Hail to the New President.

We may all of us be of different opinions as to the policies that are best for the progress of the country. There are Republicans, Progressives and Democrats and it takes all of these to make a great country. We do not believe in supinely lying down and accepting what an autocrat says for us to do. So there are great contests to see who will have their policies carried out and the battle fought and the voters line up to see who is the strongest and after the battle we all settle down again to work for our country and therefore for ourselves.

In the great battle of votes in November the plurality gave to Woodrow Wilson and the Democratic party the duty of carrying on the government for the next four years. And on last Tuesday Woodrow Wilson took his place as President of these United States.

Every one should lay aside the animosity and the heat of battle and should give to the President the respect and the honor that are his due as President of the greatest country on the face of the earth. It is no easy matter to occupy the position to which he has been elected. He is confronted with grave questions and he will need a level head and some mind. These he has. But also he will need the support of every one. We may differ from him about some things but he will work for the progress of the whole country and as citizens of this country we should uphold him. Men will censure and many things will be said that will sting but we should remember that he is one man, with hand upon the helm chosen by the voters to guide the ship of state and as loyal citizens we must help. There were no more loyal soldiers when McKinley faced a war with Spain than the men of the opposite party. Many a Democrat has helped a Republican President and now Republicans and progressives should forget partisan politics and help run the ship and follow the captain in his work. The News-Record is but one of thousands of its kind a low weak voice but we would join with all the others in acclaiming the President. May his administration be a glorious one, full of great things done and accomplished and may the good work begun by him in New Jersey find still greater fruition in national affairs.

We see the first democratic President since Cleveland. When he has finished his term of service be it only four or if it should be extended to eight, may he have done for the country what the former democratic president did and may his name be as honored as was Cleveland's.

We are proud of the man and we are sure we will be proud of the president.

May his way be lightened and made bright by the aid of all citizens.

The Hamlin Case.

(Contributed)

The most thrilling and tragic trial that the State of North Carolina has ever experienced is now being tried at Madison county court house in the case against Mrs. Maude Hamlin, who is accused of poisoning her husband, John Hamlin, it taken the afternoon in selecting a jury. When the Solicitor, Robert R. Reynolds, read the charge to the jury he asked the defendant to stand up, she showed no sign of nervousness whatever. The defendant appears to be a lady of good intelligence and a brunette of a beautiful type, she is 22 years of age and weighs 98 pounds, she was neatly attired in deep mourning and carried in her arms a lovely baby boy whom God sent to her behind the bars of Madison County jail. Mrs. M. Knight of Asheville the defendants god mother, brought the two older children in and it was a sympathetic sight to see the little ones clinging a round their lovely young mother, who's life is now pending on twelve of Madison County's most prominent men.

Nothing less Than a Necessity.

A compulsory education law for the entire State of North Carolina is a necessity—nothing less. In the school year 1909—10 there was an increase of 6,367 in the school population of the State over the year 1908—09. In the same comparison there was a decrease of 654 in the school enrollment—these figures are for white schools. In other words, there were 7,021 fewer of school age enrolled than there should have been by the previous year's standard. What was that standard? It was an enrollment of 360,121, out of a population of 497,077 of school age.

And in the average daily attendance there was a decrease of 5,007. It is not a question of what we would like; not one of argument and theory. There is nothing else to be done, if we are to have popular education—and we talk more about it than anything else; these figures show that, positively. There are more desirable ways of increasing school enrollment and attendance than by a compulsion law, but they are not open to us at present. The only practical way is a compulsory attendance law, with an appropriation.—Greensboro News.

Religious Faith of Presidents.

The following was handed to us to be published. Greensboro Record.

When a new President is elected, there is speculation as to his religious faith. No Baptist has ever been elected to that high office. There have been eight Episcopalians; Washington, Madison, Monroe, William Henry Harrison, Tyler, Taylor, Pierce and Arthur. There have been six Presbyterians; Jackson, Polk, Buchanan, Lincoln, Cleveland, Harrison and to these Woodrow Wilson must soon be added. There have been four Methodists; chief magistrates: Johnson, Grant, Hayes, McKinley. Van Buren and Roosevelt were adherents of the Reformed Dutch Church. John and Quincy Adams were Congregationalists, Fillmore and Taft were Unitarians. Garfield was a Disciple. Seven religious bodies have been represented by the twenty-six Presidents.

Bridge For Redmon.

We wish to commend our representatives State Senator C. B. Mashburn and representative James E. Rector for the passage of a law placing a bridge at Redmon. This is a great improvement and utility for the people of that section because it saves quite a distance and gives all a better road to come to town. The bridge will be built quite soon. Now if we only could have good roads to match this bridge that section of the county would be well served.

In Remembrance of Emery Ray Deceased.

We, a committee of three, appointed by the president, and acting under authority vested in us by the Philomathian Literary Society of Mars Hill College, do extend our sincere sympathy to the bereaved mother, brothers and friends of the deceased Emery Ray of Mars Hill, N. C., who through his faithfulness, loyalty and sincerity, has won the hearts of all who knew him. His faithfulness to this Society and willingness of spirit to perform the duties imposed upon him, causes our hearts to sadden and our eyes to grow dim when we think of him being taken from us. We thank God that he has a hope of eternal life in Jesus Christ, and we believe that he is gone to a happier home where there shall be no more death, but where the rays of God's infinite love shall shield him from all danger. Be it resolved; that a copy of this be entered upon the minutes of this Society, a copy sent to his mother and one published in the county paper.

SLAVERY

The colored people were made free by a proclamation of Abraham Lincoln, so today we have more white slaves than black ones. The man who is only one step from want, one step from hungry, is a slave if he is white. He is not his own master. He is forced to accept just such terms as those to whom he is under bondage may dictate. A saving account at this bank will make you a free man and make you feel independent. WHAT IS YOUR IDEA of the service of a bank? That they are confined to protecting and safeguarding the surplus money of depositors from burglars and from loss by fire, in keeping this surplus so that the depositor can have it to use at any time he wants it and in loaning money to customers when they need it? These advantages are very material. They offer good and sufficient reason for keeping your money in a bank but if they cover your conception of the entire usefulness of this of bank, the essential advantages we offer to our patrons we shall be pleased to have you come in and let us explain to you some of the other advantages which accrue to the man who makes use of our check account plan for the protection and care of his income.
