The Southern's Bid.

In a conversation this morning with Hon. G. M. Rose, who has just returned from Asheville, we learn that it is the general opinion that the C. F. & Y. V. Railroad will be sold as an entirety probably in July. Three propositions for the disposal of the Road were submitted to Judge Simonton and he now has them under consideration.

The Southern Railway Company has made an "upset" offer of $1,692,000 for the whole road. One million for the A division which is that from Greensboro to the South Carolina line, $367,000 for the B division, that from Greensboro to Mt. Airy, and $325,000 for the C division, which is from Fayetteville to Wilmington.

The C. F. & Y. V.

A press dispatch from Asheville, says: "There was a great array of legal talent in the United States court there before Judge C. H. Simonton in this city yesterday when the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley railroad hearing in foreclosure proceedings was conducted. The suit was originally brought to foreclosure under the first mortgage, and the contest was whether the road should be sold as a whole or by divisions. The arguments were finished to-day, and Judge Simonton reserved his decision."

Campbellton Club.

The Campbellton Club met last night in their Club Room in Campbellton. The President, Alex. Strickland, was in the chair, and the Secretary, Mr. F. H. Overby, was at his post.

After the transaction of important business an election of members took place, and ten were added to the roll.

A heated discussion on water, lights, etc., livened up the meeting, after which the club adjourned. The next meeting will be held Friday night at 8 o'clock. The band was present and played some fine music for the Club. The "boys" say that they are ready for the coming campaign, with their instruments in tune.

The Guerrant Meeting.

Dr. Guerrant's last sermon to the people of Fayetteville will be preached in the Armory Sunday night at 8 o'clock. The usual service of song will begin at half-past seven, and it will be well for all who wish for good seats near the speaker to go early.

Dr. Guerrant's sermons have been, all through the week, clear and forceful presentations of gospel truths. He has preached Jesus Christ and the efficiency of his atonement for the salvation of any sinner.

Last night Dr. Guerrant preached a powerful sermon, taking for his text "Sir, I would see Jesus." It had a visible effect upon his hearers, many of whom went up and professed religion.

The sermon this morning was to the children and young people.

The earnest faces and eager responses of the little people are a lesson to us older ones.

Dr. Guerrant is wonderfully gifted in speaking to children and held their attention throughout. His text was, "Your adversary the devil goeth about as a roaring lion seeking whom he may devour."

How often have we been reminded during these services when so many little ones have come forward and taken God at his word, of our Saviour's warning: Except ye become as little children, ye shall not enter the Kingdom.

There were about fifty conversions at the close of the service.

Mr. N. R. Walker, a well-known drummer of Baltimore and popular with boys here, was in the city this morning.

A Sad Death.

Little Blanche Kathline Watson, daughter of C. M. and Lizzie R. Watson, died last night at 9:30 o'clock of scarlet fever. Although only a little over eight years old, she was a remarkably bright child, being able, among other things, to name every capital in the United States. Her father and mother took her to the Guerrant meeting Tuesday night, and upon reaching home the little one complained of being cold. She was taken sick that night and rapidly grew worse.

The funeral will take place from the residence on Ramsey street at 5 o'clock this afternoon. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of the whole community.

A Distinguished Architect.

Mr. Silas McBee, of New York (a North Carolinian by birth) is coming to Fayetteville next week on business connected with the erection of St. John's church, Parish House.

While here it is contemplated to have him deliver his celebrated Lecture on church Architecture which has gained him such reputation North and West, where it has been given. His lecture is very interesting and is illustrated by Steroptican views of the finest Cathedrals in Europe.

The following we copy from the "Churchman."

On Monday evening, at the Hotel Savoy, Mr. Silas McBee gave the first of his lectures on Church Architecture. Mr. McBee's success as a lecturer is assured. His efforts are directed to the preservation of the Gothic, as the ideal of church architecture, for this time, as for all others of past ages, when it has held its place as one of the most uplifting agencies in the church's work for the elevation of the human race. Mr. McBee's style is clear, his manner attractive. He had an audience representing the best of the social and intellectual forces of the city. His mastery of his subject will secure attention everywhere, aside from the fact that his topic will always be one of absorbing interest to Christian people.
