THURSDAY, OCTOBER 18 1917

Agriculturally and horticulturally, Haywood leads the state and leads the south.

If you want to lay up something for your children buy each one a 2nd Liberty Loan bond.

Buy a Liberty Loan bond and be pleased with yourself the balance of your life. It is a good investment, too.

Senator Overman spoke at Asheville Monday night in the interest of the Liberty Loan. Asheville has a number of working teams who will sell bonds with a rush this week.

Let Waynesville and Haywood county keep up its reputation by purchasing a good share of the 2nd Liberty Loan bonds. They bear no taxes and pay four per cent interest and you will know that you are helping the soldiers win the war, if you own one.

This is designated as "Potato Week." by the agricultural department at Washington who have it in mind to conserve the consumption of wheat by serving potatoes three times a day in all the styles known to the culinary art.

Haywood county is already leading others in raising fine apples and in producing agricultural products. It also is taking high stand now in cattle raising and shipments.

Mr. T. Larson a Kansas newspaper man spent a week here with the Mountaineer-Courier and returned home Monday via Greenville and Camp Sevier, expecting to return here about Nov. 1st to link his future with ours in conducting one of the best papers and printing plants in the State.

We told our readers last week that Haywood was due to win at the Southeastern Fair in Atlanta and she certainly did. D. R. Noland won the 1st Individual prize for the largest and best agricultural exhibit and he also won Second County prize for Haywood county.

The Southeastern Fair, Atlanta has fully arrived. The Atlanta papers say this year's fair fully demonstrates that it is permanent and fully successful.

A TRIP TO CAMP SEVIER

Spending Saturday night in Asheville, the writer and Tobias Larson of Highland, Kansas, were joined Sunday morning there by Edgar Selsam and Albert Abel, and the four of us departed about ten o'clock for Greenville, S. C., in a Ford, reaching our destination about 3 p. m.

We had some little difficulty in finding a lodging place as the city is so full of soldiers and others coming there on account of them. The streets were full of men in uniform, and they thronged the drug stores, cigar stores, ice cream parlors and cafes, and also helped to swell the church congregations that night.

Mr. Selsam and Albert remained there expecting to work in a new restaurant being fitted up. Monday morning early we went out to Paris, the station on both the Southern and Piedmont Northern, where Camp Sevier is located.

At the station, in a barber shop, we found both W. H. Jones and Sam Evans working. They say the house gets so full they have to lock the door in order to have room enough to work.

Thomas J. Abbot was running a shooting gallery and is salting down the coin. Guy Duckett was working with an electrician about the camp.

We spent most of the morning with the soldiers on their street, in the tents and in the dining hall. They are comfortably located but "up in the air" that morning because they expected to be torn up and scattered. Most of them were blue at the possible loss of their good Captain Swift and other Commissioned officers.

We met and chatted with Major Howell, Capt. Swift, Lieutenant McFadyen, Sergeant Whitehouse, John Jones, Sam Jones, Harry Schenck, Leroy Willis, Linwood Grahl, McKinley Green, Leatherwood, Reed, Leatherwood, Arrington and many others.

A little after noon we boarded the trolley and a few miles out from Spartanburg we passed Camp Wadsworth which is about the size of Camp Sevier, where the New York troops are quartered.

We were told there were many rich men at Wadsworth, some being millionaires. Many have their wives at Spartanburg, private automobiles and other luxuries. Always count on New Yorkers for making a big show.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

By T. F. Glenn. The social conscience in this country, if I have read aright the signs of the times, needs enlightening, stirring and quickening in regard to the law of homicide.

You will not question the statement that the will of the legislative God is the ground of moral obligation. And has He not announced his will touching this matter in a voice of thunder? "Whoso sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed: for in the image of God made he man."

Gen. 9:6; Consider for a moment the characteristics of this law. Its universality—it is unchanging—the reason given for its enactment, for in the image of God made he man. The law for capital punishment is found among all the races that people the earth.

The innate sense of injustice on which this feeling is grounded is universal. In the dramatic poetry of the ancient Greeks murder is represented as the one crime for which there was no atonement.

Take one quotation from a heathen poet and see how it rebukes our emasculated judicial morality: "Lavish all wealth for blood, for one man's blood— 'Tis all in vain."

Now hear the Divine Legislator: "Moreover ye shall take no satisfaction for the life of a murderer, which is guilty of death; but he shall be surely put to death." Human blood, if shed by an infernal man-slayer, the cheapest commodity in this country. Take another great text: "So ye shall not pollute the land wherein ye are; for blood it defileth the land; and the land cannot be cleansed of the blood that is shed therein but by the blood of him that shed it."

Numbers 35:33. The courts are commanded to take the life of the murderer. The command is positive, unconditional and inexorable. For not otherwise can the citizenship of a country escape the terrible responsibility of bloodguiltiness.

Blood rests upon the community; the whole land is guilty before God. The blood of the slain cries up to heaven for vengeance. Inspiration tells us that murder unrequited is pollution—pollution that cannot be washed out by the waters of all the oceans.

Let us bear in mind that some things are fundamental and unchangeable. One of these fundamentals is the law of homicide fixed by the Almighty, by the Ruler of the universe himself. And state legislatures cannot change it without striking down the sanction of civil government and lifting the flood gates of crime.

The ultimate ground of moral obligation is the legislative will of God. The reason given for this law is the fact that murder is a violation of God's image in man. The human body is holy—the temple of the Holy Spirit—the temple which enshrines the image of God.

The law has been re-enacted and promulgated again and again by patriarchs, by prophets and apostles. The Lord Jesus Christ during his earthly ministry never uttered a word against infliction of the death penalty by the Romans and the Jews. Speaking of the civil magistrate, Paul says he is the minister of God for good.

"But if thou do that which is evil, be not afraid, for he beareth not the sword in vain; for he is the minister of God, a revenger to execute wrath upon him that doeth evil." Romans 13:4. Again Paul recognized the justice of this law when he declared, "If I have done anything worthy of death I refuse not to die."

WORTH THEIR WEIGHT IN GOLD No man can do his best when suffering from backache, rheumatic pains, swollen joints or sore muscles.

B. H. Stone, 540 N. 2d St., Reading, Pa., writes: "For months I was unable to attend to business. I used Foley Kidney Pills and soon the pains and aches were gone. They are worth their weight in gold to me." E. J. Wood Drug Co.

PINEY GROVE ITEMS. Miss Jennie Pless has returned home from a visit to her brother, Mr. Fred Pless at Spartanburg, S. C.

Misses Iota Rogers and May Burr Reed spent Saturday and Sunday at Clyde, the guests of Miss Burr Penland.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Vance died last Friday and was buried at the Piney Grove cemetery Saturday evening.

WOMEN HAVE THEIR TROUBLES Not only middle aged women, but younger ones, too, suffer from backache pains in side, swollen ankles, sore muscles, rheumatic pains and kindred ailments without knowing that these are most often the result of deranged or overworked kidneys.

Foley Kidney Pills are good medicine for kidney trouble. Haywood Drug Co.

DEATH OF J. C. GUNTER Mr. J. C. Gunter, aged 70 years, died Monday afternoon at his home on Welch street after a long illness of Bright's disease.

He leaves a widow and several children. Miss Charlott Gunter, Mrs. Dock Turpin and Mrs. Thomas Jones of this place two sons at Fort Smith, Ark. and one in Oklahoma.

The funeral services were conducted here at the home by Rev. A. V. Joyner Tuesday morning and the remains were sent to Fort Smith, accompanied by his son who had been here for sometime.

$100 Reward, $100 The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one Gravel Disease that will cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only one of its kind known to the medical community.

Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work.

The proprietor has no objection to the use of his name in connection with the advertisement for the purpose of inducing the afflicted to send for the medicine.

HAPPENINGS OF HAWOOD INSTITUTE

The following program was rendered in the Adelphian Literary Society Friday, Oct. 19:

1. Recitation, "Naughty Zell"—Mary Walker.

Piano Solo—Miss C. D. Latimer.

3. A Story Retold—Vashti Bagwell.

4. The Necessity of Education—Sally Moody.

5. Recitation, "To a Mountain Daisy"—Edith Mehaffey.

The paper read by Miss Moody was short, but very much to the point.

Last Friday Miss Huggins, the president, made a very interesting speech on the importance of society work.

We are all very much delighted with the good program a week ago of the young men's Webster Literary Society. The debate was very good and we hope to have such a pleasure again.

We regret that Miss Inez Pless has been obliged to return home on account of illness.

Last week Dr. W. H. Rich and Mr. L. Q. Haynes conducted a campaign for the purpose of raising the debt on Haywood Institute. We hope that much good was accomplished.

During Mr. Haynes' absence his place was filled in the school room by Miss Jennie Haynes.

BUNCH.

Men in Training

Fighting isn't the only duty of a soldier, and exposure to bullets is not as serious as exposure to all kinds of weather and dampness.

Rheumatic aches, sore and stiff muscles, strains and sprains, chilblains and neuralgia, all are enemies of the soldier, and the relief for all these pains and aches is Sloan's Liniment. Clean and convenient to carry or use; does not stain, and penetrates without rubbing.

Concussion of the brain, at all druggists, 25c, 50c, $1.00.

Mr. Ray Pless made a joy trip to Clyde Sunday.

Miss Leona Shook visited her aunt, Mrs. Wess Rhinehart Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Rogers visited relatives at Crabtree, Sunday.

Mr. Ed Shook who has returned from Akron, Ohio was visiting his' parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Shook Sunday.

Mr. Monroe Rogers left here Monday to visit his grandfather, Mr. Green at Franklin.

We regret to hear that Mr. James and Samuel Medford are both victims of typhoid. We hope for their recovery soon.

Mr. Ogden Henson, Grady Kinsland and Clarence Green of Garden Creek were seen in the Grove Sunday evening and seemed to be enjoying themselves to the fullest extent.

Odell Rogers spent Saturday night with her sister, Mrs. Vinson Haynes at Clyde.

Miss Ada Rogers was looking rather sad last Sunday evening wonder why?

Mr. John Medford was visiting home folks Sunday.

Our Sunday school seems rather weak at present, but we are hoping it will be better soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Guss Reed were visiting relatives at Canton Sunday.

Miss Carrie Rhodarmer went to Canton on business Saturday.

Harrison Rhodarmer made a trip to Garden Creek Sunday for some reason.

There will be preaching at the church here next Sunday at 3 p. m. Everybody invited to come.

Guess this is all this week as News is scarce at present.

PEGGY.

DESPONDENCY. When you feel discouraged and despondent do not give up but take a dose of Chamberlain's Tablets and you are almost certain to feel all right within a day or two.

Despondency is very often due to indigestion and biliousness, for which these tablets are especially valuable. Obtainable everywhere.
