They can have only a beneficial effect when used for kidney and bladder troubles, for backache, rheumatism, weak back or lameness. I. E. Burnett, Mars Hill N. C.

MADISON COUNTY INDUSTRY.

The French Broad Manufacturing Co. shipped last week a carload of handles to Liverpool and besides this they have on their books orders for 4 carloads more for England.

They have also standing orders for a carload of handles a month for South America.

Handles from this factory have been shipped to Shanghai, China and to the diamond mines of Africa.

When our Navy made its famous trip around the world at Punta Arenas they found a large consignment of handles at this place.

Every 8 months a consignment has been sent to this part. Punta Arenas is the point farthest South—and Mr. Walker says that when the North Pole is definitely settled upon he expects to send handles to that place.

So you see another Madison Industry is doing a great business.

EVERYDAY RELIGION.

The following paper was read by Miss Pearl Rice at the Fifth Sunday meeting at Chapel Hill last Sunday:

The great cry of the world today is not for more men and women, but better men and women. The world is hungry and thirsty for leaders and teachers whose veracity and integrity are turned by the divine law of love toward God and man, for hearts made pure through righteous living every day, for souls and hearts that have familiarized themselves with the true christian by-laws and the golden rule.

The great hindering cause to christianity is our mad rush for money, for worldly goods, pleasure and fame, that God and his plan and purpose are left almost out. We, through lack of faith loose sight of God's offer, "First seek ye the kingdom of God and His righteousness and all these things will be added unto you." This scripture does not mean seeking merely regeneration, baptism and entering the church; but it means seeking daily all the rest of our lives after God's truth, drinking deeper and deeper of His fountain of love.

The lack of every day and hour religion has ruined the world; has made it next to impossible for the world to be taken for Christ. Think of the preachers who have left us in doubt about their reality, by crooked living, only think of the thousands of His professed followers who are lying, stealing, cheating and defrauding in some form or other. Every day, genuine, religion will banish short measures from the counter or the grainery.

But in this Christ's religion furnishes such a close fitting garment that most of us throw it aside and substitute a cloak, a mother-hubbard sort of suit.

Christ said man loves darkness rather than light, because their deeds are evil: When we read this scripture we apply it to the world and not the church, but oh won't it apply to the church of to-day.

The great trouble is that we do not see that our religion takes in our whole being, our acts, our thoughts and our every purpose. Nothing but the practice of true, genuine, every day religion will weed all this crookedness out of our lives and sit us on a plane where Christ intended his church to be. A shining light to all the world. This kind of religion will purify politics more than the press of today.

We want a religion that softens the step and tones the voice to melody, and fills the eyes with sunshine, and checks the impatient exclamation and harsh rebuke; a religion that is polite and courteous to inferiors and considerate to friends; a religion that goes into the family and keeps the husband from being spiteful when the dinner is late, and keeps the wife from fretting when the husband tracks the newly washed floor with his muddy boots, and makes the husband mindful of the scraper and the door mat, keeps the mother patient when the baby is cross; amuses the children as well as instructs them, wins as well as governs; cares for the servants besides paying them promptly looks after the apprentice in the shop, and the clerk behind the counter, and the student in his labor with a fatherly care and a motherly love; setting the solitary in families and introducing them to pleasant and wholesome society, that their lonely feet may not be led into temptation.

The test of any religion is the effect it produces upon the lives that profess it.

In the age of the world men are not judged by what they claim to be able to do, but by what they are.

Religion is a thing of love, and it will die if commanded to be dumb. Instead of being content to live so as to escape blame. The christian is required to live so as to prove a means of blessing. If religion is anything it is the whole of mans life, it is the carriage of the soul and of the body it is the description of our time; it is the whole being aright.

In brief, good works are the action's of a saved man proving his salvation; They hang upon the Christian life somehow as fruit does on a living tree.

MARS HILL COLLEGE
The Leading Co-Educational Institution in Western North Carolina.

A school that draws 379 students from 58 North Carolina Counties, and from six other States and two Foreign Countries, some coming half around the world to reach it must have merit worth considering by Madison county people.

It drew 132 students from Madison county, and 245 students from the rest of the world. Is this a fair proportion? Its students succeed at higher institutions and in life, out of all proportion to our number.

North Carolina Education says: "There are few schools in the world that do better work than Mars Hill, and make so little noise about it."

The Fall Term opens August 15, 1912.
