FROM NEAR THE FRONT

France, June 15, 1918.
 Dear Mountaineer-Courier:—I take the greatest pleasure in writing this. As I sit here in the Y. M. C. A. but I can hear the shells bursting in "No-

Man's-Land." I was a member of Co. "H" and served on the border; am now here fighting for human freedom. This is a splendid country but terribly cold. There are some fine cities and towns back of the firing line.

Cigarettes, about the only thing a soldier enjoys, are so very scarce they can hardly be bought at any price. I went to the Y. M. C. A. but the other day to buy some candy. I gave the clerk a one-dollar bill. She gave me back change enough to fill my hat. One-cent pieces here are about the size of phonograph records. Hope to hear from you before I am blown up. FRANK J. MANEY.

A SOLDIER TO HIS BROTHER

Waynesville, R. 2, July 9.
 Dear Editor:—Enclosed you will please find a copy of a letter written by my son, Moody, to his brother, Harry, that I would like for you to publish in The Mountaineer-Courier. J. S. DAVIS.

Fort Barrancas, Fla.
 Dear brother Harry:—I received your letter a few days ago; glad to hear from you. How high is your corn and potatoes? We have had potatoes, cabbage, beans and corn—all grown this year.

Papa's letter came today. Glad to hear that Iron Duff, as well as the county at large, is waking up and realizing the responsibility that is upon them; the longer the war lasts the more the people will realize the importance of their sacrificing.

For many months before I enlisted I thought of my duty and for several months knew what I was going to do. I would hate very much to think I would not get to come back home, but I would rather stay in "No-Man's-Land" than for Germany to get one single thing in the peace treaty they want.

The people at home should make it so hard for the slacker that he will have to "get out or get under."

Tell the others I will write them soon. Your brother, R. M. DAVIS.

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE

The following letters have been received by Mrs. H. P. Ledbetter from her son and a minister who has been thrown with him.)

London, June 4, 1918.

My dear Mrs. Ledbetter:—When I am home I am the minister of the Grand Avenue Methodist church, Kansas City, Mo. At present I am speaking throughout our army camps in the United Kingdom, and the other day I had the privilege of meeting your son, "J. P." It is a great pleasure to write you that he is very well, and eagerly looking forward to doing his part in the great conflict.

I congratulate you on having a son like him, and wish both yourself and him the joy of a gracious reunion when the day's work is done.

Yours very cordially,
 J. N. GRAY.

Dear Mother:—I am well and enjoying life. Just came back from town to the Y. M. C. A. Can't talk to anyone in town; just go by signs. Did you get the letter I mailed at Halifax? We had a little scare-up coming over, but it didn't amount to anything. The hardest thing of all is to count the money when I buy anything; just have to lay down a pile and let them take out what they want for I can't count it.

We ought to do some fighting over here for there is about 18 hours daylight each day.

About all they are short of over here is sugar. We have nothing very sweet—not even the girls.

Your loving son,
 J. P. LEDBETTER.

CANT GIVE SOLDIERS LIQUOR

Furnishing liquor to officers and men of the army within private homes is prohibited in new regulations formulated by President Wilson and Secretary Baker and made public by the commission on training camp activities. Dry zones around every camp where as many as 250 men are stationed for more than 30 days, also are established.

Heretofore officers and men were permitted to be served with liquor in their own homes or when bona fide guests in private homes outside the government zones.

LOCAL NEWS

Miss Julia Hooper, of Saunook, was in town this week.

Miss Mattie Ross, of Sunburst, was in town this week.

"I am the only one in our family on deck this morning," said D. L. Shulhoffer Monday. The family was taken ill Sunday night after eating, among other things, ice cream and canned pineapple. None became seriously ill, however.

There was quite a family reunion at the Swift home Sunday. Miss Winifred Swift returned from a visit in Asheville and the eastern part of the state where she went to visit a school friend after closing the school term. Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Sharp and son, of Asheville, were also here.

SHE HAD STRUGGLED FOR 23 LONG YEARS

Mrs. Linda Bech Was Physical Wreck—Takes Tanlac and Troubles Disappeared

"I have actually gained sixteen pounds on two bottles of Tanlac and am now able to cook for a whole house full of people," said Mrs. Linda Bech, residing at 165 Echols avenue, Atlanta, Georgia.

"For 23 long years I have struggled with nervous indigestion and never found any medicine that did me any good until I started taking Tanlac," she continued. "Everything I tried to eat hurt me, and I could eat no meat or vegetables at all. The pressure from gas that arose on my stomach almost smothered me to death. I'd gasp for breath, and my folks would have to rub me and work with me until I could get back my speech. I suffered with pains in my shoulders and limbs and back, and would get so weak that I'd have to lay down four or five times a day and could do none of my work at all.

"After spending lots and lots of money for other medicines without getting any relief I decided to try Tanlac and I began to pick up as soon as I started taking it. I am eating just anything I want now and I have not had a smothering spell since I took my first bottle. I am not nervous any more. I sleep fine every night and every sign of my old troubles has gone entirely. I'm glad to recommend Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Waynesville by the Waynesville and Annex Pharmacies; in Clyde, by the Clyde Pharmacy; in Canton, by W. S. Martin, and by the leading druggists in practically every town and village in America.—(Adv.)

A WORD FOR MOTHERS

It is a grave mistake for mothers to neglect their aches and pains and suffer in silence—this only leads to chronic sickness and often shortens life.

If work is tiring, if your nerves are excitable, if you feel languid, weary or depressed, Scott's Emulsion will prove a wonderful strengthener.

It possesses the very elements to invigorate the blood, scotch the nerves and build strength.

Every druggist has Scott's. Try it.
