MOCK-MASSIE.

The marriage of Miss Hettie Mock and Mr. Guy Massie was solemnized on Tuesday afternoon, April fourth, at three o'clock. The wedding ceremony was a brilliant event and one of exceptional interest.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. J. M. Mock, Mr. Massie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Massie.

The marriage ceremony was at the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. The church was beautifully decorated with evergreens and peach blooms. Seven branched cathedral candelabra lighted the altar and between these were baskets of peach blossoms Tracing the altar rail, behind which the bridal party stood, were streamers of Jackson vine among which lighted candles were placed at intervals. The groomsmen, Rufus Siler, Bill Chandlee, Roy Francis, Hugh Abel, Floyd Rippetoe, Bill Coble, preceeded the brides maids who were: Mrs. Elizabeth Blackburn, Mrs. F. G. of all subjects. Rippetoe, Misses Fannie Pearl Campbell, Myrtle Massie, Bess and Florence Ray. The matron of honor attendant, the bride's sister, Mrs. Ray Gline of Dixon, Illinois, preceded her father. They were met at the altar by Mr. Massie and his best man, Mr. Lebo Massie, brother of the

April Sunshine, April Showers

By JESSE DANIEL BOONE

April sunshine, April showers, Bring forth all the buds and flowers; Bring new hopes and bring good cheer, Bring the things we all count dear. They wash old Nature's dirty face And fill a dark world full of grace; Resurrect old Winter's dead, Makes them each to lift its head.

Welcome April's suns and showers, After Winter's trying hours; Bless the Spring, its warmth and light, As it follows cold and blight. Watch the bursting bud and bloom, Taking place of death and gloom; Hear the song birds gaily sing, Making all the welkin ring.

Prize the April rains and showers As you would rich gifts or dowers; Hunt the open, outside places; Watch the smiles on Nature's faces. Richest colors flash and meet you; Glad surprises ever greet you, As you walk or as you ride Along the pleasant countryside.
