabling accessibility to all rooms from the front vestibule without first passing through another room. A covered stoop protects the entrance to both house and garage.

There are 2-story view windows in the living room, one set overlooking the garden, the other the front yard and street. A fireplace can be placed on the end wall of the living room next to the garage. Closets, with storage space above, are in the bedrooms. There is a coat closet in the vestibule and a linen cabinet and general closet in the bedroom hall.

Exterior walls are frame with siding. The roof, asphalt shingles. There is a wide eave overhang.

The attached garage gives a wide appearance but the area is only 908 square feet and 17,252 cubic feet, including the basement.

For further information about THE BOONE, write The Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Plumbing installation costs are reduced by having an adjoining kitchen and bathroom. The kitchen has a large well lighted dining space with equipment arranged on two opposite walls. It is located so one end of the living may be used for dining.
