Named For Governor By the Charlotte Convention on Sixty-First Ballot

End of Long Fight Came Saturday Afternoon on the Sixth-First Ballot-Contest the Hardest Fought and Most Bittrely Waged Ever Recorded in the Political Annals .of North Carolins-End in Sight After the Sixtieth Ballot When . Col. Ashley Horne Appears on Rostrum and Withdraws From the Race Love Feast Follows Final Ballot Speeches Being Made by Ex-Governor Aycock, Mr. Cameron Morrison, Mr. Kitchin, and Mr. Craig-Nomination Made Unanimous-Mr. Craig's Feeling Address a Splendid One.

Charlotte, Special.-Mr. William Walton Kitchin, now representing the fifth district in Congress, was on Saturday evening at 7.30 o'clock, nominated for Governor on the sixty-first ballot by the State Democratic convention in session here. Col. Ashley Horne who had the smallest primary vote of any of the three candidates in the race, withcrew after the sixtieth ballot and the fight was closed by Mr. Locke Craig, of Asheville, and Mr. Kitchin, the result of the last ballot being 473.59 for Kitchin and 381.72 for Craig. After the contest was over a love feast, in which the friends of the candidates took part, followed. Among others who spoke were: Former Governor Aycock, who support-ed Mr. Craig; Mr. Kitchin and Mr.

Craig.
The closing scenes of the great contest, which had continued for four days, were most animated. More than 8,000 people, men and women, filled the Auditorium. Demonstration after demonstration was made, so much so that the chairman had a task to preserve order.

The victory won by Mr. Kitchin is ranked as one of the greatest in the history of the State. He was opposed by Senator Simmons, the recognized leader of the North Carolina Democracy; former Governor Aycock, and other well-known Tar Heel leaders. He made a fight on the Southern Railway and the American Tobacco Company, which concerns he said were opposing him. He came to the convention with approximately 374 votes. Creig had 335 and Horne 148. The first callot came at 12 o'clock Wednesday night. From that time until the hour of the nomination the contest was spirited and at times bitter. The delegates were noisy and enthusiastic all the while. Craig was supported by the mountain counties of western North Carolins. His mountaineers were loyal to the last and went down after a game fight. Kitchin had not only a plurality of instructed vote, but he could count more delegates in a final show-down. He and his friends believed that he ild be nominated on the third or fourth ballot, but a master hand was against him, and as a result, the bal-tle was prolonged and royal.

William Waton Kitchin.

William Waton Kitchin, of Roxboro, Person county, was born near Scotland Neck, Halifax county, October 9th, 1866. He was educated at Vine Hill Academy and Wake Forest College, where he graduated in 1884. He edited The Scotland Neck Democrat in 1885. We have had our fights within the party with a spirit not of enmity and hostility, but with the spirit of generous rivalry with each other for this p great honor that you had in your power to bestow.

full harmony, and withdrew. He was Kitchin of yesterday than I do from Horne forces.

Governor Aycock Appears. While the vote on the sixty-first ballot was being counted Governor Ayeock came on the rostrum and Kitchin be made unanimous. The delegates and the spectators, something like 8,000 of them, rose and shouted as one person. For five minutes the uproar was so great that the speaker could not continue.

When partial quiet was at length restored, Mr. Aycock made one of the happiest and most brilliant speeches ever heard here, in which he spoke feelingly of his love for Mr. Craig and his deep sorrow at his de-feat, but added that the Craig people would now be the most loyal supporters of Mr. Kitchin. Other Craig leadors spoke along the same line. Nominee-Elect Kitchin to the Front.

The crowd yelled for Kitchin and Craig. Mr. Kitchin came first and made a most taking speech. He looked well and his voice rang clear and sweet. Being a striking looking man, one whom men and women like to look upon Mr. Kitchin had no trouble getting silence, for one and all wished to hear him.

Mr. Kitchin's Speech.
In introducing Mr. Kitchin, Chairman Parsons said: "Gentlemen of this, the greatest Democratic convention ever held in North Carolina, I esteem it a great honor to present to you your hero, the nominee of this convention for Governor, William W. Kitchin."

"Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen: To say that I am happy at this time very feebly expresses my feeling on this occasion. I am proud to receive the nomination of the Democracy of North Carolina for its highest office in this magnificent City of Charlotte. I am proud to have the endorsement of the greatest conven-tion that ever assembled within the borders of this State. While I am proud, my countrymen, I realize the great responsibility that this honor

Mr. Craig Appears.

Mr. Craig, tired, but hand ome and moved that the nomination of Ma smiling, appeared when Mr. Kitchin sat down. At the sight of their idol the mountaineers rose en masse and yelled at the top of their voices. Every other man and woman in the house stood and cried aloud with the supporters of the orator of the west. Graceful, dignified, and refined-looking he stepped forward and waved his elegantly shaped hands for attention.

I do not belong to the party for the honors and emoluments of office. I claim allegiance to that great organization because its success is coextensive with the welfare of my State and the good of the people that I love, and for that reason in victory and in defeat, I always owe and always give my allegiance to the party that has saved and that is the salvation of this State. "But my friends it unnecessary for me to say this. I think that my record for 25 years in the past is a guarantee of my loyalty in the future to the cause of our party. I come before you especially to thank the friends who have stood so loyally by me in this, the greatest political convention in the State's history. They have stood by me with the loyalty of a Spartan and with the devotion and chivalry of a son to this land of Dixie. And I wish to say to you to-"And so this convention has settled night, my friends, that though I am of the nominee of this convention, I feel a great victor in this contest for I have the devotion of the friends who have stood by me, their heroism, their intelligence and their loyalty is to me a heritage and to my children a heritage that is more precious than the honors or the emoluments of office: for the honors and emoluments of office is in its essence the lovalty and devetion of friends, and I know that I have this. I shall never forget their support. The only regret I have about this is that they have given me so much and I can give them so little. (Applause.) I cannot express to you in words my gratitude. I hope that here and hereafter I can be true to the cause that you love and demon trate in my life that your affection and your lovalty have not been bestowed upon one that is unworthy. We all go home with the determination and with all zeal to > and for the land of our inheritance." Mr. Craig thanked all his loyal friends, declared that North Carolina is the greatest of all the States in its citizenship, and said that the success of the Democratic party was supreme and shead and beyond the ambitions of any man. His speech was warmly received by the immense assemblage and he took his seat amid wild applause.

The Convention City.

This is the first State convention Charlotte has had in half a century. No better place could have been se-

The city of Charlotte has a population of forty-three thousand; it has the finest auditorium in the South; the best hotel facilities, the best electric car system, the best system of schools and colleges, the finest parks and amusements, the finest retail and wholesale stores, the largest publishing interests, the most numerous and costly churches, the best banking facilities and the largest and, most numerous and varied manufacturing industries of any city in North Carolina, or for that matter any city of its size anywhere. Moreover it has an abundance of hydro-electric power from the Catawba river, by means of which night has been turned into brightest day, and the illumination makes the whole city a fairyland. Charlette is now putting down the new bitulitic paving on its principal streets; it has a complete water system sufficient for half a million people, and one of the best trained fire departments anywhere. Such is Charlotte, the historic Queen City, that has set itself to the task of entertaining the convention like it was neves entertained before. And the people! Special trains over the Southern, special trains over the Sea-board, regular trains, freight trains, automobiles, every known means of conveyance has brought in throngs. Thousands on thousands of them were here.
