

I PURCHASED

MY FALL AND WINTER LINE EARLY AND SAVED MONEY, AND I AM NOW GIVING YOU THE ADVANTAGE OF My 18 Years Experience in the Merchantile Business in this County.

YOU cannot possibly make a mistake in giving me your business for right prices prevail throughout my entire stock. I am exceptionally well prepared to supply your wants in all classes of—

DRY GOODS, NOTIONS AND GROCERIES.

JUST RECEIVED—The largest shipment of CANDIES ever consigned to any one Marshall Merchant. I have Fancy Chocolates loose and in boxes, why pay 25 to 50 cent more elsewhere for the same goods.

I need YOUR Trade YOU Need MY Goods. 'Nough Said.

J. W. NELSON, Marshall, N. C.

MADISON COUNTY SCHOOLS

Honor Roll.

MOUNT NETA SCHOOL.

Addie Buckner, Alburn Buckner, Avery Cody, Nora Davis, Raymond Davis, Zora Treadaway, Allie Treadaway, Bertie Treadaway, Laura Treadaway, Nola Treadaway, Earley Treadaway. Mattie Bryan, Teacher.

What Kansas Whiskey Will Do.

A farmer up in Kansas is said to have lost a can of syrup while taking poisoned bran to the field to kill grasshoppers that are ruining the crops in that state this year. He had a full quart of whiskey which he mixed with the bran in place of the syrup.

The farmer says, according to the Kansas City Times that a hopper would come along, take a bite of bran, jump about four feet in the air, spit a stream of "tobacco juice," light down, take another bite of the bran and start out to lick the first hopper he met. In this way all the hoppers in the field were soon fighting each other. As soon as one hopper killed another he sought a new opponent and in this way there was soon but one big hopper left. Soon a rooster came along and made a dive for this hopper but the hopper instead of allowing himself to be eaten, jumped up and kicked the old rooster in the face, spit "tobacco juice" in his eyes and chased him under the barn.

Why I am Thankful I am a Country Woman.

I am thankful that I am a country woman, for blessings are mine that come not to the dweller in cities.

I am thankful that from my windows as I work I can look not upon brick walls made by man, narrowing my vision and shutting out even the light from God's heavens. I am glad for the sight of His own outdoor world, for the broadening view beneath the shady trees across the green growing things to the sunny slopes beyond. I am glad that all the things I see are alive, are full of promise and growing, made wonderful by a power greater far than that of man. I am thankful for the hope to be gained from these young things, for the courage which is inspired by their maturity, for the suggestion of the distant view. May I be kept by them from narrowness of mind, from discouragement. May I gather from them the spirit of eternal youth, the satisfaction of having lived my part in this world of everlasting growth.

More than all else am I thankful that I am a country woman for the sake of my children. I am thankful that they can first know the world the world as it is here—surrounded by the green trees and plants and peopled by the homely beasts. I am thankful that my babies can learn with their first gleamings of intelligence of God's power as revealed in the pushing up from the brown earth of the tiny green grass blade and in the breaking of the shell by the baby chicks. I am glad that in all things they can see the wonder of life. For their health's sake I am thankful for the boundless pure air, for the good food so fresh from the field or beast and for the chance for them to grow naturally, like the young plants and animals. It is good that they know the living world not from books, but from contact. I am thankful that shops and factories cannot take the health from my daughters and that the strength of my sons will not be wasted in office and mill. For these blessings, above all others, am I daily thankful that I am a country woman.—Gertrude Houghton in the Country Gentleman.

Vegetarian's Thanksgiving

I'm thankful for the celery,
The canned pears and the onion stew;
I'm thankful for the beans; to me
The turnips look inviting, too;
The sweet potatoes give me glee,
The parsnips gladly I assail,
But best of all things is the rich
Aroma of the turkey which
I am permitted to inhale.

With proper thanks I break the crust

That Fortune lays beside my plate;

I shun the oysters, for I must

Not carelessly be tempting Fate

The giblets all aside I thrust,

To me they are of no avail;

I prove my strength while gazing

At the rich and juicy mince pie that

I must not eat, but mas inhale.

—S. E. Kiser.

Torment thousands of people daily—Don't be one of these sufferers when for so little cost you can get well rid of the cause. Foley's Kidney Pills begin their good work from the very first dose. They exert so direct an action on the kidneys and bladder that the pain and torment of backache, rheumatism and kidney trouble is soon dispelled. For sale by Dr. I. E. Burnett, Mars Hill, N. C.

Sites are Chosen by Summer Colonists

Work at Summer Home Begins Immediately.

Plans for Club House Have Been Adopted—Many Cottages will be Constructed.

In the first drawing for lots conducted by the Home Colony company, which recently purchased 700 acres of land between this city and Hendersonville for a summer colony, 120 building sites were awarded to prominent business and professional men of St. Petersburg, Fla., who will build summer residences in Henderson county, at Summer Home station. The lots were purchased by the Floridians, the drawing being conducted in order that the purchasers might select the locations for their homes in a manner suitable to all of the members of the colony development company. The property which has been selected absorbs about ninety acres of the recently acquired tract of land, and it is announced that work on several of the summer homes will be started within the very near future.

Information has been received here from President Avery, of the colony company, to the effect that plans have been prepared and adopted for the club house which will be one of the features of the development scheme. The structure will be three stories in height and no expense will be spared to make the building modern in every particular. Work on the Club-house will be started during the early part of February, and it is expected that it will be finished by the first of June, at which time it is believed that at least seventy five of the cottages will be ready for occupancy. President Avery writes that ninety homes will be occupied at Summer Home station by the middle of next spring.

The development scheme of the Summer Home company will be one of the most extensive ever carried out in this section of the state and the selection of building sites and the adoption of plans for the clubhouse means that all plans have been completed for the beginning of the work of the state's youngest town. Within the very near future the expanse of field and forests which comprise the company's holdings will begin to take on an air of activity and it will be only a short time until a city will arise on the vacant property.

The beginning of building activities at Summer Home will mean the expenditure of a vast amount of money in this section of the state and the employment of many laborers of all kinds. Masons, carpenters, plumbers, electricians and workmen of other classes will be in demand and the work will be pushed to completion.

As was announced some time ago, the Southern has authorized the construction of a passenger station and a freight shed at Summer Home, and it is expected that work on these buildings, which are to be built by the system, will be started soon. The plans for the passenger station provide for an unusually unique building, which is to be in the form of a log cabin. While the structure will be modern its appearance will be that of a log cabin of the type which was popular in frontier days.

There is now a movement on foot in Georgia to erect a monument to the memory of little Mary Phagan for whose murder Leo, M. Franks of Atlanta was convicted.

Most monuments are erected to the heroes of war who have shed the blood of their fellowmen but the monument to be erected to little Mary Phagan shall be a memorial of her struggle in defense of honor. Those who go down, martyrs to principal, in the every day walks of life, in the great struggle with the tempter, are as deserving of a place in our memory as those who march to the music of war and die on fields of blood and battle.

All honor to the little Atlanta heroine who gave up her life in defense of virtue and honor. Let the shaft to her memory tower high and may those who look upon it, in years yet to come, be inspired to loftier ideals and deeper devotion to honor and purity.

AUTUMN is here in all its strange beauty. The dying leaves take on a coloring that impresses those who appreciate the aesthetic. Gold and yellow, brown and green and red, streaks of grey—the autumnal colors run hot over the woods and fields. Nature seems to be dying.

But it is only a seeming—it is really asleep. The trees and the plants are drowsy. They long for the winter's rest. Growth ceases. The leaves flutter to the earth-dead. But the tree lives.

In the spring, the sap of life will pulse again and the green foliage will be nature's expression of verdant life-nature's resurrection.

And so with the whole world—nature has two faces: work and repose, waking and sleeping, life and death—and a new life.—Highlander.

Do it now. Subscribe for The News-Record.

A LIVE JUDGE.

The Asheville Citizen of Tuesday brought the news of the arrest of several of the hotel men of Asheville. Just a few weeks ago there had been arrests of the druggists for the sale of intoxicating liquors in the city. These arrests were made on the order of Judge Frank Carter who had instructed the grand jury to investigate the sale of liquor in the city. However the jury did nothing and the judge of his own authority ordered the arrest of owners and managers of the Langren, the Battery Park and the Glen Rock hotels. The proprietors were arrested as aiders and abettors. We are glad to see this act on the part of Judge Carter, because it shows him to be a man who is not afraid to follow out his convictions. So many persons upon the bench trim their sails to catch the wind and so often times we see the law transgressed because some officer has some private reason for not wishing to prosecute a friend. Judge Carter has shown himself a man on every occasion and his friend is the man that obeys the law. It is indeed gratifying to see the law and the executors of the law not going after the little man but after the man higher up. Too long we have made the agent suffer and justly too but the man who profits by that agent and the greater criminal by all means has gone scott free. But Judge Carter has gone for the men who are really responsible for the flagrant transgression of the law and they are under bond to appear before court. Our wish is that he may be the one to try them because we have learned to trust Judge Carter and we know that justice will be meted out to the offender whatever his standing before the public. Besides we know that the other officers of the court will do their duty better when they know that the Judge is a man who is for the enforcement of the law first of all. Some of these we do not trust very much but Judge Carter we do. We trust that this is only the beginning of a wide spread awakening to the fact that it is necessary to go after the real criminal. In New York they had a convincing proof in the conviction of the police lieutenant and the accusation went still farther up. Now it is beginning down here and the men who in the past have done these things with impunity are finding that justice is knocking at their door and that like a search warrant it cannot be refused. And we trust that if they are guilty they may suffer as would the lowest of bootleggers because to place this business of liquor selling where it should be we must punish all that engage in it. Judge Carter is alive to this and so he has done what he has. Heres to you, Judge Carter, you're a man.

W. E. F.

Would Make them Better if they Could.

The makers of Foley Kidney Pills know that they have absolutely the best combination of curative and healing medicines for kidney and bladder ailments and urinary irregularities that is possible to produce. That is why Foley Kidney Pills are the best medicine for the purpose you can buy. For Sale by Dr. I. E. Burnett, Mars Hill, N. C.

Teachers Meeting

The teachers of Madison County met in Marshall Nov. 22, at 11 o'clock a. m. After devotional exercises Dr. W. E. Finley gave a very interesting address in which he emphasized the importance of better prepared teachers and the more complete development of children.

We then listened to a short talk by Mr. W. R. Sams.

The following teachers were present:

Ladies, Ada Ramsey, Kate Bryan, Adeline Ramsey, Margaret Brown, Lula Redd, Minnie Lewis, Maggie Ledford, Laura Ledford, Grace Twoed, Maud Chrisman, Flora Strom, Jessie Ramsey, Grace Fisher, Mamie Tillery, Cora B. Hensley, Nora L. Wadrup, Bessie Fox, Dora L. McPeters, Arde Hodges, Reva V. Hodges and Mattie Bryan.

Gentlemen, S. E. Tweed, Chapel Tweed, S. R. Williams, A. C. Angel, Glenn McConnell, M. C. Faulkner and G. N. Arrington.

Most schools being out no definite time was set by the Superintendent for next meeting.

M. C. FAULKNER.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE

Having qualified as the administrator of J. C. Sanders, Jr., deceased late of Madison County, North Carolina, this is to notify all persons having claims against the estate of the said deceased to exhibit them to the undersigned at Hot Springs, N. C., on or before the 17, day of November, 1914, or this notice will be pleaded in bar of their recovery.

All persons indebted to said estate will please make immediate settlement.

This 17, day of November 1913.
W. T. DAVIS,
Administrator of J. C. Sanders, Jr., deceased.