The statue bace rested on the bowsprit of the Benjamin Franklin, an ocean liner, which was wrecked of the Long Island coast in 1856. Parts of the wreckings of the vessel are still to be found at the same place. Divers were employed to remove the valuables from the ship, but the ewners of the vessel overlooked the statue.
One of the professional divers, and an uncle of Mr. Howell by marriage, took a fancy to the statue and asked permission to take it. He removed it to the lawn of his home at Morielies, L. I. At his death, 25 years ago, it was moved to Mr. Howell's house, a short distance away. With the removal of Mr. Howell, a retired liveryman and farmer, to this city two years ago Moriches lost its interesting status.

A great deal of difficulty was en-countered in bringing the statue here, as it weighs more than 400 pounds and is in one piece. The statue is regarded as a good likeness of Frank-lin and is in an excellent state of gresservation, considering its aga.

COTTON AND CORN ALL THAT COULD BE DESIRED IN COUN-TIES ALONG COAST.

TOBACCO ACREAGE LARGE

Craven County Parmers Are Very Optimistic Over First Venture in Raising the Weed.

New Bern.—Reports from all parts of Craven and adjoining counties are to the effect that the crops of corn and cotton are all that could be desired and that the farmers are very optimistic. Especially is the cotton crop "standing" well and the yield is expected to be unusually large. The first boll seen in New Bern this season was from the farmous Ravenwood son was from the famous Ravenwood Farm in Jones county, which is owned by a company of New Bern capitalists. The second boil reached this city recently. It was grown on the farm of John L. Robinson, at Vanceboro, and is well developed in every way. Mr. Robinson has quite a large acreage in cotton and according to a statement made by him, the plants acreage in cotton and according to a statement made by him, the plants are unusually hardy and give promise of giving a large yield. Cotton all around Vanceboro is in first-class shape as is the crop of tobacco, which is being grown in that section this

The acreage in tobacco is unusually large, owing to the fact that a new tobacco warehouse is to be opened at Yanceboro in the fall, and the planters will have a local market at which they can dispose of their produce. Craven county farmers will also have local market for their tobacco in the new warehouse, which is now be-ing erected by A. T. Dill. There is also a probability that another tobacco warehouse will be opened here during the fall and in fact several tobacco buyers from Virginia have already been in the city making investigation toward this end, but up to the present time they have made no definite announcement. The local market will draw from Pamilco, Carteret, Craven, Jones and Onslow of Benjamin Franklin, on the front lawn of the residence of Emmett Howcounties and thousands of pounds of the weed will be sold here during the ell at 2813 North Twenty-sixth street, first year.

On each far corner of the square a white way pole of larger dimensions will be placed, the entire scheme being carried out in fuller detail by the erection of these poles on each outside corner.

ent time the area of infection is about a mile from the city limits and the worms have confined their depredations to a bay patch and cornfield on the farm operated by Mr. Ed Cole. The worms are making their way toward the southwest and some of the farmers of that section have been very much concerned. They called on the county demonstrator and head of the farm life school to aid them in the fight against the worms, and he has made a visit to that section.

about from the supply and transport department of government. Consequently anyone going there must stay with friends. Except a few basaar people, there are no free kiborers in the Mark devotes 233 verses to his account of the last week of our Lord's life and 425 to all the balance. Mathow devotes seven chapters and Luke ive. If all of the life of Jesus had en given to us in like ratio it would have taken at least 80 volumes in and there are about four thousand self-supporters, who are time expired convicts, settled in the islands with their families. These are mostly small hich to tell us the story.

Today's lesson is the introduction to that week. We must consider his entry in its light upon the whole movement of his life. His instrucions how to secure the colt seem to adicate his intention to provoke a monstration. Though often in Jeusalem before, this was a different ecasion, and for a different purpose sefore he did not provoke his conficts, now he courts publicity, that he may fasten his claims upon the atention of all.

Test of Faith.

years a fair amount of land around "The Lord hath need of him," nuts, Liberian coffee and rubber, but vv. 1-7. It was a test of faith for these lisciples to obey the Lord's command in the absence of proper agricultural knowledge concerning these products the results are very poor and depress-ing to look at, especially to one who has seen them properly grown. (v. 2), yet they did precisely what they were commanded to do (v. 6). Obedience is the supreme test of disipleship, John 15:14. When the disples entered the village (v. 1) they A small quantity of the rubber eight ound the colt "whereon no man ever years old is as good as any to be seen yet sat." Jesus knew all and had dsewhere, but the rest has been plantthe keys to the human heart. Perhaps this colt belonged to a disciple, hence the willingness to let it be used for WOODEN STATUE OF FRANKLIN the occasion Jesus was for the first and only time assuming. Once Rested on the Bowsprit of an Ocean Liner Named After

Many disciples are not willing to be so explicitly and simply obedient. This obedience is heightened when we remember how the disciples had followed Jesus towards Jerusalem

"amazed" and perplexed.

Those who stood by asked the very question suggested by Jesus, v. 6 cf. v. 3. As these disciples cast their garments upon the colt for Jesus to sit upon, they proclaimed their allegiance to him as king.

H. "Hosanna" vv. 8-11. Literally, "mayo now," Ps. 118:25, 26. His en-try was characterized by a remarkable outbreak of enthusiasm. Before this only the disciples accepted his kingdom claims, now the multitude found their expression of gratification. Passing into the city, sitting upon the colt, he was accompanied by their chants of praise. Their first word was, "Hosanna"-their last "Hosanna in the highest." Between these they exclaimed, "Blessed is the kingdom that cometh, of our father David." It has been suggested that this host was made up largely of Gallleans, and that their was an appeal to the city to receive the one who was coming, hence their double blessing to the king and to the kingdom. Jesus seems to have yielded his whole soul to this glad acciaim. It was a necessary part of that dig-nity which should properly be accorded to the Messiah on this his last entry into the Holy City. This sug gestion about the Galileans may ex plain the cry uttered the last part of the week by the citizens of Jerusalem, "Crucify him." Still we feel sure that many of this same crowd joined this latter cry. The use of the word "many" (v. 8) seems to indicate that everyone joined the acciamations of joy.

Effect of Psychology. Some of that crowd were doubtles moved by the "psychology of the crowd," and their devotion was shortlived. It is not hard to imagine the effect this strange procession must have produced upon the city as it moved on to the temple. Some threw their garments upon the ground to pave his way. Others took palm branches (John 12:13) and strewed them in his path. Some of the Pharisess cried out against this demonstration, Luke 19: 39, but the Master replied, "If these should hold their peace the stones would immediately cry out," Luke 19: m Luke's account we see that d not seem to share the joy of that day, Luke 19:40-44. He saw the end from the beginning, and right ly estimated, at its true value, the adulation of the crowd This is a strange triumph lety of emotions it mus d. Those of the disciples ised. Revolutionary Patriot.

James Lovell, a distinguished patriot of the Revolution, died 100 years ago in the town of Windham, Me. Mr. Loyell was born in Boston in 1787 and duated from Harvard college at the age of fourteen. He delivered, April 2, 1771, the oration before the town authorities on the Boston massacre. Because of his display of patriotism he was imprisoned by General Gage immediately after the battle of Bunker Hill. Subsequently he was conveyed to Halifax with the British army, and remained in confinement until exchanged for Governor Skene in the latter part of 1776. From 1776 until 1782 Mr. Lovell was a member of the Continental congress. In later life he filled a number of public offices in Boston.

ECZEMA ON CHILD'S FACE

Marpleton, W. Va.-"When my little boy was one year old he broke out in little fine pimples all over his face. At times they would dry up and get scaly and peel off, then they would break out fresh again. He would scratch them until his face would be raw. The eczema looked angry and ran blood and corruption. His face was red and disfigured. He seemed restless and I had to be up with him the greater part of the nights.
"I applied various remedies without result. He continued to break out with the eczema until I sent for some Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used them and the first application eased him. In ten days he was completely cured." (Signed) Mrs. Lizzie Mollohan, Jan. 2, 1914.

Long-Lived Family.

The record for longevity is held by the Garrett family of Strangaer, Scot land, the oldest member of which, Mr. James Garrett, has just passed away. Mr. Garrett claimed to be the oldest fisherman in Scotland. A native of Stranraer, he was almost a hundred years old. His mother, and father, who were also natives of the district, lived until they were one hundred and one hundred and three years respectively. His oldest surviving son is now well over seventy years of age.

"The man's comments on life are ludicrous and absurd. They remind me DAISY FLY KILLER tracts and hills of the old lady's comment on the work of the militant suffragettes.
