A Lenten Sermon

By REV. JAMES M. GRAY, D. D. Dean of the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—Then Jesus, six days before the passover, came to Bethany where Laza-rus was, whom he raised from the dead.— John 12:1.

We are now in the season of Lent, so-called from the period of the year when the days begin to lengthen. It is a period of forty days beginning with Ash Wednesday, and continuing until Easter. observed by some churches as comof memorative the forty days' fasting of our Saviour in the wilderness. It is the time in which particular emphasis is laid in preaching upon the substitutionary obedience and sufferings of our Divine Redeemer, and when inthought, we follow him from the temptation in the wilderness to the triumphant issue of the resurrection morn

In harmony with this our present sermon deals with one of the tenderest events of a social nature occurring in the last week of his earthly life.

"Then Jesus six days before the passover came to Bethany." Then he did it. If you would understand the significance of the word "then," you must go back to the previous chapter. which tells us that all the people were gathering to Jerusalem for the passover, and all animated more or less by the thought as to whether he would come to the feast, for the chief priests and pharisees had given a commandment that if any man knew where he were, he should show it. that they might take him. Then it was that he came. Before this on different occasions he had hidden himself from his enemies, not through cowardice or fear, but because his replied the caller, "and we are taking hour had not yet come, he was not yet ready to be offered, the Scripture had not yet been fulfilled. Now, however, the crisis is approaching, and he advances consciously to met his cruel death. "If ever there were a calm, voluntary, deliberate walking up to death, it was this last visit of

So strongly do the whole family feel on the yachting subject in general. so keen is their dread of the Nahma in particular, that they refused to comply with Mrs. Robert Goelet's last wishes and have her, body brought back to America on board.

But the Nahma was not the first yacht to bring tragedy to the family. Fifteen years ago Ogden Goelet, one of the best known New York and Newport multimillionaires, died on board his steam yacht Mayflower. He had been cruising in English waters and died at Cowes. His body was brought home on board the vessel that he loved as he did his life. His widow and son, Robert Wilson Goelet, would not keep the Mayflower. Mrs. Goelet said that it would always be a funeral ship to her, and so she sold it to the United States government. It was used as a concerted gunboat during the Spanish war, and is now the president's yacht.

It is a noticeable fact that Mrs. Ogden Goelet and her son have never been interested in yachts or yachting since Ogden Goelet's death.

Twenty months after putting the Nahma in commission Robert Goelet died on board in the bay of Naples, and his body was brought home to New York, in the beautiful little library whose walls were lined with rare first editions and equally rare

LIST OF CHOLERA SCOURGES

Terrible Plague Was Known as Early swept over France. Italy lost 400,000 as the Year 767 B. C., Declares London Writer.

London.—The terrible ravages cholera is making at the present time in Turkey remind one of many previous occasions when epidemics have carried off thousands at a time, says Tit-Bits. As early as 767 B. C. we read of a plague, and again in 453 B. C. Rome suffered terribly. Athens was attacked by a pestilence in 430 B. C., which was believed to have been caused by their enemies poisoning the water supplies.

As many as 10,000 people a day fell victims to the plague at Rome in A. D. 80. So many people were killed during the epidemic which occurred in Bri ian during the fifth century that there were hardly sufficient persons left to bury the dead. In 772 Chichester lost 34,000 people, and in 954 Scotland lost 40,000, London was visited in the 10th and 11th centuries, and Ireland suffered severely in 1204.

. The Oriental plague occurred be-tween 1348 and 1382. It was known the until her death. From that day until her death a few weeks ago the widow lived almost entirely on board the vessel on which her husband died. In January, 1902, after a second to the deaths numbered and the deaths numbered.

in six months in 1658. In the 17th century Holland was vis ited by a piague; in Leyden 13,000 died of it, and the following year 13,-287 died in Amsterdam. It was brought to London in bales of cotton by some Dutch merchants. This was the plague of London, and, as everyone knows, about 100,000 persons died in one year in 1773, and Egypt 800,000 during 1790. Epidemics of cholera appeared in France several times during the 19th century, in which 18,000 people died in Paris between March and August. 1832. It appeared in England in 1848 and 1849, carrying off 13,161 persons, and 5,000 persons were carried off in London in 1866 in fifteen weeks.

London in 1866 in fifteen weeks.

During recent years India has been heavily visited by plague—in Bombsy. Northwest presidency, and Punjab, and a less degree in Burma, and other parts of India. In January, 1905, there was a weekly mortality of 20,000, reaching by steady increase a total of 57,702. By April 1 it had dropped to 4,000 weekly, but again reached 5,000 by the end of June. Two years after the number of victims amounted to as many as 1,316,000.

Suffering

Women Are Constantly Being Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Worth mountains of gold," says one woman. Another says, "I would not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for all the other medicines for women in the world." Still another writes, "I should like to have the merits of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound thrown on the sky with a searchlight so that all suffering women could read and be convinced that there is a remedy for their ills."

we could fill a newspaper ten times the size of this with such quotations taken from the letters we have received from grateful women whose health has been restored and suffering banished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Why has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound accomplished such a universal success? Why has it lived and thrived and kept on doing its glorious work among the sick women of the world for more than 30 years?

Simply and surely because of its sterling worth. The reason po other medicine has ever approached its success is plainly and simply because there is no other medicine so good for women's ills.

Here are two letters that just came to the writer's deak—only two of thousands, but both tell a comforting story to every suffering woman who will read them—and be guided by them.

I doctored with three doctors but they did me no good. They said nature must have its way. My sister advised me to take Lydis E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I purchased a bottle. Before it was gong the bloating left me and I was not so core. I continued taking it until I had taken IS bottles. Now I am stronger than I have been for years and can do all my work, even the washing. Four madicine is worth its weight in gold. I cannot praise it smough.
